Attorney Tells Her Terror

By MARY NEISWENDER
Staff Writer

The sordidly bizarre story of the massacre of actress Sharon Tate and four others by a marauding gang of fanatically loyal-to-their-leader cultists unfolded before the County Grand Jury Friday as prosecuting attorneys admitted immunity "may be" granted one witness.

Calm, almost to the point of serenity, 21-year-old Susan Atkins spent 2½ hours before the seven-man, 14-woman Grand Jury telling "everything she knew."

Meanwhile, her attorney revealed that she is afraid the cult leader will put a "hex" on her in retaliation for her testimony.

The prosecutor, Deputy Dist. Atty. Vincent Bugliosi, said following the first day of testimony in the case, that the Atkins girl was not the one who "might possibly" receive immunity from prosecution.

"THE PERSON who might receive immunity hasn't testified as yet," Bugliosi told newsmen crowding the fifth floor of the Los Angeles Hall of Justice, site of the Grand Jury probe.

Although the young attorney said Linda Kasabian, one of the cult members involved in the slayings, "might" testify, he said he "anticipated" that no more participants would appear before the jury. However, listed as a witness is a "Mr. Kasabian" whom the attorney identified as the girl's father.

Bugliosi said he is asking the Grand Jury to return an indictment composed of eight counts — seven of murder and one of conspiracy to commit murder. He would not say how many individuals might be involved in the indictment, except to say it was "in excess of five" and would include the leader of the cult, Charles Manson — both in the con-

Desert Gem

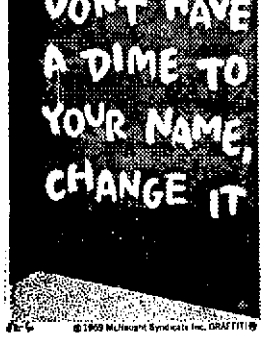

Q. I've heard of a gem called spider turquoise. Is it very rare? Can it be found in the United States? C.H., Lakewood.

A. Spiderweb turquoise is a deep blue semiprecious gem with a web-like black matrix running through it. Two rock and gem specialists contacted by ACTION LINE said this type of turquoise is found most readily in Iran, but deposits of it are located in Arizona as well. The black web actually is an imperfection in the chemical makeup of the turquoise, but its rarity makes it about twice as valuable as any other type of the gem. A deep blue-green stone with a dark black web is priced about $10 an ounce.

Viniculture

Q. I have become interested in making my own wine. Does a wine-making club exist in Long Beach? Where can I get information about what I'll need in order to go from grape to drink? G.M., Long Beach.

GRAFFITI by Leary

A. ACTION LINE couldn't find an organization of amateur wine makers, but we'll put you in touch with a Long Beach man who has been making wine for three years. He's agreed to give you some pointers. You can contact other wine fanciers through the wine-tasting class of the experimental college at California State College at Long Beach, 433-0951. The Long Beach Main Library has several books giving the fundamentals of home wine making, and you should contact the U.S. Treasury Department, Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, to secure the needed permit. Federal law stipulates that you can make up to 200 gallons of wine a year for home consumption, and you must drink it on the premises where it is made. You'll probably need — besides grapes — a wine press, charcoal barrels, an air conditioning unit and various siphons and strainers. Different wines take different equipment, but the total cost of a good outfit could run as high as $700 to $900. But each glass might be worth it.

Certificate

Q. About four years ago, when I applied for United States citizenship, I sent my marriage certificate to Washington, D.C. with my application. Now I want the certificate and wonder if there is any way to get it back from Washington. C.T.A., Long Beach.

A. You don't need to get it from Washington. A copy of your marriage certificate will be sent to you if you send $2 along with your full name, your wife's maiden name and the date of your marriage to the County Recorder in the county where you were married. You should address your request to Recorder's Office, Room 167, City Hall, San Francisco, Calif. 94102.

Baggage Beef

Q. At the end of February, I took a Continental Trailways bus from Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo. to Compton. Included in the baggage I checked through was a portable stereo record player. The ticket agent asked me what it was, but didn't tell me it was to be shipped at my own risk. When I arrived in Compton my stereo was gone. I filed a claim for lost baggage, but was told the bus company doesn't assume any responsibility for stereos. Is this right? B.K.K., Paramount.

A. Yes. Stereos are among the articles which cannot be considered baggage, according to a spokesman for the baggage department of Continental Trailways in Los Angeles. "Baggage consists of personal belongings required for the trip," the spokesman said, "and when people try to ship everything but the kitchen sink, we make them ship it at their own risk." He added that the ticket agent should have informed you of this ruling, and said a 12 by 18-inch sign is posted in all stations listing articles not considered baggage. Other items on the list include radios, television sets, guns and musical instruments. "We always try to find the lost articles," the spokesman said, "but we are not responsible for replacing them."

Home Work

Q. My mother is in a convalescent home in N. Salem, Ore., and I wonder how I can find out if the home has a good rating. Some things have happened there that make me wonder about it. D.V.K., Bellflower.

A. There is no agency in Oregon which rates levels of care in nursing homes, according to Dr. Robert Heilman, director of licensing of health facilities for the Oregon Health Department. He said that all health facilities must meet minimum state licensing requirements, and that the home where your mother is living has met those requirements. He added that the home is installing all-new kitchen facilities and seems to offer very adequate care to its patients. If you have specific complaints about the home, write to the Oregon State Board of Health, 1400 SW Fifth Ave., Portland, Ore. 97201, and your complaints will be investigated.

15% BOOST

Senate OKs Hike in Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted unexpectedly Friday to nearly double minimum Social Security benefits and increase all other payments by 15 per cent.

By a vote of 46 to 41, it adopted a rider to the tax-reform bill proposed by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and one of his assistants, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia.

THE PROPOSAL would cost an estimated $6.2 billion and by 1973 would require an increase in the taxable wage base from the current $7,800 to $12,000.

Effective date for the increases would be Jan. 1 with some 25 million beneficiaries getting their first enlarged checks for April.

A separate check would cover retroactivity for January and February.

Under the proposal individuals now getting the minimum $55 a month would receive $100 and the minimum payment for couples would be raised from $75 to $150.

Wild Surf Continues on Coast

Huge waves—up to 14 feet high—will continue to pound the Southland coast today but are expected to subside by Sunday, a U.S. Weather Bureau spokesman said.

Heavy seas from the same storms that battered the Hawaiian coast earlier this week are blamed for the deaths of two Californians. David A. Salski, 22, and 25-year-old George J.

Olszewski, both of Summerland, were presumed drowned after large swells capsized their skiff a mile off Santa Barbara.

Seal Beach city officials said hastily built temporary sand dikes were successful in stopping the abnormally high surf from inundating sections of the beach community which were threatened earlier.

Heavy swells and temperatures in the mid-70s are expected to bring surfers swarming to the beaches.

The Weather Bureau spokesman said heavy westerly swells eight to 10 feet high will build up to about 14 feet before diminishing along the southern coast.

2 Civilian Attorneys Join My Lai Probe

Combined News Services

WASHINGTON — Two New York lawyers were assigned Friday to an Army probe of investigative aspects of the alleged My Lai massacre while the only man charged in the case underwent Pentagon questioning.

First Lt. William L. Calley Jr., accused of murdering 109 Vietnamese civilians, arrived light lipped at the Pentagon where the Army hearing is being held.

The Army panel is seeking to learn whether field officers tried to cover up any mass killings in their initial investigation shortly after the March 1968 My Lai operation.

The New York attorneys, Robert MacCrate and Jerome K. Walsh Jr., were named to add a non-military viewpoint to the work of the group headed by Lt. Gen. William R. Peers.

How could an incident such as the alleged massacre at My Lai occur? John T. Wheeler, Associated Press war correspondent, gives an insight into the conditions of the strange conflict in Vietnam. Page A-9.

A SPOKESMAN said Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor wanted the outside counsel to insure "objectivity and impartiality" to the Peers investigation, separate from the over-all criminal probe of My Lai.

Calley was flown in from Ft. Benning, Ga., where he awaits court-martial early next year.

Accompanied by his military lawyer, Maj. Kenneth A. Raby, the young lieutenant was hustled into the Pentagon and down to the Army's secret operations center shortly after noon.

Calley was questioned by the panel about 2½ hours, then he left the Pentagon.

Newsmen tried to ask Calley questions but he looked straight ahead and said nothing.

Calley was leader of a platoon which went into My Lai as part of a company commanded by Capt. Ernest Medina.

Medina told reporters Thursday he neither ordered a massacre nor saw or heard of one. Medina said he did shoot one wounded Viet Cong woman who he thought was about to harm him.

THE CAPTAIN also said he passed along to his platoon leaders, who would have included Calley, instructions to make sure that no civilians were killed.

Before the Medina news conference, his lawyer, F. Lee Bailey, said the captain had been permitted to answer publicly several accusations against him

More Oil Leaking Off Santa Barbara

By JACK O. BALDWIN
Maritime Editor

New seepage in the leak-plagued Santa Barbara Channel has been reported by the Atlantic Richfield Co., it was learned Friday.

The oil is bubbling from a crater on the ocean floor 15 miles from the site of the Union Oil Co. well eruption last year.

A company spokesman said, "a very minor volume of oil" is escaping from the crater.

The gas was detected boiling up approximately 4,200 feet west of the company's drilling platform Holly, and technicians inspecting the bowl-shaped crater from a small submarine said the tear in the ocean floor is about 10 feet in diameter.

The gas leak was reported to the State Lands Commission on Nov. 25, but no public announcement made of the latest channel incident.

In mid-August an oil leak was discovered near the company's drilling platform 12 miles due west from Santa Barbara Point.

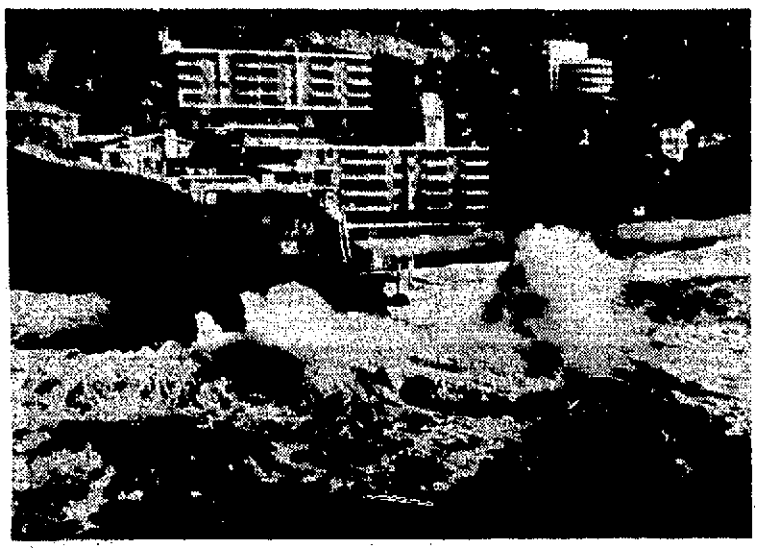

Atlantic-Richfield's platform is on a state lease, about 15 miles from Union Oil Company's Platform A near which a massive volcano-like eruption of oil occurred Jan. 28.

Frosty the Snowman Cheers Viet GIs

Combined News Services

SAIGON — A group of American troops in the Central Highlands have managed to come up with a snowman that withstands tropical heat. The snowman, dubbed "Frosty," was the product of dreams of winter at home by Sgt. 1.c. Thomas Davis of Alma, Ark., a platoon leader of a 4th Infantry division signal unit near Ban Me Thuot. Davis built the snowman out of sandbags, then enlisted the aid of other members of his platoon to rub lime into the sandbags until they turned white. Facial features were made from plastic and wire hangers, and a steel helmet topped off the cheery creation. Davis said "Frosty" is as good as a real snowman with the added benefit that he will not melt.

Gold Price Hits Low Spot

LONDON — The price of gold Friday hit its lowest point since the two-tier market was established in March 1968. Price of the motal dropped 2.5 cents to $35.22 per ounce in trading Friday. Gold dealers said it needed only a tiny trickle of selling to depress the already falling price of the metal. Gold's price has now fallen by more than $5.00 an ounce since mid-October and by more than $8.00 since it hit the year's peak price last spring.

Israel-Syria Prisoner Swap

TEL AVIV — Israel Friday swapped 13 Syrians for two Israelis held in Damascus for 99 days after a Trans World Airlines jetliner was hijacked. Premier Golda Meier and their families greeted the men on their return to Israel. Officials said the Syrians involved in the swap included two air force pilots who had been held for more than a year after landing their Soviet-built jets in Israel by mistake. The Red Cross handled the repatriation of the 13 Syrians.

Egyptian Military Sites Hit

TEL AVIV — Israeli planes raided Egyptian military positions on the Suez Canal Friday and the attacks set off another round of contradictions in the Arab-Israeli numbers game of downed aircraft. An Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv said the aircraft flew three raids and all returned safely to base. An Egyptian spokesman in Cairo said three Israeli planes "were destroyed by our antiaircraft guns when a number of enemy planes attempted to raid our positions at Abou Swir and Gneva." He said one of the aircraft was seen crashing.

Space Fever Fells 12 Million

ROME — "Space fever" has forced to bed some 12 million Italians, the Health Ministry announced Friday. The influenza, which Italians nicknamed "space fever" because it broke out during the days of the Apollo 12 moon trip, swept Italy, taking workers off the job and children out of school. Authorities closed down all schools in Bolzano, a city of 89,000, because more than a third of the students and teachers were sick. Doctors said the flu usually lasts three to 10 days with high fever, sore throat, and rheumatism.

Rembrandt Brings $765,000

LONDON — Rembrandt's "Portrait of an Old Man" sold at auction Friday for $765,000. When the painting — believed to represent his father — last changed hands, in 1938, it brought about $30,000. A spokesman for the auctioneers described the sale as the highpoint of a day that saw 150 important Old Masters go under the hammer for a European record total of $3,236,258.

Bodies Fall From Exploding Plane

Combined News Services

ALBUQUERQUE — A private twin-engined plane bringing a group of Texans back from Las Vegas, Nev., exploded and crashed in a snowy field Friday, killing all 11 persons aboard. The airplane, carrying eight men and three women, crashed about 500 yards from a group of private homes near the base of the snow-covered Sandia Mountains. Witnesses said they could see people falling from the plane. Federal Aviation Administration officials said the plane, piloted by Carroll Thompson of Dalhart, Tex., was enroute to Dalhart from Las Vegas. Thompson operated the Panhandle Aviation Co., a charter plane service in Dalhart in the northwest corner of Texas. The plane was demolished and all the bodies were completely broken up, police reported. The FAA said the plane had turned back to Albuquerque after deciding not to fly east to Dalhart because of bad weather.

Negroes Seize Harvard Building

CAMBRIDGE — A group of blacks demanding that Harvard University hire more Negroes seized the administration building Friday. Between 50 and 100 blacks occupied and locked themselves in the three-story building where a student takeover last spring triggered a bloody clash between students and police. Three university officials talked with the dissidents for 15 minutes inside the building. One of the blacks later told a crowd of 100 outside that "negotiations are in progress." The blacks, members of the Organization for Black Unity said the takeover was designed to halt work at the administration building "to protest the university's refusal to deal with . . . just demands."

U.N. Seeks Hijacking Pact

UNITED NATIONS — Calling aerial hijackings a "growing menace," the U.N. appealed Friday for an international agreement for prosecution and punishment of hijackers. A 30-power draft resolution was adopted by the General Assembly's Legal Committee by a vote of 67 to 1, with 17 abstaining. Cuba voted against it. Cuban Ambassador Ricardo Alarcon Quesada said the U.N. "remained deaf" to Cuba's complaints during the last 10 years that the U.S. and Latin American "lackeys" had promoted the kidnaping of Cuban planes and ships. Last year, 27 planes were commandeered in the air. This year the number reached 50 through September.

Jobless Rate at 10-Year Low

WASHINGTON — Unemployment declined in November by its biggest margin in 10 years, the government said. Labor Department economists said the drop in joblessness from 3.9 per cent of the labor force in October to 3.4 per cent last month mostly involved "secondary workers" — teenagers, adult women, young men aged 20 to 24 and part-time workers who usually are not family breadwinners. Many of them left the labor force entirely after they were unable to find jobs. But the bellwether jobless rates for blue collar and manufacturing workers remained unchanged in November, and the unemployment rate for all adult men dropped only from 2.4 per cent to 2.2 per cent.

Antiwar Trial Case Rests

CHICAGO — The prosecution rested its case Friday against seven antiwar demonstration leaders accused of conspiring to incite the riots that rocked the nation during the 1968 Democratic National Convention. Defense attorneys immediately served notice they will move for a directed verdict of acquittal, presumably on grounds that the government has failed to prove its case. Arguments on the defense motion were scheduled for Monday when the court of U.S. District Judge Julius J. Hoffman goes back into session after a weekend recess.

Penn State Asks Nixon to Hold Off

Combined News Services

Pennsylvania's Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, claiming "Penn State is the nation's No. 1 football team," asked President Nixon Friday to withhold awarding a plaque to the winner of the Texas-Arkansas game as the national champion. Shafer, a former college football player, said he was "dismayed" by Nixon's decision to award the plaque after the game at Fayettesville, Ark., today. He said he sent a telegram to Nixon which said: "Of the three top teams ranked on top by the polls, Penn State has played the toughest schedule. I have already invited you to attend the Penn State-Missouri game in the Orange Bowl on January 1. Please hold judgment on number one until after the bowl games." Nine Pennsylvania legislators also sent a telegram to Nixon in which they urged the President to accept Shafer's invitation to attend the Orange Bowl game. "There is no doubt in our minds that Penn State is the Number One team in the country," the telegram said. Bob Parsons, sophomore quarterback on the team, said Penn State has had "two years of undefeated seasons and great teams. I don't see how a team could be No. 1 after only one year." He said the Nittany Lions could beat both Texas and Arkansas. Other students accused Nixon of "being premature."

Ponti said that the movie will not make the hijacker a hero. The airliner was hijacked by Minichiello on Halloween and made five stops in 17 hours before reaching Rome. Ponti said his film will be titled "They Stole $200 From Me and I Took Them Back." Water Project Periled

State Can't Sell Bonds; May Need $300 Million Taxes

Associated Press

The state might have to raise taxes by at least $300 million to save the State Water Project if the bond crisis continues through 1970, a legislative committee was told in Sacramento Friday.

That grim news came from Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post who was openly skeptical about any great improvement in the state bond situation, even if the maximum interest rate the state can pay is raised to seven per cent by the voters next June.

At the present five per cent limit, the state has been unable to sell its general obligation bonds, such as the voter-approved water bonds, because investors can get a much better deal with the high interest rates elsewhere on the money market.

THE STATE'S General Fund will have to loan the $3 billion water project $100 million to keep construction going through the first half of 1970, Post told a hearing of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee.

If the ballot proposal fails, he said, the state will have to loan the project another $150 million for the last half of 1970. To avoid a cash crisis in September of 1970, the Legislature would have to extend the semiannual personal income tax payment system — possibly to another million taxpayers.

This would speed up collections and give the state the money it needs to pay off the General Fund loans. The fall installment now is paid only by more affluent Californians.

Then, Post said, "The Legislature would have to provide additional sources of revenue to repay $300 million in outstanding loans and also provide new sources of financing for capital outlay needs."

POST DIDN'T say where that would come from, but it would have to be in some form of new or additional tax.

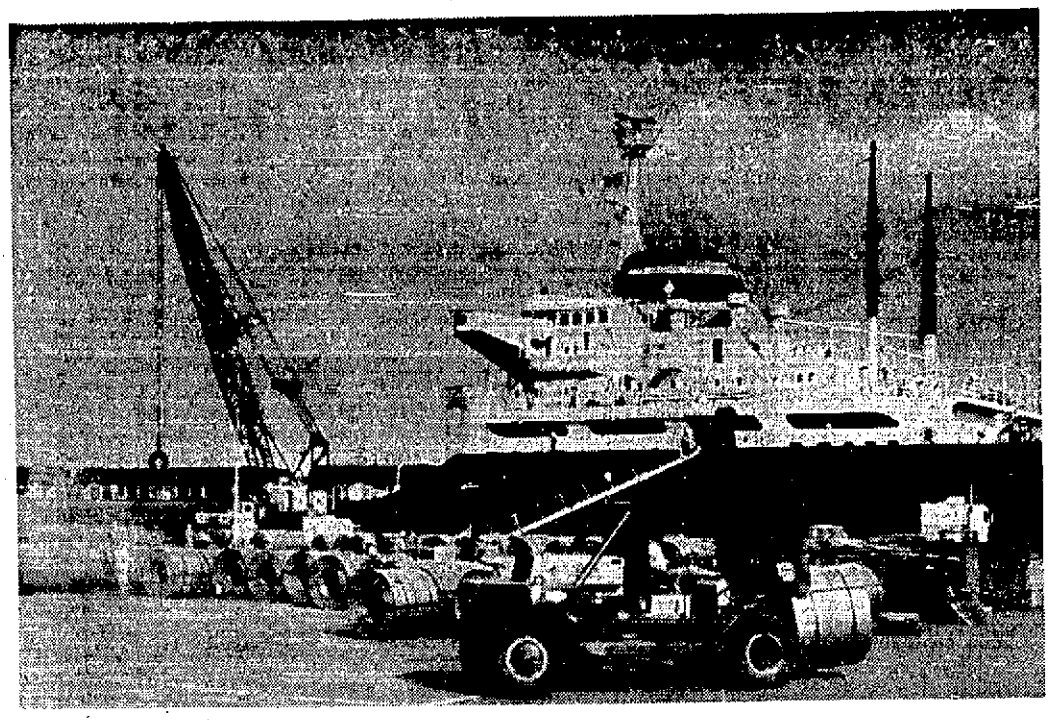

"These are the critical problems we have to begin anticipating," Post said.

His comments came in response to questions put by the lawmakers to Gov. Ronald Reagan's Finance Department.

Post, who admitted he was being more pessimistic than the Finance Department, said the same problems would apply to state school construction bonds and veterans loan bonds.

Assistant Finance Director Roy Bell said one alternative would be to cancel one year's construction of the water project, but the cost would be nearly $500 million.

"Because of these costs, cancellation of the water project is not within our contemplation," Bell said.

'Oink!' Called Threat to School Discipline

By VINT MADER
Staff Writer

The high school underground publication "oink!" threatened to "weaken and diminish control and discipline," Downey Schools Superintendent Dr. Arnold E. Finch testified Friday.

Failure of officials to act "would have encouraged these results," Dr. Finch said in United States Court where the two teen-age publishers of "oink!" are seeking an injunction to overturn disciplinary action taken against them.

He pointed out to Judge E. Avery Crary more than a dozen references he considered "vulgar" or "profane" in a Nov. 5 issue of "oink!" that brought suspension from school and removal from student government posts for Bill Schaffner and David K. Baker, both 17.

SUITS FILED by their parents asked an order to wipe the two-week suspensions off their records, reinstate Schaffner as president of the student body and Baker as senior class representative and ban city prosecution under Downey antihandbill ordinances.

Dr. Finch said "oink!" had "injected a new and controversial and abrasive element into the campus" at Warren High School.

After the Nov. 5 issue was distributed by the school gate, he received between 20 and 40 complainining phone calls from parents and others, Dr. Finch testified.

One of the calls was from Assemblyman Floyd Wakefield (R-Southgate) who had received calls from constituents and "was obsiously disturbed," Dr. Finch said.

THE SUPERINTENDENT said he told the assemblyman, whose 52nd district includes northwest Downey, that he had contacted the police, the county counsel's office, reviewed state statutes and held conferences.

"I said, 'Floyd, at the moment I'm doing all that I can. What else would you have me do?' And he said, 'I'd kick their asses out of school.'"

Dr. Finch said Wakefield was immediately apologetic.

"He said, 'Forgive me for using that language. I shouldn't have said that. This upsets me,'" Dr. Finch told the court.

Earlier Friday, one of seven Warren teachers called by Joel R. Strote, attorney for the youths, admitted on cross examination, that she took Schaffner and Baker to a performance of the controversial play "Hair," but said she "would not call them close friends."

BOBBI LESTER, an English teacher, was questioned closely about her relationship with the youths by Deputy County Counsel Elaine M. Grillo.

"Do you see them socially, go out with them?" asked Miss Grillo, but Miss Lester replied, "No," firmly and with a laugh.

Miss Lester said the theater outing arose from Schaffner's losing a student election when she "wrote him a note offering my condolences and inviting him to see the play "Hair." I suggested he invite a friend, and he brought David.

"At this time it was a gesture of condolences. I didn't think it was going to be revealed in this context."

On further questioning by Miss Grillo, she said she had never taken other students to plays, and denied that she had celebrated Schaffner's birthday with him or received any phone messages for "Bobbi" from him at the school.

JUDGE CRARY adjourned the hearing to Tuesday morning when Miss Grillo is scheduled to begin calling witnesses for the defendants, Dr. Finch, Warren Principle A. H. (Gus) Shincy, and Downey School Board.

Calling of Dr. Finch had been done ahead of schedule because he will be out of town early next week.

However, despite the advance appearance, the superintendent still remains on call for Wednesday morning for further questioning by Strote.

The attorneys estimated that the hearing, which has already run two days, will wind up late Wednesday.

Pendleton Brig Probers Silent

CAMP PENDLETON (UPI) — Four congressmen toured the brig at this Marine base Friday to investigate a charge that a band of Negroes made virtual slaves of some white prisoners.

Rep. William J. Randall, D-Mo., chairman of the subcommittee, informed newsmen through Marine authorities that there would be no statements or interviews during the two-day visit.

The congressmen disappeared inside the brig for about one hour during the late morning. When they emerged there was no indication of whether they had interviewed any inmates about the reports of a reign of terror inside.

The afternoon was spent in executive session where the subcommittee was to determine what improvements have been made in brig operations since the investigation three months ago by the parent House Armed Services Committee.

Randall said in Washington the subcommittee would be taking testimony from prisoners and base authorities regarding the report that Black Panther-type blacks had beat whites who resisted their orders. The investigators felt some whites were beaten "to the point of death."

The three investigators were sent here in September by Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., after a former brig physician and a brig chaplain said prisoners were being mistreated.

While the congressional investigators were on the base then, 200 prisoners rioted for two hours until they were quelled by tear gas.

At that time, the investigators were checking reports that guards had mistreated prisoners. Maj. Gen. Donn J. Robertson, the base commander, denied there had been "brutality" but acknowledged there was severe overcrowding and that some guards had been punished for mistreating prisoners.

The other members of Randall's delegation are Reps. Alexander Pirnie, R-N.Y., Robert H. Mollohan, D-W. Va., and W. C. Daniel, D-Va. They were expected to return to Washington late today or Sunday.

City Officials Subpoenaed in Carson Trash Firm Trial

The Carson mayor and two city councilmen will be subpoenaed as witnesses in a court battle between two trash firms, it was learned Friday.

Attempts to serve the subpoenas failed Friday when none of the men—Mayor John Junk and Councilmen H. Rick Clark and Sak Yamamoto — turned up at city hall.

Carson Refuse Co., Inc., 22138 S. Vermont Ave., wants to question the three about the possibility that confidential company information was leaked to them.

Don Yahnke, a 15 per cent shareholder in Carson Refuse when it incorporated, is suing to require corporate officers to open its books and reveal details of the proposed sale of the firm.

Although still listed as a stockholder, Yahnke is no longer on the board. He is now associated with Western Refuse Hauling Co., Inc., 401 Francisco St.

"We feel that opening our books would be giving confidential information about our company to a competitor," said Al Prather, Carson Refuse general manager. "We already believe that information has been leaked in this manner and given by the competitor to certain councilmen."

Prather said Yahnke also seeks access to the minutes of the corporation's board meetings. "They are even more interested in the minutes than in the books," he said.

When Yahnke left Carson Refuse, he attempted to sell his stock to Western Refuse, but Carson Refuse continues to list Yahnke as the stockholder and refuses to recognize the sale.

No indication was given why the other two councilmen, John Marbut and Gilbert Smith, were not also subpoenaed. However, Junk, Clark and Yamamoto were the three who voted last month to designate Western Refuse as the probable recipient of an exclusive contract for rubbish pickup from business firms in Carson. Marbut and Smith opposed the move.

City officials and Western Refuse representatives are now negotiating the franchise agreement. The next meeting is scheduled for 3 p.m. Monday at city hall.

Carson Refuse holds a similar exclusive franchise for all residential pickup, and also sought to bid on the commercial-industrial franchise. By the same 3-2 alignment, the council refused to hold public hearings on the matter or accept open bidding for the franchise.

Junk, Clark and Yamamoto also voted against permitting Carson Refuse to transfer its residential contract to Universal Byproduct, Inc., thus blocking a proposed merger.

It is the exact finances of that merger which Yahnke is seeking to obtain, as a minority stockholder in Carson Refuse, with his suit.

Alioto Sees Reagan as Chief Obstacle

By Associated Press

San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto said Friday a Democratic fight for governor would be a good thing "so long as it doesn't become a bloodletting primary."

But he said his decision on entering the June primary race will be made the first week in January —solely on the basis of "whether or not I can beat Gov. Reagan."

Assembly Democratic leader Jess M. Unruh became the first announced candidate Thursday, warning that a primary fight would hurt party unity and hamper efforts to defeat Reagan.

The Republican governor is expected to seek a second term.

"I hope the mayor will not run, not because I don't think I can beat him. I can and I will," Unruh said.

AT A NEWS conference Friday, Alioto countered: "I haven't any real question about my ability to win a Democratic primary against anybody who I foresee in the race now.

"Gov. Reagan, on the other hand, isn't going to be easy to beat, and at this stage of my life, I am not interested in any Don Quixote ventures."

Asked about a Democratic struggle for the nomination, Alioto replied: "I'm not one of those who looks on a primary as some kind of plague."

"I think it's a very fine thing that somebody who's been in political office, say for 22 years, like Mr. Unruh, is confronted by somebody who is relatively new to the picture, who has a better chance perhaps of binding the wounds in the Democratic Party," he said.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Committee approved a straight 15 per cent boost. This had been presented to the Senate as a rider to the tax bill by Finance Committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La.

Both plans go far beyond President Nixon's request for a 10 per cent increase to become effective April 1.

It had been reported that House leaders probably would accept the Long amendment in the tax bill. But with the vastly increased cost of the Mansfield-Byrd proposal its future appeared in doubt when the tax measure gets to House-Senate Conference Committee.

THE STRAIGHT 15 per cent boost would cost $4.2 billion a year compared to $6.2 billion for the Mansfield-Byrd proposal.

Passage of the Mansfield-Byrd proposal came in the wake of the second presidential veto threat in a week, plus an assertion from a Senate Republican that the tax-reform bill is being turned into a "Christmas tree."

Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, acting as GOP leader, told newsmen before the session began that the Administration is opposed to even the straight 15 per cent increase.

Indicating he was speaking for the Administration, Griffin said he "wouldn't bet against" the President vetoing a bill carrying such an increase in Social Security.

HE SAID a veto could send Social Security increases down the drain with tax reform.

President Nixon raised a veto threat earlier this week in a letter to the Senate leaders objecting to an increase in personal income tax exemptions.

The Senate went ahead and approved that method of cutting taxes, however, by a vote similar to the one approving the Social Security increases.

"We are turning this bill into a Christmas tree. Who said there isn't a Santa Claus," said Republican John J. Williams of Delaware.

BEFORE turning to Social Security, the Senate voted 69 to 18 to eliminate a provision in the bill for ending tax exemption for private foundations after 40 years.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said the Finance Committee had found "the great majority of these foundations were set up for purposes of tax avoidance."

But Sen. John O. Pastor, D-R.I., contended the provision would destroy "something that is fine and noble" and cried "Don't burn down the barn just to get one mouse."

THE SENATE approved 53 to 32 a provision allowing a tax credit for most expenses of higher education.

Offered by Republican Peter Dominick of Colorado it would cost the Treasury some $1 billion in lost revenue when effective in 1972.

Because of the huge revenue loss, the amendment faces a doubtful future in conference although it brought renewed protests from Williams.

Williams said adoption of the proposal brought to $9.95 billion the amount the Senate had added to the Finance Committee bill in the past few days. The committee bill has envisioned a $2.3 billion deficit before floor debate started.

BY A 47 TO 31 vote, the Senate turned down an amendment by Democrat Joseph Tydings of Maryland who said his proposal would have closed the "largest single loophole left in the tax laws."

Tydings said some $3 billion in new revenue would have been gained.

His proposal would have required an heir selling inherited property to pay a capital gains tax on the basis of original investment.

Littering Fine Hike Proposed by Solon

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Sen. John F. McCarthy said Friday he would introduce legislation next year to increase from $50 to $100 the fine for littering highways.

"How are we going to solve our serious problems of air and water pollution if we aren't civilized enough to stop throwing garbage out of an automobile window." The San Rafael Republican asked. He said the state spends $2.2 million annually cleaning up after messy motorists.

SENATOR-NIXON MELODRAMA

GOP Has a 'Communications Gap'

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate melodrama unfolded Friday, a tale of family discord among Republicans, bruised political egos and missing names on a White House guest list.

There was, it appeared, less to the episode than met the eye.

It revolved around the discontent of some Republicans in the moderate to liberal camp with the state of their relations at the White House.

AND IT was fueled by a published report of a budding rebellion among some GOP senators, most of them relative newcomers.

About a dozen GOP senators met privately — but not very quietly — to talk over the state of the Senate, the issues and the party.

The same group has been doing the same thing at intervals for months. And there have been prior reports of discontent.

This time, the meeting produced a report that Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky had been deputized to take the story to the White House — an assignment Cooper said was never discussed.

Cooper's name was suggested as an emissary to the White House. "He's a very diplomatic kind of a guy," said Sen. William Saxbe of Ohio.

THAT PROVED to be an understatement. "I have never had any difficulty in speaking to the President and he has been very generous in this respect," said Cooper, disowning any suggestion that he would carry complaints to the Administration.

What he did agree to do, Cooper said, was to go to the White House with legislative suggestions from colleagues, something the Administration has requested. "Obviously, I have not asked for an appointment," Cooper said, since the recommendations aren't ready.

"Our purpose is to try to work with the President," said Saxbe, but at the same time, he suggested the Administration would do well to spend more time cultivating Republicans who have differed with the administration — particularly on the defeated Supreme Court nomination of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr.

THAT BROUGHT up the guest list, for a Thanksgiving Eve White House visit which included only Republicans who voted for Haynsworth.

"They met with the faithful," said Saxbe. "Set the Haynsworth thing aside, and we'd like to meet with him."

Him, of course, is President Nixon.

Sen. James B. Pearson of Kansas, who voted for Haynsworth, was on the guest list, and also is among the Saxbe group, said he had assured the White House no rebellion is brewing.

Pearson said Nixon told Haynsworth supporters there would be no reprisals against Republicans who opposed the nomination.

"I think it's a breakdown in communication as much as anything," said Saxbe.

EX-PW, WO MALCOLM LOEPKE GREETED BY WIFE, DIANE
Loepke, Holding Son Donald, 5, Was Freed After 3 Months in N. Korea Prison

Tearful Embrace for Pilot Who Survived Red Prison

FT. KNOX, Ky. (AP) — A tearful embrace from his wife and a wet kiss from his 5-year-old son greeted Warrant Officer Malcolm V. Loepke on his return after three months in the hands of the North Koreans.

Loepke's wife, Diane, 34, met her husband Friday with an embrace that knocked his hat off halfway up the ramp of the airplane.

SHE HAD waited silently in near-freezing temperatures for the reunion while 10 wounded soldiers were unloaded.

Loepke hoisted his son Donald to his shoulder and carried him to waiting microphones as members of his family clustered around.

"I feel good, but I'm nervous and tired," he said. "I don't have a whole lot to say except that I'm happy to be back in the United States. I have trouble putting my feelings into words."

LOEPKE was pilot of an unarmed helicopter shot down by the North Koreans Aug. 17. He and two crewmen were released earlier this week.

The 35-year-old pilot from Richmond, Ind., declined to talk about his experiences in North Korea. He also had no comment when asked if he had seen other Americans while being held captive.

"I'll have to answer 'negative' to that," he said, when asked if the Army had instructed him to remain silent.

Mrs. Loepke said she talked to her husband by telephone from Korea when he was released.

SHE SAID the chat was cut short by a bad connection "and I didn't get to say much."

Asked what plans she had for Christmas, Mrs. Loepke said the holiday would be "a family Christmas, with some big things planned."

"Having him home is enough," she added.

Mrs. Loepke said life had been hectic since word of her husband's capture.

"Everybody telephoned and tried to help," she said. "We were just happy to know that he was alive."

AN ARMY spokesman said the helicopter pilot would be held for about 10 days for a thorough physical examination and then released for convalescent leave and reassignment later.

Mrs. Loepke said she will stay with relatives at Ft. Knox until her husband is granted leave.

"This is the happiest moment of my life," she said.

Inquiries on Lottery Flood Draft Boards

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California draft boards reported Friday that they have received a siege of phone calls asking for information about the recently published draft lottery list.

State Selective Service officials conferred in Sacramento about how to handle inquiries.

After the lottery dates were published, one secretary commented, "the phones were ringing all the time."

In Southern California, draft board headquarters reported a tapering off of calls late this week.

Draft board officials said one main question was whether young men should drop their deferments and wait until next year.

Team Will Probe in Vietnam

FT. CAMPBELL Ky. — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Army chief of staff, said Friday a special investigating team will be sent to Vietnam soon to learn the secret of the alleged My Lai massacre.

"A team from the Pentagon will be visiting Vietnam in order to accumulate all the information available concerning the massacre," the former commander of forces in Vietnam said.

Westmoreland said the investigation would include interrogation of all witnesses to the alleged murders of 109 Vietnamese civilians in the village.

The chief of staff was here on a tour of the army's training center. He made his comments at a pre-luncheon news conference.

BATTLESHIP A SHELTER

United Press International

The retired battleship Missouri has been designated as a public nuclear fallout shelter and stocked to accommodate 2,200 persons with food, water, medical supplies, sanitary equipment and radiological monitoring devices.

The Missouri lies in berth at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard as part of the Navy's mothball fleet.

CALLEY CALLED TO PENTAGON

because he had nothing to say which would prejudice the rights of Calley or others who might become involved in the case.

A brigade investigation after the My Lai operation concluded that only a few inadvertent civilian deaths occurred and that there was no basis for disciplining any U.S. soliders.

That conclusion, according to the Pentagon, was reviewed by the unit's parent Americal Division but went no higher in the chain of command.

Resor said MacCrate, 48, will be special counsel and Walsh, 37, will be associate special counsel to the Peers inquiry.

MacCrate is a partner in the New York firm of Sullivan & Cromwell. He was a Navy officer from 1943 to 1946, serving on the battleship Pennsylvania in the Pacific.

WALSH, formerly with the same law firm but now a partner in the Walsh and Frish legal office in New York, spent a two-year tour in the Army from 1952 to 1954.

Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard told a Pentagon news conference there have been "few offenders" among the two million U.S. servicemen who have been to Vietnam, so far as the U.S. policy against killing civilians is concerned.

The lawyer for Medina filed a $110-million libel suit against Time, Inc., in Boston Friday, alleging that the Dec. 5 issue of Time Magazine quoted a Richard Pendleton as saying he observed Medina shooting a little boy.

The article said that "the biggest mystery so far is why no charges have been placed against Capt. Medina." Medina, who like Calley is now stationed at Ft. Benning, testified before the Pentagon board Thursday and told newsmen afterward that he neither saw now ordered a massacre at My Lai and that none had been reported to him.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Friday in a speech at New Orleans that "we can do nothing but deplore" the alleged massacre. He said that "some authorities seem to condone" atrocities committed by the Viet Cong against Vietnamese civilians.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., said he would introduce a resolution resolving that "there must never be another My Lai" and urging U.S. financing of reconstruction of the hamlet and return of all citizens who may have fled as refugees.

Barber Clips 313 Heads in 72 Hours for Charity

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Marathon barber Guy Mudd went to bed Friday saying, "I hope I don't dream I'm cutting hair."

The 32-year-old Mudd claimed the world's record for continuous hair cutting after 72 hours of shearing heads of a never-ending line of customers who contributed $1 each to a crippled childrens fund.

Mudd cut 313 heads of hair and said "to the last one they were topnotch." Under the rules, the number of heads sheared didn't count, it depended on continuous snipping.

Mudd, a bachelor, topped the old record of 48 hours by Japanese and Scottish barbers.

DEPUTY ESCORTS 'POSSIBLE WITNESS' IN TATE MURDERS
Prosecutor Says Linda Kasabian May Be Called To Testify

TATE WITNESS TERRIFIED

spiracy and murder com plaints.

EARLIER, prosecutors indicated they would only seek a conspiracy complaint against the hypnotic-eyed ex-convict, now being held in Inyo County Jail on charges dealing with car theft. Manson, the attorney said, would not testify before the Grand Jury.

Miss Atkins, dressed in a rose velveteen minidress, has admitted being present at the killings in the Benedict Canyon home rented by Miss Tate and her film director husband Roman Polansky, but denies participating in the actual murders. She also says she was present at the butcherknife slayings of a market chain owner Leno LaBianca and his wife, Rosemary, the day following the Tate massacres, but also denies "physically" participating.

"She was under the insane spell of Manson . . . and is slowly but surely beginning to realize she was used by Manson," the girl's attorney, Richard Caballero, told newsmen.

THE CASE, the attorney said, is "more bizarre than the murders." He said his client's mother died seven years ago and she hasn't "seen her father for a number of years."

"She's afraid of Manson . . . afraid he'll put a hex on her. Charlie (Manson) would, in effect, conjure up a vision detrimental to her in his mind and then transfer it to her mind . . . and she would be marked," Caballero said.

"They believe — she and the others in the clan — that he can do this."

Caballero said the doe-eyes murder suspect still feels under Manson's "spell" but added he was "doing everything to pull her away" from the occult group.

I'M TRYING to show her how abused and misused she's been by Manson," the attorney said . . . "trying to convince her how many people have been hurt and ask her if this is really her goal in life."

"She's really trying to pull away from Manson," Caballero said.

But despite her fears — and the fact she continued — up to her Grand Jury appearance to refer to her former leader as "a beautiful man" — the girl agreed to waive immunity to prosecution and appear before the grand jury.

"I'll answer anything they ask me," she said before entering the Grand Jury room.

But why she chose to testify, her attorney answered: "To save herself from the gas chamber."

"There is no question that they (the district attorney and his staff) will seek the death penalty. But the time the trial rolls around . . . months and years from now . . . to try to tell the story then, it would appear to be fabricated," he said.

And apparently the girl, in her 2½-hour testimony, told all she knew, but the secret Grand Jury proceedings will not be made public until after the indictments are returned.

THE GIRL, the accused murderess of 34-year-old musician Gary Hinman whose death may be linked to the other seven killings, was asked how she felt when she completed her testimony:

"Dead" was her one-word answer.

Miss Atkins, whose statements to a jail cellmate led to police charges in at least eight slayings, was one of six witnesses to testify Friday. Seventeen more, including 12 police officers, are scheduled to parade before jurors beginning at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Appearing briefly before the jury was Wilfred Parent, father of 18-year-old Steven Parent who was gunned down by black-robed cult members as he attempted to leave the Tate home following a visit with the caretaker.

ACCOMPANIED by his wife and 16-year-old daughter, Janet, Parent refused comment on his appearance, adhering to judicial orders that witnesses not reveal details of their testimony nor discuss the case with newsmen.

The family, pushing through a battery of almost 100 television and news cameramen and reporters, appeared distraught. They waited together in a small room outside the jury room for almost two hours before being called to testify.

Also appearing distraught and frightened was the Tate maid, Mrs. Winifred Chapman, who discovered the murders when she reported for work shortly before 9 a.m. Aug. 9.

Appearing with his attorney was long-haired, mustachioed Terry Melcher, son of actress Doris Day and resident of the Tate murder house before it was rented by the actress and her film-director husband, Roman Polansky.

WEARING BANGS and bellbottoms, the 27-year-old sometime producer was allegedly the intended victim of Manson and his hate-oriented hippie cult.

The girl informer, through her attorney, had said that Melcher had promised the guitar-playing cult leader a record date and had reneged on his promise. Manson then "ordered" the cult to slaughter everyone in the house which he said was a "symbol of rejection," the girl said. He apparently was not aware that Melcher had moved from the home.

Standing "in the wings" when Melcher testified and waiting his turn, was Greg Jakobson, reportedly a friend of Melcher and apparently a witness to the recording "deal" between Manson and the producer. Jakobson is expected to testify when the jury resumes hearings Monday.

Also before jurors for almost an hour was Los Angeles County Coroner Dr. Thomas T. Noguchi, who autopsied all victims in the slayings at the Tate home and the murders of the LaBiancas. He walked hurriedly past reporters without comment.

FIRST EVIDENCE to be brought before the jury were photographs of the gun used on three of the five victims at the Tate home. The photo showed a long-barreled western-type .22 caliber revolver with a broken grip. The grip was pictured alongside the gun.

Prosecutors said there was "some significance" in the broken gun, but refused to elaborate. Earlier details of the crime indicated that one of those killed, Polish playboy Voityck Frykowsky, had been pistol-whipped as he broke from his bonds and attempted to escape from his killers. In the beating, the gun was broken and a piece of the grip was found by police at the murder scene.

Also in evidence is a 43-foot nylon, three-strand rope about which prosecutors also refused to comment. However, a tag on the rope identified it as having been found at the Tate house.

A similar rope had been used to link the bodies of Sharon Tate and that of her ex-boy-friend, Hollywood hair stylist Jay Sebring.

Manson Has Record in Northern County

United Press International

Charles Manson, leader of a hippie group suspected of ritual killings, was arrested in Mendocino County in 1967 for interfering with a deputy who was apprehending a 14-year-old runaway girl.

Records show Charles Millis Manson, 32, received a 30-day suspended sentence on the charge. He gave his occupation as minister and his birthplace as Cincinnati. The arrest was made near Hales Grove.

Susan Atkins, a member of Manson's following, was also arrested in Mendocino County, on June 22, 1968. She was one of six persons seized in a narcotics raid on a house near Booneville.

Miss Atkins, then 19, also using the name Sadie Mae Glutz, was charged with possession of marijuana and received a suspended sentence.

The others seized in that raid were: Robert Bomse, 18; Mary T. Brunner, 24; Susan Scott, 22; Ella Bethsnider, 23; and Katherine Patricia Smith. Bomse was convicted of possessing LSD and Miss Brunner was convicted of possessing marijuana. The other three women were freed on grounds the arrests involved illegal search.

The Mendocino County sheriff's office was checking into the possibility of a connection between the Sharon Tate murders in Los Angeles and two unexplained killings near Ukiah last year.

Man, 21, Guilty of Slaying Boy

A 21-year-old man was convicted in Los Angeles of first-degree murder Friday for the fatal shooting of a 15-year-old Granada Hills boy during a liquor store robbery.

David Daniel Cardenas was convicted of slaying Robert Hand on Aug. 15, 1968.

The jury will return Monday to the courtroom of Judge Stevens Fargo to determine whether Cardenas should receive life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber.

Hand was shot as he stood in front of the liquor store in Granada Hills. His father, John C. Hand, was in a rear room.

The father testified he heard the shot and ran outside to find his son on the floor and Cardenas standing over him with a gun.

The boy died en route to the hospital.

Cardenas was arrested with his brother Robert, 23, of Reseda, who was accused of concealing the defendant. The older Cardenas will be tried on the charge Dec. 16 in Van Nuys.

Kidnaping Suspect on Way to L.A.

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Authorities from Los Angeles Friday arrested Charles Edward Collier, 26, who waived extradition to face charges of kidnaping Cindy Birdsong, a member of the Supremes.

Miss Birdsong, 30, who escaped unharmed, she said, on a freeway after being abducted at knifepoint at her Hollywood apartment Tuesday night.

Collier turned himself in to Las Vegas police Wednesday.

3 Death Riders Held in Death of Attendant

ARCATA (AP) — Murder charges were filed Friday against three members of the Death Riders motorcycle club in connection of a service station operator.

Arraigned before Municipal Court Judge Charles Thomas were Jerry Clifton, 21; Clarence Johnson Jr., 20; and his half-brother, Donald L. Johnson, 19.

Wescent Kolshinski was beaten, slashed with a knife, and robbed at his service station on U.S. 101, police said.

Thomas set Dec. 9 for a preliminary hearing.

Enemy Infiltration Increasing, Packard Says

By WILLIAM BEECHER
New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard voiced concern Friday about what he referred to as a substantial recent increase in enemy infiltration in Vietnam. But, he declared, American withdrawals "are going to continue."

Packard declined to put a number on the upsurge in infiltration, but knowledgeable officials said that upwards of 30,000 troops are believed to be moving toward the war zone from North Vietnam. Some new units have entered South Vietnam in recent weeks, Packard said.

Apprehension among military commanders that the enemy may be preparing for another Tet offensive, he said, is one of the factors being assessed by Administration officials in trying to decide the size of the next troop reduction and the timing of its announcement.

On the basis of what he saw and heard during a 10-day inspection trip, he said: "I'm convinced progress in Vietnamization is moving ahead so we can continue our withdrawals."

Asked, at a Pentagon news conference, whether prospects of a major enemy offensive next February, about the time of the lunar new year holiday of Tet, might delay the next American troop withdrawal, he said:

"It would depend upon the extent of the Tet offensive and our assessment as to whether the South Vietnamese, together with those forces that might remain, would be able to handle it."

The Administration, he said, is currently trying to make "the most objective evaluation" of how many troops can be withdrawn in the near future, weighing primarily 'the level of enemy action and progress in Vietnamization."

Vietnamization is the expression used by administration officials to describe a variety of efforts aimed at shifting the burden of fighting the war to the South Vietnamese.

Packard reported "encouragement" over recent progress in this field. He was especially pleased with the organization of a 2,750,000-member Peoples Self Defense Force.

These are villagers, old and young, who are being given some vintage weapons and training so they can defend their homes in the event of attack. Roughly half of the new part-time militia has received some training, he said, and nearly 400,000 weapons have been distributed.

Packard said he hopes to provide both more and better weapons to these people.

This, together with steady improvement in the performance of regional and popular force units, has permitted South Vietnamese regular army units to leave village defense chores to go out after the enemy, he said.

Packard suggested that the level of American forces in Vietnam, now roughly 5,000 men below the authorized ceiling of 484,000, would probably stay fairly constant until the next withdrawal announcement by President Nixon.

He declined to discuss when that announcement will come or the size of the reduction in force contemplated.

Reliable Pentagon sources have said that military commanders in Vietnam urged Packard, during his trip there, to keep the next reduction a modest one in light of a possible enemy Tet offensive. They are said to have recommended that not many more than 35,000 troops be withdrawn over the next few months.

Administration officials had been thinking in terms of a 40,000- to 60,000-man reduction. Since early June, somewhat more than 60,000 American troops have been withdrawn.

Asked whether the Administration was thinking of leveling off at a force of about 150,000 men when all combat troops have been removed, Packard declined to discuss specific numbers.

But, he said, "If the Vietnamization program goes well, we should certainly be able to come below that level in some reasonable time. He did not say what he considered reasonable.

U.S. Planes Attack Guns in Cambodia

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. headquarters Friday reported a second consecutive day of air raids against North Vietnamese artillery emplacements in Cambodia. Communiques said five Americans were killed in scattered action across South Vietnam.

The Viet Cong announced in a radio broadcast that Communist forces would observe three-day cease-fires for Christmas and the New Year. The U.S. and South Vietnam have declared 24-hour cease-fires for the two holidays.

Informed Allied military sources said the air strikes into Cambodia early Thursday hit North Vietnamese guns recently moved into their southernmost position of the war. They said supersonic jets pounded the camouflaged positions near the "Parrot's Beak" area of Cambodia after the 105mm weapons fired on Cai Cai, a town 72 miles west of here.

SOURCES said the 2.5-ton howitzers fired 5 to 10 rounds during an 18-shell mortar barrage on the town which resulted in "light" casualties. There was no immediate damage assessment from the air raids.

The air strikes were flown 12 miles west of Tuyen Binh, a small town attacked Wednesday by about 600 fresh North Vietnamese troops. The North Vietnamese were beaten off after four hours at a cost of 166 killed.

U.S. fighter-bombers swept across the border later in the day to blast mortar positions which had fired on Tuyen Binh. Highly reliable sources also said about 40 South Vietnamese soldiers pursued the remnants of the fleeing North Vietnamese battalion into Cambodia.

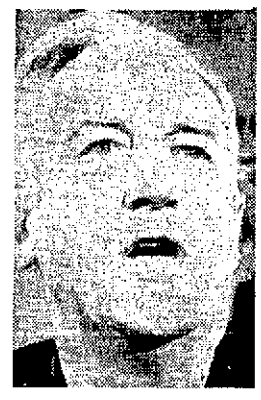

South Vietnamese spokesmen denied the report but said their troops were "allowed the right of hot pursuit" if Communist forces attacked from Cambodia.

THREE Americans were reported killed Thursday when their Huey helicopter was shot down 77 miles east-northeast of here. Two other crewmen were injured.

A second Huey was shot down 11 miles west of Saigon, wounding four crewmen. It was the 1,049th helicopter lost to ground fire in South Vietnam since 1961.

Two Americans were killed and five wounded Thursday, spokesmen said, when Viet Cong guerrillas ambushed an Allied river patrol flotilla in the Mekong Delta 170 miles southwest of Saigon.

The 31-foot fiberglass boats blasted their way out of the trap with their own .50-caliber machine guns and M-79 grenade launchers.

SECRETARY ROGERS
Supports German Efforts

U.S. Backs Accord With Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers has emphasized U.S. support for West Germany's attempt to improve relations with Eastern European Communist countries, the State Department said Friday.

Rogers made the U.S. position clear at a dinner of the four major Western foreign ministers in Brussels, Press Officer Carl Bartch related.

Other State Department officials said Chancellor Willy Brandt's policy of seeking improved relations with East Germany and other Eastern European countries can be useful in relieving East-West tensions.

NATO OUTLINES CONDITIONS

East-West Talks -- Maybe

BRUSSELS (UPI) — The United States and its North Atlantic Treaty allies told the Soviets Friday they are ready to discuss ways to reduce tensions and increase East-West cooperation in Europe.

But they warned bluntly that lengthy advance preparation will be necessary before accepting the recent Soviet call to a European security conference. In any case, they said, the United States and Canada would have to take part.

In a 2,000-word declaration published at the end of their annual three-day meeting, NATO foreign, defense and economics ministers told the Soviets that in the meantime there are many vital issues involving European security and cooperation that could be discussed.

Among these they listed arms control and disarmament, Germany and Berlin and economic, technical and cultural exchanges between East and West.

The NATO ministers reminded the Soviets pointedly that they have not yet replied to the proposal made by NATO at its council session at Reykjavik in June 1967 for mutual balanced East-West reductions in armed forces.

The declaration pledged the NATO countries to continue contacts and talks on a multilateral or bilateral basis with Eastern European countries on these and other issues.

The declaration concluded with the pledge that the NATO countries "remain receptive to signs of readiness on the part of the Soviet Union and other eastern European countries to discuss measures to reduce tension and promote cooperation in Europe and to take concrete action to this end.

It said progress in such preliminary talks could contribute to the success of a possible general conference later.

The declaration stressed that any general conference must not lead to ratifying the present East-West division of Europe.

The statement was issued as a separate document at the same time as the regular closing communique at the end of the NATO session.

The declaration was issued in the names of all 15 NATO member countries except for the section calling for mutual, balanced reduction of armed forces. The French did not underwrite that section of the 1968 Reykjavik offer and they asked to be left out of this section of the present declaration too.

Reds May Have Relaxed Stand on East Germany

MOSCOW (UPI) — Western diplomatic sources Friday said the Warsaw Pact nations appear to have shelved western recognition of East Germany as the basic condition for improved relations with Western Europe.

They drew that conclusion from their interpretation of the communique issued Thursday night at the end of a two-day summit meeting of leaders of the Soviet Union and its Warsaw Pact partners, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, and Romania.

Not all western sources agreed, however. Some believed the ambiguous terms of the communique at best meant only a shift in Soviet emphasis from the long-established German demand to the current campaign for an all-European security conference.

According to the more optimistic interpretation, the communique appeared to give the Warsaw Pact nations the green light to negotiate individually on proposals put forward by the new West German government of Chancellor Willy Brandt.

The diplomatic sources reported further that a top-level Soviet trade delegation would visit West Germany next spring, in April or May. The source said Alexander N. Shelepin, chairman of the Soviet trade unions, possibly would head the delegation.

The summit meeting was called to, among other things, work out a common policy for the Eastern European Communist bloc towards Brandt's Social Democratic government which has been striving to improve relations with full recognition of each neighbors.

The Communist bloc previously has insisted that full diplomatic recognition of Walter Ulbricht's walled-in East Germany must precede other measures of detente.

The communique said the east European countries and the Soviets "are fully resolved to develop relations with other European states wishing to cooperate" on the basis of West Germany's eastern other's sovereignty.

This sentence was interpreted by the more optimistic sources as indicating bloc approval for bilateral negotiations with West Germany and other western states if the question should arise. Bonn, for example, has suggested talks with Poland over recognition of Poland's western border on the Oder-Neisse Rivers.

COULD UNSEAT KENNEDY

Lodge Seen Likely to Run for Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., is looking forward to talking to Henry Cabot Lodge this weekend about his plans for the future, which just might include a run for Edward M. Kennedy's Senate seat.

Brooke said in an interview that "I have no indication Lodge would be interested in running for the Senate again. But I do not want to say it would shock me if he did, because I just don't know."

Brooke already has a favorite for the GOP senatorial nomination in Erwin D. Canham, editor in chief of the Christian Science Monitor. Canham, 65, has said he is flattered by Brooke's confidence but has not announced he is a candidate.

Brooke is known to feel that Kennedy, the Democratic senior senator from Massachusetts, should not be permitted to run for re-election in 1972 without a fight.

Lodge and Brooke are old friends. They are almost certain to get together after Lodge returns to Boston tonight after nearly a year in Paris, where he has served as chief U.S. negotiator at the Vietnam peace talks. Lodge is to fly to here Thursday or Friday from his Beverly, Mass., home for talks with President Nixon.

"I'd like to know what he is thinking about and what his intentions are, whether he is going to become active in politics or whether he will continue in a diplomatic way for the President," Brooke said of Lodge.

THE SENATOR and White House sources agreed that any decision about his future will be made by Lodge alone, without any political pressure. But sources close to the President said that if Lodge decides to try for a return to the Senate — where he first took an elected seat in 1937 — he would have automatic support of the Administration.

Lodge could have another diplomatic post for the asking, these sources said. Others have suggested he might become associated with the Urban Coalition, an amalgamation of private organizations working for improvement of the cities.

Lodge may be reluctant to run again for the Senate. His son, John, lost to Edward Kennedy in 1962, and he has indicated a preference for a continuing diplomatic career.

He said in Paris this week that if the President asked, he could still play a significant role in U.S. diplomacy. "I'm resigning, not retiring," said Lodge, 67. "I'm too young to retire."

Stores Deny Demand for Black Santas

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Santa Clauses here are going to remain white.

The city's largest stores turned down a request Thursday by the local Southern Christian Leadership Conference chapter that several black Santas be hired. The SCLC had claimed black children could not relate to a white Santa, and that Santa was a "racist symbol."

Fred Lazarus III, chairman of the board of Shillito's and president of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, and W. G. Stubenvill, president of McAlpin's, met with six black leaders for an hour, then rejected the suggestion.

"We don't agree that Santa Claus is a racist symbol or is immoral," Lazarus said.

Convivial Luncheon Marks U.S.-Russian Arms Talks

HELSINKI (UPI) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators Friday held a "business-like" meeting on limiting strategic arms, then adjourned to lunch where the Americans fed the Russians with caviar-filled pancakes and Russian vodka.

Negotiating teams met for the seventh time for a 90-minute exchange of definitions and explanations on how each side wants to go about concrete negotiations next year.

Then they retired for a two-hour luncheon together hosted at the Savoy Restaurant by Chief U.S. Delegate Gerard C. Smith.

The menu was caviar-filled pancakes with Russian vodka, lamb in burgundy and baked Alaska. The atmosphere was cordial and pleasant.

Smith returned a luncheon given at the Soviet Embassy last week by his Russian opposite, Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir S. Semenov.

FRIDAY'S meeting was described by both sides as "satisfactorily efficient, businesslike and free of all polemics."

As usual there were no details of the meeting with the two countries sticking to their agreement on absolute secrecy.

The next working session was set for Monday.

This strengthened the general belief that the present preliminary phase of the strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) will wind up by Dec. 12 or the middle of the following week.

Full negotiations will start either in January or February depending on the site.

WHO CAN GI TRUST?

'Brutality Is Commonplace in Viet'

Editor's Note — Allegations that GIs massacred South Vietnamese civilians during a raid on a village complex last year have stunned the United States. How could it happen is the most frequently asked question. In the following analysis, John T. Wheeler, who reported the war in Vietnam for the Associated Press for several years, gives an insight into the conditions of a strange war in which anything can happen.

By JOHN T. WHEELER

TROOPS CAUTIOUSLY APPROACH CIVILIANS IN HUNT FOR CONG
Frustration Felt by GIs Stems From Possibility Even Children Are Dangerous

To try to understand the alleged massacre of civilians at My Lai it is necessary also to understand the atmosphere of a war which has led many U.S. fighting men to feel they are as much at war against Vietnam as for it.

While the communiques speak of battles involving companies and battalions—the clash of professional soldiers doing their grim job — each GI carries with him the certain knowledge that in any village there may be men, women, and even children who are also the enemy, waiting for the time and place to attack him.

Brutality, and indifference to human life, are commonplace in Vietnam.Even the disfigurement of dead GIs is common.

In Vietnam the killing of civilians was a practice established by the Viet Cong as a major part of the war long before the first U.S. ground troops were committed in March 1965.

BY OFICIAL count, more than 20,000 civilians had been murdered by that time in enemy executions aimed at so thoroughly terrorizing the countryside that none would resist. The total now is more than 40,000 including more than 3,000 killed by the enemy in Hue when they held part of that city for 2½ weeks. At Hue, the victims were predominantly civilians of all ages. Many were killed simply by tying their hands behind their backs, shoving them into a trench and burying them alive.

It was into this conflict that the American troops were plunged. They had been told to kill the Viet Cong who were bad and woo the peasant who only aided the enemy because he had no choice. Given a chance, the official line went, Vietnam wanted to be free and democratic just like America.

But the GIs found a war of sundered families, and divided allegiances to any regime, either Viet Cong or Saigon.

The infantry came to know that the farmer, who might be a friend by day, could become a guerrilla by night who killed just as surely and just as ruthlessly as the enemy's professional troops living in the jungle.

In short, the GIs felt — and still do — that there were few they could trust.

There is no front in Vietnam, no rear, no safety. To the GI of a rifle company everyone outside the perimeter can be suspected of plotting to kill him.

In Vietnam the word civilian does not describe noncombatants. It describes dress more certainly than occupation.

In Vietnam the GI has plenty of reason for his distrust and fear:

Item: An elderly woman noted for her ready smile and broken betel nut-stained teeth, was caught smuggling out a detailed map of the defenses of an American base where she worked as a laundrywoman.

Item: U.S. Marines found begging children to whom they had been giving food were stealing grenades that were tossed back at the Leathernecks during the night.

Item: One Green Beret commander found his desk boobytrapped by one of the Vietnamese working for him. The Green Berets began using lie detectors because their mercenary forces in some camps were running as high as 30 per cent Viet Cong.

Item: After one night attack by a large enemy force, Americans sweeping the perimeter found the body of the camp's barber, still clutching a rifle. He had been leading the assault to show the way through the barbed wire at its weakest point.

Item: A U.S. truck was blown up, killing all aboard, on highway 13, called "Bloody Route 13" because of the frequency of minings. GIs from another truck quickly traced out the electrical wires to the detonator and found a young girl still holding the handle. They shot her.

The Pentagon say that today's soldiers are the most sopisticated in history. But more than being able to operate intricate electronic equipment and the like, the GIs in Vietnam also could see at first hand the corruption, the indifference of Vietnamese soldiers to winning the war, the contrast between the poverty in the countryside and the comparative wealth of the cities and the way Vietnamese merchants, bar girls and even children selling black market American soft drinks gouged them. Added to this were the deaths and maimings of friends. Cynicism mixed with anger rapidly replaced the early idealism among combat troops. Vietnamese were called "gooks" and "slopes" in a way that sometimes translated as subhuman.

No spark sets off a fire unless it falls into combustible material. The sparks that ignite American GIs are snipers, mines and boobytraps. The three are all the more hated because each is hidden and after the damage is done, there usually is no chance for the American infantrymen to even the score because no enemy can be found.

OFTEN intelligence will pinpoint a village as the source of the mine and booby trap makers and snipers. Repeated sweeps through the hamlet turn up little or nothing except more casualties. And hatred builds up for the villagers who know the snipers and know where the hidden traps are but don't tell. Then one day something snaps in one or more men. The frustration and fear drives them across that line of civilized conduct that in combat zones is a hazy mark at best.

There are indications that these things might have been at work on the men who are accused of massacre in My Lai last year.

They certainly were on a group of American Marines I accompanied into a village south of Da Nang in 1965. A half-squad, out of a regimental size force, went on a brief rampage killing a group hiding in a civilian air raid shelter. One Marine called out, "Woosh, I'm a killer today. I got me two." Another said, "Kill them, I don't want anyone moving. We've got only a few more days of legal killing left."

The battalion was due to rotate home in four weeks. In the previous month, 15 per cent of the battalion had been killed or wounded by snipers and boobytraps. None of the Marines had seen a Viet Cong soldier during the time.

After the reports of the incident were published in the U.S. Maj. Gen. Lewis Walt, then U.S. Marine commander in Vietnam, issued a public statement saying the killings "grieve me deeply. And I express my deep sympathy to the loved ones of such innocent victims as I do the loved ones of the Marines who have given their lives."

The U.S. Command's position has been from the beginning that civilians are not to be harmed. But the case for the sanctity of civilian life is weakened by the knowledge that there are South Vietnamese assassination teams — sometimes led by Americans — operating in the countryside killing enemy officials, as opposed to soldiers, often in their beds at home, Viet Cong style. And GIs who have searched out a village after American bombers have done their work cannot help but be a bit cynical about orders not to molest civilians.

A SENIOR officer in the legal field was asked after a series of murder trials earlier this year what he thought had motivated the Americans involved, all found guilty.

He said nearly all the cases he had handled involved villagers in Viet Cong held areas. When the pressure of fear or hate or some combination of these factors hit the men hard enough, they broke down with a sort of combat fatigue that ended with slayings.

"If these men never had come to Vietnam, they probably would have lived out their lives as useful citizens and with a police record no more serious than a speeding ticket or two," the officer said.

In some cases the same men who have had to stand trial for killing civilians have helped support Vietnamese orphanages or become involved in unofficial relief operations for families made refugees by the war.

"In war, everything is realer than real. The capacity for great violence rises to the surface, but so does a capacity for great compassion," an Army doctor said. "Remember, part of the brutalizing men undergo is necessary to their psychological survival. You can't look war in the face with the kind of emotional responses we use in the states. You would go mad."

405,000 Visit N.Y. Museum to See Moon Rock

NEW YORK (AP) — November attendance was the greatest in the history of the American Museum of Natural History, with 405,000 visitors, many of whom were lured in by three-quarters of an ounce of moon rock.

The rock, on loan from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, was one of the samples brought back by Apollo 11's first men on the moon.

Previous high attendance for one month was 359,000 last March for the museum's centennial celebration.

Solon Warns of Peril to Teacher Tenure

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

Educators have less to fear from college budget cuts than from increasing attacks on teacher tenure and academic freedom, Assembly Speaker Robert Monagan told an educators' conference in Anaheim Friday.

"One of these days soon, someone will introduce legislation providing increased teaching salaries irrevocably tied to elimination of tenure," the Republican solon said.

He addressed more than 500 educators at the California Conference on Higher Education in Disneyland Hotel. Theme of the conference was "Revolution and Response."

Monagan and other speakers noted college faculty members are coming under increasing fire from student activists as well as from state taxpayers.

"WHAT IS IT THAT OUR students want?" Monagan said.

"When you strip away emotionalism and the irresponsibility of the militants, you find large numbers of liberal, moderate and conservative students who are unhappy about the quality of their courses, the accessibility — or inaccessibility — of their instructors, the lack of personal attention and the highly structured education to which they are subjected."

"Unless something is done to peacefully resolve issues at this level, I expect an escalation of student-faculty confrontations, particularly with departmental chairmen, over the next few years."

He said he feared the public — "searching for a scapegoat for its unhappiness about higher education" — may side with students "in a way that might run roughshod over faculty rights."

At California State College at Long Beach and other schools, students have had increasing confrontations with department heads and full professors over retention of younger faculty members, he said.

Monagan said there is strong sentiment among "middle Americans" that teacher tenure must go.

"THIS ATTITUDE HAS BEEN building for some time and will reach crescendo if the Supreme Court rules that the University of California Regents cannot dismiss a teacher who is a member of the Communist party."

He referred to Angela Davis, a UCLA philosophy professor who is a member of the Che-Lumumba Club.

Ridder Warns Educators of Public's Anger

The public is demanding "whatever measures necessary" be taken to "prevent disruptive elements from causing campus unrest," Daniel Ridder, chairman of the state college Board of Trustees, told the California Conference on Higher Education in Anaheim Friday.

Ridder, publisher of the Independent, Press-Telegram, said public attitude is "rapidly boiling down to this proposition:

"PUT YOUR EDUCATIONAL HOUSE in order or we will cut your funds.

"I suggest that we had better respond by being sure our house is in order and then taking our message to the people," Ridder said.

Ridder, who emphasized he was not speaking for the state college Board of Trustees — or as a trustee — told more than 50 educators in an afternoon discussion session that he spoke as "a publisher who has a personal and professional interest in higher education."

He said the breakdown of traditional respect for college professors has contributed to some current difficulties in higher education.

"Perhaps (the public) has a right to be confused, for they see an occasional professor chanting in a peace march, carrying picket signs, sitting in buildings with student 'occupation forces,' fighting with policemen, advocating smoking pot, wearing beads and beards — and countless other behavior patterns that seem to them out of character for the traditional 'Mr. Chips.'"

He said he didn't mean to "pass value judgments on the behavior I've just described," but was noting that it's taking time for the public to "adjust their sights on this 'new style' professor."

RIDDER ADDED THAT IF PROFESSORS "leave their so called 'ivory towers' and get involved in 'street politics,' or if they get their institutions involved, I believe they will lose the traditional sanctuary from politics they have enjoyed on the campus."

However, Ridder said, "there is simply no way you can keep the public out of the affairs of higher education. It is too important to the economy, the politics, the progress — even the survival — of our way of life, and the public is just now waking up to the fact."

Ridder said that in Long Beach, and elsewhere, letters to the editor are running heavily against higher education.

He said more efforts are needed to increase public understanding of the colleges — and academicians understanding of the feeling of the public.

"Throwing students out of school and firing faculty members for breaches of rules is the public's first answer to campus unrest," he said.

Let's See Texas Match This

Although rumors that USC already has recruiters loitering in the corridors of the Orange County Medical Center, have not been confirmed, if they haven't, they should. This 14-pound-nine-ounce future linebacker, believed to be the largest youngster ever born in the Southland, is the son of Alex, 36, and Louise, 33, Stepanenke of Costa Mesa. He is being closely watched for conditions caused in part by his extraordinary size, but is coming along hospital authorities said. Still nameless, he is the Stepanenkes' sixth child. Drive for School Aid Issue Backed

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

A statewide campaign to give massive fiscal aid to California's school districts through constitutional amendment gained full support Friday from Long Beach's dual Board of Education.

Meeting in special session with but a single agenda item, trustees comprising both the unified and junior college district Boards unanimously approved a resolution that:

". . . URGES all local citizens to sign petitions when presented in order to insure inclusion of the proposed initiative on the (June 2) ballot."

Residents also were "urged to support the initiative through their vote."

Following the vote, Mrs. Catherine M. Nagel, Long Beach Chapter 2 president, California School Employes Association, told the Board both the local and statewide group support the initiative drive.

A major drive began Friday across the state under California Teachers Association leadership to gain one million petition signatures by Dec. 15.

If this drive is successful voters will decide whether the constitution should be amended to require the state "to provide from sources other than property taxes not less than 50 per cent of costs for public schools."

A 50-50 ratio existed prior to 1955, schoolmen point out, but the state's share has been diminishing steadily over the past 16 years.

CTA said statewide support of individual districts this year averages about 35 per cent. Long Beach's portion was 25 per cent, officials added.

Part of this "tax reform program," as proponents label it, is a requirement that 90 per cent of county welfare costs be assumed by the state.

The County Supervisors Association also is supporting the initiative.

Church Unit Hits City Resolution on War Protesters

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

The recent City Council resolution criticizing anti-Vietnam War demonstrations discourages the right of assembly and free speech, the Long Beach Council of Churches charged Friday.

"One of the basic concepts which flows from the Judeo-Christian tradition, and which is central to Democratic thought, is respect for the individual, his conscience, his personality and his soul," read a statement sent to the council.

"Therefore, it is presumptuous and demeaning to our ideal for members of the Long Beach City Council, or any other governmental body, to subvert that concept to political design," the church council declared.

THE STATEMENT, ADOPTED BY the board of directors of the Council of Churches, was signed by its president, Mrs. Raymond F. Sites.

"From time to time, in pursuing his ideals the man of conscience may seem to give comfort to an alleged enemy," the statement said. "But in a Democratic society, the right to express one's view, even if it is a minority view, is held inviolable."

The demonstrations objected to by councilmen, the church council said, "have grown out of frustrations of people who are conscientiously concerned with the problems of war, hunger and poverty in our nation and throughout the world, of genocide, and of the social injustices found in all areas of life."

It declared the council action "discourages the right of assembly, which is the extension of the unalterable right of free speech granted the people of this country by its Constitution."

"The church has the responsibility to take a stand consistent with moral considerations, regardless of the popularity of that stand," the statement said.

THE COUNCIL RESOLUTION, passed without "no" votes, recognized "the right to engage in peaceful and orderly expression of opinion."

It went on to say "antiwar demonstrators . . . do not represent the sentiments of this nation as a whole, but they do further another and alien ideology," referred to "undermining our national effort," and disavowed "those disruptions of our efforts to end the conflict in Vietnam."

Mrs. Sites said the church council will be represented Tuesday at the City Council meeting to present its point of view and seek to have the resolution rescinded.

Teachers' Say Curbed by Judge

A landmark ruling Friday by an Orange County judge may drastically reduce the right of teachers to have a voice in major administrative decisions.

Judge Robert Corfman of the Santa Ana Superior Court ruled that Garden Grove teachers have no right to demand conferences with the district's trustees over plans to change its high schools to three grades.

In denying an injuction sought by the teachers' association of the Garden Grove Unified School District, Judge Corfman may have written a new interpretation of state legislation.

HIS RULING was the first in the state dealing with demands of teachers for a voice in such a changeover.

The teachers sued under provision of the Winton Act, which provides machinery for teachers to have a say in school district affairs.

The Trustees of the Garden Grove district plan to change the educational structure by taking ninth graders out of the high schools and placing them in the junior highs.

Judge Corfman held the Winton Act "doesn't cover the basic fundamental educational and administrative organization of the school system."

Attorneys for the California Teachers Association said they considered the court ruling "a test case" of the Winton Act and might appeal Judge Corfman's ruling.

Tape Deck Taken

Dennis Hanson, 3326 Hackett Ave., reported to police Friday the theft of a tape deck and a radio valued at $230 from his car while it was parked near his home.

City Council Gets Word---in Crayon

Youngsters took up their pens—or, in one case, crayons—Friday to write to the City Council.

"We want to thank you for putting the trees up on Santa Fe Street," wrote Denise McCraw, chairman of the "Beauty Bug Brigade" at Daniel Webster Elementary School.

"We think this will make West Long Beach look beautiful," she said. "We will try to help keep it looking this way."

The letter had a cut-out "beauty bug" pasted near the bottom.

GETTING INTO THE CHRISTMAS spirit, Richard Miller, 5319 E. Fourth St., wrote his letter in red and green crayon, alternating the colors each sentence.

"Dear City," wrote Richard.

"You should make the open fields by the Marine Stadium into a football field.

"On Colorado, grass is growing there.

"With goal posts."

He also urged the city to "please write back."

CASE STILL SMOLDERING

Fireworks at Issue

The fireworks issue continued to smolder this week, although the ordinance committee's recommendation that the present ban on the sale of fireworks be repealed still has not been submitted to the City Council.

The board of directors of Long Beach Chamber of Commerce joined those organizations and individuals opposed to any change in the existing ordinance.

Dr. Robert Calhoun, chairman of the citizen-police relations committee, said the chamber board voted unanimously to "take a stand against removal of the ban on the sale of fireworks in the City of Long Beach."

Also supporting the present ordinance were the Long Beach Fire Buffs, an organization of people interested and supporting the Long Beach Fire Department.

The Fire Buffs said they believe the fireworks ban "has materially kept to a minimum the cost to the taxpayers of combatting major fires that would have resulted if the sale (of fireworks) were permitted."

The council received one new application for a permit to sell fireworks if the ban is lifted. It was submitted by AMVETS Post 48.

One prior application, filed by Edena Assembly No. 109, Order of Rainbow Girls, was withdrawn.

The advisory board said the prior application had been submitted "without approval or knowledge" of the board.

Auditions Set for 'Aladdin'

The Lakewood Dance and Drama Association will hold auditions 1 p.m. Sunday and again Dec. 14 at Mayfair Park, Clark Avenue and South Street, Lakewood, for its forthcoming production of "Aladdin and His Magic Lamp."

Producer Norman Kreitzer said he is looking for a cast of 100 children and adults including dancers, tumblers and magicians for the modern ballet, set for presentation in early May.

APOLLO OFFICIAL STANLEY FREDEN RECEIVES COMMENDATION
Dr. Robert Gilruth Congratulates Long Beach Physicist For Contribution

Poly Grad Studying Moon Radiation Risk

A space scientist from Long Beach is playing a major role in the Apollo space program which has rocketed four American astronauts to the moon.

Dr. Stanley Freden, chief of space physics for the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, is an expert on the solar radiation astronauts are exposed to during flight and while on the lunar surface.

He graduated from Poly High School in 1944, joined the Navy and later received his doctorate in physics at UCLA.

Following several years of research at the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory, Freden joined the Apollo project.

One of Freden's major concerns during the Apollo 11 moon mission was the possibility Astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin would be exposed to radiation from an erupting solar flare during their moonwalk.

Such a flare-up would not endanger astronauts as long as they were in the Apollo 11 command ship, Freden explained, but their lunar module would offer little protection.

Freden said solar activity during the astronauts' mission was watched closely and they would have been ordered back to their command ship if an emergency had occurred.

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Many will be planting new roses where lots of color is desired for long periods.

Of the many fine roses there's an unusual floribunda rose Europeana. It is one of the 1968 AARS award winners. This medium-height, robust, spreading-floribunda rose produces masses of large fully-double cardinal-red blooms with wavy-edged petals, off and on from spring through the fall season. This rose can be kept to more normal size. Cut the individual branches which have masses of large showy flowers longer stems, whether you cut the blooms for flower arrangement or after the blossoms fade.

IT'S NOT the mulch on top of the ground that is most important, though it helps considerably.

It is the organic material mixed with the soil that is of most importance.

A well-prepared soil actually means the roses thrive much better. Be sure to add a heaping cupful of bone meal and heaping handful of soil sulphur to equal parts of soil and organic material, all thoroughly mixed together. Plant holes, 18 to 24-inches wide and the same depth should be prepared in advance of planting, right now. Holes should be filled with water. When the water disappears into the soil, the prepared soil should be filled in, then slowly watered well. Soak well several times before planting time for roses.

IF CAMELLIAS have brown spots near the leaf edges or if they have burned brown edges, this is due to the wrong kind of soil dampness. This doesn't mean the plants get deep, thorough waterings. Usually it is because the plants are watered often but not deeply enough. Alkali build-up occurs in the upper soil surface area whether the alkali is due to the water or not. Alkali locks up the soil and the roots cannot get iron that may be present in the soil.

One of the mineral forms of iron should be applied to the soil. Iron is necessary for the formation of chlorophyll which is the green coloring matter in the foliage. The iron mineral diluted in water works faster.

Usually three applications at about six week intervals corrects the alkali condition. The irons work slower in cold weather than they do in warm weather. Citrus, gardenia, rhododendron, azalea, as well as maple liquidambar, are some of the main sufferers of the alkali condition.

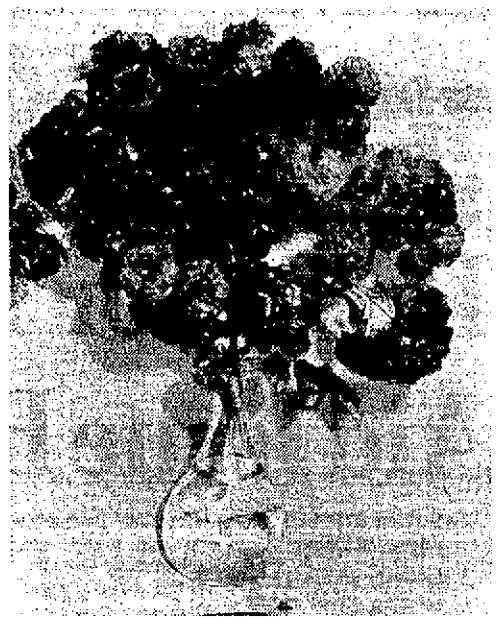

There are several soil conditioners and soil rinses that help correct such a condition.

SOME CAMELLIAS are stunted because they are buried too deep in the ground, or they receive continual mulching of some fine form of organic material. The natural top-root ball of such plants should be level with the surrounding ground level.

Plants that are too deep in the ground should be raised to the proper level, or soil must be dug away to the proper level. Stones should be placed at the embankment of the soil to prevent it from washing back in around the trunk. Before new mulch is applied annually around camellias, any from previous mulch application should be scraped off.

If the soil is too loose around the plant root ball this can also stunt plant growth. Water gushes too fast through the soil area and roots don't get sufficient water.

The way to determine if soil is too loose is to observe the soil when water fills the basin. If water immediately disappears, the soil should be firmed. If you can wiggle the plant trunk and top of soil heaves, that soil needs firming.

Mistletoe Is Still Better as Symbol

DETROIT — Reports that warn against the dangers of eating poinsettias and mistletoe cannot be substantiated by U.S. government statistics, according to John L. Bodette, executive vice president of the Florists' Transworld Delivery Association.

"While we recommend that all holiday floral gifts and decorations should be enjoyed for their beauty and fragrance, and not their taste," Bodette said, "we fear warnings at this time of the year are often overstated.

"A FAVORITE statement is that one poinsettia leaf can kill a child. Since 1959, more than 100 cases of poinsettia ingestion have been reported to the U.S. government's Poison Control Center. None were fatal and only a handful even reported the minor discomfort of nausea and vomiting.

"In fact, there never has been a single, scientifically proven case where eating poinsettias caused death. One reported death, years ago which has never been authenticated by medical authority."

Bodette noted that reports of mistletoe ingestion, particularly by children, did include slightly more instances of nausea and vomiting.

"We hope," he said, "that holiday flowers and plants will be admired only with the eye and nose and that parents will take the same care in regard to their children as they do with other things around the house. Eating some flowers and plants can make youngsters sick, just as they can become ill from eating other common household items, so normal safeguards should apply."

Address all questions to Garden Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif., 90801. No stamps or self-addressed envelopes, please. Answers are given only in this column.

Q. — About three years ago my wife planted an avocado seed in our back yard. Now the tree is 15 feet tall with a five inch trunk. We'd like to make it bear fruit. The last two years the tree produced many blossoms but they all fall off and no fruit. Please advise us how to make this tree bear fruit. W.L.

A. — I would be remiss if I first didn't explain that seedling avocados are undependable fruit producers. The fruit is usually small — when they produce at all. The seeds may be large with only a thin layer of "meat" over the seeds. A seedling avocado can produce good fruit but it is uncommon. You can depend upon good quality fruit from a good budded avocado. If you wish to encourage that tree to produce fruit, even if you're not sure whether it will justify extra expense, then assuming of course the tree isn't growing in a lawn, proceed as follows:

After a good rain on a watering (if soil is dry) scatter seven pounds of steamed bonemeal around the tree and two feet beyond the drip line of the tree. Don't cultivate, but chop into the soil lightly to make it stay put. Cover evenly with one-quarter to one-half inch layer of manure, then slowly soak well without puddling. A day or two later water again. There after water as needed. Mid-March feed it a balanced fertilizer containing less nitrogen and more of phosphoric acid. Apply five pounds around the tree as you did the bone meal, and soak well. Repeat watering several days later.

Q. Our peach tree had loads of peaches but some when ripe, have a brown spot in center. I read your advice about the apricot tree, with similar problem. Would one use same treatment on a peach tree? Also, could you advise me about my African violets? I water them just once a week, using "plant tabs" dissolved in water. They have plenty of leaves, but no blooms.

My kitchen faces the west, so they get no morning sun, and I give them very little of the hot afternoon sun.

A. Yes, give peach tree the same treatment as for apricots. Your watering the african violets "just once a week" may not be the right watering. They should be watered as the soil dries. African violets needs lots of light but not direct sunlight unless they get the east sunlight first hour or two of the early morning. A fine gauze-like curtain can be used to diffuse the west exposure direct sunlight from the plants, yet helps them get the light they need.

Q. — Our five year old avocado produced about a dozen avocados two years ago. Last year the tree had a lot of avocados. This year lots of blooms but only one avocado. Why? H. B. F.

A. — Sudden weather change plus the tree getting too much water could cause blossoms drop. Too much nitrogen, yet not enough to burn the leaves can cause such condition. Apply superphosphate about three weeks to a month before the buds begin to develop, two cups for each inch of the tree trunk diameter, scattered from the trunk to two feet beyond the drip line. Later follow up with citrus-avocado fertilizer.

BASED IN BELLFLOWER

Young Scribe Takes 'Helm' at Sea

By ANNE HOWE
Staff Writer

All Steve Alvis really wanted was a printing press he could borrow.

So, there was no hint of the possible consequences when he wandered into the editorial offices of "Talon Marks," the Cerritos College campus newspaper.

But, as so often happens, the chance visit sparked a new challenge for the 20-year-old Bellflower student, and set him on the road to a career in journalism.

"I'd written several hundred little sayings, and my friends urged me to have them published," Alvis said by way of explanation.

"Well, naturally I thought any newspaper office would have a printing press," he added.

EDITOR STEVE ALVIS CHECKS LATE ISSUE WITH STACY WEBB

ALVIS DIDN'T find a printing press — few editorial offices have them — but he did find an editor interested in the pithy little paragraphs he calls "Alvisisms."

In fact, the editor wanted to run a column by Alvis on a trial basis — it was an immediate success — and journalism had a new recruit.

Alvis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Alvis, 9161 Faywood Ave., spent three semesters writing news, features and his column for "Talon Marks" before enrolling at Chapman College in 1968.

Now a junior, the student who went looking for a printing press, has just been named editor for "The Helm," student newspaper published aboard the Chapman World Campus Afloat.

The shipboard campus of the Orange County college is currently making its fall semester voyage to 17 ports in Europe, the Mideast and South America.

"BEING EDITOR of this paper is a real challenge to anyone who wants to be a professional journalist," Alvis said.

The paper, which ranges in size from four to eight pages, is produced by a small student staff that writes and mimeographs "The Helm" on a parttime basis — without "course" credit.

"Our biggest problem, at the beginning of the cruise was unique — seasickness. At least that's one thing I won't have to worry about in a stateside career" he said.

In addition to his newspaper interests, Alvis lends his deep voice to the Grand Land Singers, a patriotic singing group, and performs in Long Beach Community Playhouse productions.

After all at 20, who knows what his next chance encounter might hold in store.

a branch of the American Communist Party.

On budget cuts, Monagan disputed the charge that "the state is starving higher education."

He said since 1964 the state college budget has jumped from $115 million to $288 million.

"These figures do not, of course, take into account the inflationary pressures and the higher operational costs which negate many of the benefits of this increasing financial commitment," he said.

"BUT THEY DO INDICATE a steadily escalating level of support for higher education, covering both a Democratic and Republican administration."

He noted that 40 per cent of the annual state budget is earmarked for education and said great pressure is being exerted to spend more money in areas like health, welfare and environmental quality.

"I find it a little hard to square the complaint that we are taking out our alleged unhappiness with campus affairs by slashing the budget and cutting off funds," he said.

"If there were to be legislative attempts to more directly control academic affairs, they would come through changes in the tenure system and a less liberal interpretation of academic freedom — but not through cutting off dollars."

LBCC Displays Talents of Merit

Let it be read into the record: I thoroughly enjoyed Long Beach City College's new creative division's first major opus, "The Pajama Game."

Nice voices are heard, fine talents displayed. And stagings clearly are superior. This obviously is a labor of love by the joint theater arts-music-dance departments.

My only significant criticisms involve one aspect of the music and — my age is showing again—the dancing.

There is almost an embarrassment of riches with a very fine pit orchestra that tonally resembles one of the "big" dance bands of the 1940s and early '50s — which is altogether fitting and proper.

That it can be almost overpowering on occasion creates difficulties for vocalists forced to compete from the stage. A minor muting is in order.

The dance steps — and tempi — do not duplicate the jazzy treatment of the war and postwars years, as originally written. As a purist I must be regretful.

IN THIS mounting, "Pajama Game" continues to confound those critics who scoffed — a long time past — at a successful musical comedy being built around a labor-management conflict in a small Iowa pajama factory.

It wears well, this strongly-constructed show. And this cast, with solid, upbeat leadership, brings together what on balance must be labeled a superior job of work.

Three stars, general auence.

Barenboim, Philharmonic Offer Satisfying Program

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

As a conductor, Daniel Barenboim has made inconclusive impressions here in the past seventeen months. The Argentina-born, Israeli pianist led the Los Angeles Philharmonic in Hollywood Bowl during the summer of 1968, returned last April with the English Chamber Orchestra for two Pavilion appearances.

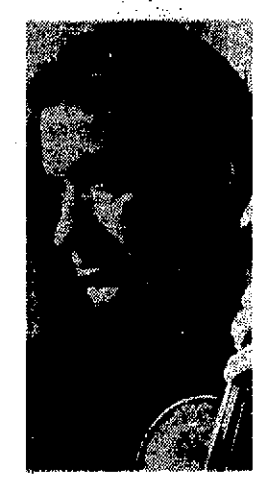

On each of these occasions, Barenboim conducted adequately, never intruded on the musical integrity of his instrumentalists, and exuded considerable confidence, if no deep achievement.

THIS WEEK, the 27-year-old musician returned to The Music Center for a three week residence on the podium of his good friend and now-colleague, Zubin Mehta. Barenboim conducts this week's trio of concerts in the Pavilion, takes the Philharmonic on a Southland tour — including a Long Beach concert December 12 — next week, then concludes the orchestra's leaderless year with more Pavilion events December 18, 19, and 21.

If the next ten of Barenboim's Philharmonic concerts go as well as his first, Thursday night, his residence should be profitable for all concerned.

With Ruggerio Ricci as soloist, Barenboim led the relatively unfamiliar 95th Symphony of Haydn, the first North American performance of Alexander Goehr's Violin Concerto, and Brahms' Fourth Symphony.

THIS WAS satisfying programming in every way. Haydn's moody, pre-Romantic 95th provided clear, but not jarring, contrast with the post-serial, and also moody, postures of the Goehr piece. Brahms' Fourth provided not-unexpected contrast with both.

RUGGIERO RICCI
Complete Command

Throughout, the Philharmonic seemed interested in meeting the young conductor's demands, even when those included a louder dynamic scheme than the Fourth, for instance, can comfortably bear.

Directness and drive characterized both the Haydn and the Brahms, which benefitted from Barenboim's mostly clear beat and a (current) lack of distracting podium mannerisms. Oh, he may lift a leg, usually left, in a critical upbeat occasionally, but he never dances, and he never indulges in anti-musical visual effects.

RICCI, a regular soloist with this orchestra for actually decades, presented himself with a special challenge in the Goehr work, a tricky and nearly inaccessible piece which demands great concentration from the listener and no little virtuosity from the solo violinist. It is a fitful work, craggy rather than lyric, engrossing in its own way, but not easy to follow. Yet, in its 22 minutes, it seems measurably more cohesive than Goehr's 17-minute "Pastorales," which Lawrence Foster and the Philharmonic introduced in this hall 34 months ago. A second hearing, I think, is in order. Ricci's performance gave the impression of complete command; the accompaniment offered by Barenboim and the orchestra seemed well prepared.

U.S. Land of Readers'

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Irving Wallace, whose novels are sold to movies before they are written, is more indebted to television than films for his soaring popularity as a writer.

It is Wallace's theory that television is gradually transforming Americans into a nation of readers.

"I know it to be a fact that television is driving the public to reading books," said the country's most prolific writer—13 books since 1955.

"Like novels, television is fiction, too. But it is drivel."

Wallace and other authors find the medium useful for publicizing and exploiting their new tomes. But they neither write for nor watch the tube unless it is a sportscast or documentary.

In the course of his travels to encourage sales of his lates novel, "The Seven Minutes," Wallace attempted—apparently without success—to convert television bigwigs to strive for higher goals.

"One important television producer was shocked when I told him that 10 years from now they'll be broadcasting, but nobody will be looking," the author said.

A former screenwriter himself, Wallace keeps in touch with public taste. Proof enough is that his new book has sold some 150,000 hard cover copies in its first eight weeks in the stalls.

Wallace, however, is anything but hostile toward television.

"I love it," he said, grinning. "TV is good for writers. It offers only torpor. Television is the marijuana of the elder generation. It gives them the same glazed look as kids smoking pot."

Wallace admitted his attitude is somewhat facetious, but not much.

Marvin Cloyd will be master of ceremonies, and will introduce such Civic Light Opera favorites as Bill Beadle, Bell Ellig, Bill Jennings, Dick Johnson, Larry Laraway, Margaret Pucek, Betty Rhude, and Pat Zieg.

The program will also feature the Salvation Army's Hollywood Tabernacle Band, directed by Ron Smart. The entire show is directed by Betty Kimber Toppen and Janet Ritschel is musical director.

The program will be held at Jordan High School Auditorium, 6500 Atlantic Ave., at 2:30 p.m.

Downey Yule Parade Slates 150 Top Units

Fourteen bands and a dozen drum and bugle corps will set the tempo for 150 major units in Downey's 19th Annual Christmas Parade, starting Sunday at 1:30 p.m. on Downey Avenue at Florence Avenue.

THE LINE of march will continue southward on Downey Avenue to Second Street then east to Downey High School Campus where it will disband. Parade announcing stands will be located on Downey Avenue at Third, Fifth and Seventh Streets. Judging will be at the Third Street reviewing stand where television cameras will be taping the event for a rerun on Channel 5 at 9:30 a.m. Dec. 14.

Seven-year-old Marc Copage, the "Corey Baker" in the "Julia" television series will be grand marshal with Marian Reagan, daughter of Gov. Ronald Reagan serving as a division marshal.

The champion Yankee Doodle Dandie color guard and drum and Bugle Corps will head the line of march in the four divisions that will be climaxed with a float bearing Santa and Mrs. Claus and the cartoon characters Charlie Brown, Linus, Lucy, Pig Pen, Peanuts and Snoopy.

They will be in a reindeer-pulled sleigh led by the red nosed Rudolph. A total of two dozen colorful floats, 20 novelty units, 30 equestrians plus the musical units will make up the review selected from 500 applicants.

STARTING AT 1 p.m. the Downey Adult Mixed Choir will present a program of Christmas selections near the Third Street reviewing stand. The Downey City Youth Band will be seated near-by to play Christmas music during any possible parade lulls.

The parade is a joint effort of the Downey Lions Club, Jaycees and the city. Downey Avenue will be closed to traffic Sunday beginning at 9:30 a.m. and until the parade is over.

He said tickets for the $25 event may be obtained by calling 435-6911.

Tags for 2,000 Meters

To remind Christmas shoppers that December is a dangerous month for pedestrians and drivers, the Long Beach Sertoma Club will decorate 2,000 parking meters Sunday with bell-shaped "safety tags."

The tags will be distributed in downtown and Belmont Shore shopping areas, according to Sam Muskin, club president.

Bearing the messages "Courteous drivers save lives," and "Look and live — walk wisely," the tags also warn citizens to guard all valuables, keep packages hidden from plain view in automobiles, and keep cars locked while shopping.

The Safety Bells will be attached to meters with a single rubber band, Muskin said, "to make it easy for shoppers to take the reminders with them."

McCracken Funeral Set Monday

Services will be Monday in First Methodist Church of Bellflower for Oscar V. (Mac) McCracken, druggist, civic leader and former mayor of Bellflower, who died Thursday at age 84.

REFUSED TO BOW OUT FOR BLACK CANDIDATE

Meet 1st Woman Church Head, 'Knows Who Controls the $$'

By EDWARD B. FISKE
New York Times Service

The Episcopal Church is one of the few Protestant denominations in the country that still refuses to ordain women, but to Mrs. Cynthia Clark Wedel this policy is more objectionable in theory than restrictive in practice. Thursday in Detroit she became the first woman to occupy the highest symbolic post in American Protestantism: president of the National Council of Churches.

A 61-year-old member of the Episcopal Church of the Resurrection in Alexandria, Va., Mrs. Wedel is a longtime champion of the rights of laymen in general and women in particular.

She was, among other things, the first of her sex to become an associate general secretary of the National Council — where she had charge of ecumenical relations and learned to hold her own in dealings with the all male hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church.

LAST YEAR she was a leader of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade, a coalition of women's groups that held a march on Washington to protest the war in Vietnam. During the demonstration her commitment to women's rights was strengthened by a meeting with House Speaker John McCormack. "He talked to us like little children," she complained. "It was infuriating."

Mrs. Wedel is of average height and has alert blue eyes and graying brown hair. At present she holds two "full-time" jobs. She is associate director of the Center for Voluntarism of the Institute for Applied Behavioral Science in Washington, the pioneering body in sensitivity training formerly known as the National Training Laboratory. She also heads the Church Executive Development Board, a management training program that in the last five years has given courses to 600 top-level church executives.

MRS. WEDEL
No McCormick Fan

THE NEW president was born in Dearborn, Mich., and brought up in Evanston, Ill., where her father was a civil engineer. After graduating from Northwestern University with bachelor's and master's degrees in 1930 she took a job as director of Christian education for St. Luke's church in Evanston. She later got her doctorate in psychology from George Washington University.

In 1935 she moved to New York to take charge of youth work for the Episcopal Church. The next office was occupied by Rev. Theodore O. Wedel, a widower who was 19 years her senior and in charge of college work. "At first I was awed by him," she said. Then he began asking her to dinner after work. On May 4, 1939, they became the first couple to be married in the headquarters chapel.

Shortly afterwards, Wedel was called to Washington, where he began a well-known career as dean of the College of Preachers at the Washington Cathedral, the country's first major program of continuing education for clergymen.

Mrs. Wedel became a housewife, but only in the loosest sense of the word. "I was the busiest volunteer in Washington," she declared. She worked for the Red Cross, the Girl Scouts and the Public Welfare Advisory Committee of the District of Columbia. Later President Kennedy appointed her to the Commission on the Status of Women.

MRS. WEDEL occupied a series of important church posts, including vice president of the Council, and in 1960 when her husband retired and became a visiting professor at Union Theological Seminary in New York she went to work for the Council on a full-time basis. Last year they moved to Alexandria, where they reside in Goodwin House, an Episcopalian retirement community.

The new Council president is known as a gracious hostess with a knack for producing simple but tasty cuisine. "She can be in a meeting until 5 o'clock and still handle 20 people for dinner," said one of her sisters. She generally wears suits with little or no jewelry and brings home more flowers than her husband says they can afford.

The Wedels have traveled widely as a couple, including a visit to New Delhi in 1962 for the General Assembly of the World Council of Churches. When possible they seek out warm salt water swimming and take a boat rather than airplane.

AS PRESIDENT of the Council for the next three years, Mrs. Wedel will head an organization that is sharply divided over race and other issues. Blacks criticized her nomination as a means to avoid electing a black and called for her to resign. She refused because, among other reasons, she thought she could "do a better job" than the black candidate.

Colleagues said that one reason for optimism is her low-keyed style of leadership, which is built around a knack for finding points of consensus. Another is her quiet realism. "She knows who controls the money in the council," said one associate. "She also knows who's willing to spend it and when."

Mrs. Wedel Sees 'Big Changes'

DETROIT (AP) — "Our old ways of doing things are not adequate," says the first woman president of the National Council of Churches. "There must be big changes and they must be made faster than we think possible."

One of the first changes recommended by Cynthia Wedel is the granting of a great deal more power to blacks in the organization.

She predicted they would get more power in high council posts and pledged that she would be open to guidance from them and from the young and poor.

Mrs. Wedel succeeds Dr. Arthur Flemming, a Methodist, as head of the council which includes 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with 42 million members.

In a step toward change aimed at broadening council membership, the assembly authorized council leaders to explore with nonmember denominations their possbile participation in a more flexible organization. In it, members could choose what programs they wanted to share or avoid.

Mrs. Wedel won election over a Negro clergyman, Rev. Dr. Albert Cleague, pastor of Detroit's Church of the Black Madonna, by a vote of 382 to 93.

In reaction Dr. Cleague called the council "a white racist institution" that lacks sensitivity to the "fires of anguish in people" and the plight of blacks, Indians and the poor.

Another black candidate, Rev. Leon Watts, of New York, was defeated in a bid to become the council's general secretary, its top administrative post. He lost to the incumbent, Dr. R. H. Edwin Espy, a white Baptist, by a vote of 100 to 382. It was the first time there had been contests over the top posts in the council's 20-year history.

A black churchman, Bishop Frederick D. Jordan of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, Hollywood, Calif., was elected first vice president without opposition.

BRIEFLY . . .

Sunday School Champ? Vatican Mini-Business

By LES RODNEY

"Briefly" asked two weeks ago whether any area church could top Calvary Baptist of Bellflower average Sunday School attendance of 1,250 for this quarter. Yes, says First Baptist Church of Lakewood, reporting an average of 1,361 for the same period. Incidentally, First Baptist of Lakewood, at 5336 Arbor Drive, is actually in Long Beach, or does it matter?

TYPOGRAPHICAL errors are facts of life in any daily newspaper. Two of the more intriguing on church pages are "Scared Concert" and "Untied Methodist (or Presbyterian) Church."

REMINDER TO church publicists. While we are not usually able to run routine inner-church announcemnts (time of service, music, etc.) we would like to hear about any special Christmas music programs on the 21st, and your Christmas eve and day services.

YOU MAY recall an item a few weeks ago about bringing blankets to church to rebuild the stockpile for Church World Service. An item in the Covenant Presbyterian weekly reports that 36 blankets were brought to that one church. Which sounds terrific.

SORRY TO HEAR that Dr. Lynn Corson of California Heights Methodist will be retiring after Christmas. The 61-year-old pastor, who came here from Seattle not that long ago, suffered serious heart trouble during the past six months, and his doctors tell him that a long period of rest and relaxation is needed to insure his full recovery.

Bishop Gerald Kennedy will call to the Heights church Rev. George Mann, superintendent of the Tucson, Ariz. district since 1967, and before that pastor at West Anaheim Church for five years, during which time the church doubled in membership. More on him in a future edition.

A NATIONWIDE survey by the Southern Baptist Convention to find out why some Protestants shift from one denomination to another discovered that the most common reason had nothing to do with theological doctrine or liturgical practice.

Husbands and wives who originally belonged to different denominations find it more convenient to attend the same church.

A FEW enterprising Roman women are doing a brisk business as a result of the Vatican refusing admission to female tourists in miniskirts. They provide — at a modest rental — strips of cloth to be pinned to the bottom of the skirts.

'TEACH BIBLE IN SCHOOLS'

The new president of the National Council of Churches, Cynthia Wedel, says she is interested in encouraging objective teaching about the Bible in public schools, as suggested by the Supreme Court.

In a earlier generation," she says, "the Bible and church history were part of our national life. The modern generation is almost totally illiterate religiously."

Church Meet Dramatizes War Alienation

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Editor

The degree to which the Vietnam War has alienated Americans from their government was demonstrated in Detroit at the General Assembly of the National Council of Churches.

This was no gathering of campus radicals or black militants. It was an assembly composed predominantly of middle-age, middle-class, God-fearing folk from grass roots America.

Under normal circumstances, you would expect to hear, at such a meeting, a good deal of oratory extolling the virtues and freedoms of this "Nation Under God."

But this reporter actually heard — in five days of marathon oratory — only two speakers suggest that there might be some things about America to which its people could point with pride. And one of them was severely heckled. By contrast, there were scores of speeches voicing shame, disgust or outrage at what America is doing in Vietnam.

One resolution denouncing the "inhuman atrocities" attributed to some U.S. servicemen in Vietnam called for an international investigation of the alleged incidents. The resolution implied — and floor discussion made it explicit — the United States could not be trusted to make an honest inquiry into what took place at Song My.

On the closing night, the delegates stood for a minute of silence in memory of American servicemen who had died in Vietnam. That was the only mention throughout the week of young Americans who have served honorably in Vietnam — at the risk and sometimes at the cost of their lives — because their country sent them there.

The heroes of the assembly were the youths who have refused to serve in the Armed Forces. One resolution, adopted by virtually unanimous voice vote, called on U.S. churches to raise "substantial" funds for the financial support of American military deserters and draft-evaders who have taken refuge in Canada.

On another occasion, a majority voted to accept custody of a young war objector's draft card — despite a warning from the assembly's legal counsel the proposed action would be a criminal violation of the selective service act. The motion failed of adoption only because the vote fell just short of the required two-thirds majority.

Later, more than 200 persons signed their names to a document proclaiming their willingness to accept custody of the youth's draft card — and defying the government to prosecute them for this "act of civil disobedience."

With only a scattering of no's, the assembly praised church members "whose consciences lead them to participate" in antiwar demonstrations, and singled out for special praise the Oct. 15 Vietnam Moratorium and the Nov. 13-15 March on Washington.

Altogether, the churchmen passed four resolutions on Vietnam. The longest and most substantive called for withdrawal of all U.S. forces "not later than the end of 1970," and urged President Nixon to seek a cease-fire "with or without the consent of Saigon."

"The United States can neither stay in Vietnam, nor withdraw from Vietnam, without incurring serious risks," this resolution concluded. "Any plan for the extrication of the United States from Vietnam, whether rapid or slow, runs the risk that there will be loss of confidence in the United States on the part of some other countries.

"On the other hand, any prolonged U.S. presence in Vietnam, we believe, carries a far higher risk of loss of confidence abroad and dissension at home."

Judging from the assembly's own record, "dissension at home" is something more than a "risk." It is a present fact of enormous gravity.

Churches May Stop Biafra Food Airlift

GENEVA (UPI) — Biafra's last link to the outside world, the "joint church aid" airlift, may have to be stopped because of political reasons, the world council of churches said Friday.

The council said the divisional committee on inter-church aid, refugee and world service, the WCC's largest administrative unit, recommended at a meeting here that the future of the airlift be considered at its next meeting.

"The division raises the question whether the churches and their agencies, especially through joint church aid, should prolong the massive airlift in the present form," the committee said in the recommendations.

The committee expressed "deep distress at the ambiguous position in which the tremendous effort has put Christian people, churches and agencies because of its political side effects.

"These side effects include exposing the churches to the charge of prolonging the war and adding to the suffering of the people," the recommendation said.

"Let our first thought be of Jesus
At the dawn of every day.

On an unknown, untried way.
Clear He sees what lies before us
Well He knows each coming hour.
Let our first thought be of Jesus
Of His love, His will, His Power."

CONFIDENT LIVING

Forget 'Logic,' Take Leap

By NORMAN V. PEALE

Too many people today find themselves victims of what we might call the "logic syndrome." Every day in the mailbox, in magazines, on radio, over television, we get logical advice of how to run our lives: When to borrow money, what to eat for breakfast, what to take for a headache.

Even though this advice has its roots in advertising or public relations, we hear and see so much of it we begin to believe it. And we pattern our lives accordingly.

Well, maybe it's high time we stopped rationalizing our lives away and began feeling what it is like to really live. If we allow ourselves to be spoon-fed by every so-called "expert" that comes along, we turn our backs on our own good instincts and reactions.

PERHAPS IT'S time to take what the great philosopher, Henri Bergson, called "a mortal leap" beyond calculated reason and logic. Free yourself from the mediocrity of the advice of others and start using your own intuition. After all, that special intuition springs from the inner thoughts and desires of your own mind. And it is those thoughts and desires that, when realized, bring the greatest satisfaction in life.

Let me tell you about a young couple and their particular "mortal leap." All their married lives they had wanted a house on Cape Cod. And finally they found what they had been looking for. There was just one problem. No one agreed with them. The carpenter thought the roof was weak. The painter said the plaster needed repairing. The bank, the insurance agent and most of their friends thought they were crazy. But happily they listened to themselves. Somewhere there was an inner instinct that told them that this was a very special house. It had been standing for over 200 years and they felt it was going to stand for at least 200 more.

Oh, they had to take down some of the plaster. But underneath they found beautiful old hand-hewn chestnut beams which they left uncovered. The roof was indeed weak. But in two days they had it reshingled. The more they worked the more fascinating old things they found. That "torn board in the front hall which could never be repaired or replaced" was actually a secret entryway to a hidden room where the original owners used to hide during Indian raids. If they had listened to the logic of others, they never would have considered buying that old wreck of a house. But they decided to take the "mortal leap" and see what happened! Today they have one of the most charming old houses I have ever visited.

Another friend of mine came to America from an Iron Curtain country with little more than the clothes on her back. When she told me she was going to start her own business I asked her one simple question: "How?" She smiled and replied that, when she first studied English, one quote in particular impressed her. It was by Lord Chesterfield: "Think great thoughts," he said. "You will never go any higher than you think."

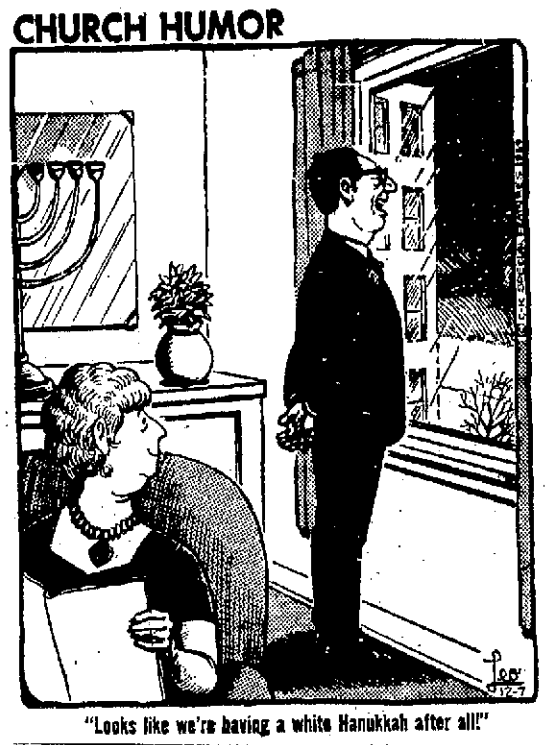

This woman thought her "great thoughts." She sat down and planned exactly what she would do, how she could make her company grow, how she could get people to invest in her business. Today she runs one of the country's leading skin-care schools and is president of a corporation that is giving competition to the long-established giants in the business.

CERTAINLY SHE had charm, intelligence and energy. But the key to her success was her "great thought," her dream. She convinced herself that it would work. And so she convinced others.

No logician or statistician or "expert" would have told these people to go ahead with their plans. There were many reasons against their actions. But they listened to their own instincts. They used their own reasoning powers. And consequently, they are living dynamic, meaningful lives.

Isn't there something you've always wanted to do? Well, start thinking about it. Never mind what everyone else says. If it's what you want, don't be afraid to take that "mortal leap." It may be the wisest and happiest thing you ever did.

BOOKS

Bonhoeffer Examined

THE PROMISE OF BONHOEFFER. By Benjamin A. Reist. Lippincott, $3.50.

In another of "The Promise of Theology" series, edited by Martin E. Marty, author Reist tells of the life and thoughts of Dietrich Bonhoeffer, whose opposition to Nazism and his part in a plot to overthrow Hitler led to his execution by the Gestapo in April 1945.

In Reist's view, Bonhoeffer's theology will be most significant for those who live through revolutionary times, "not because he was a ruthless revolutionary, but because he could not stand aside while a world was dying."

The author says Bonhoeffer has had a greater impact on Americans than on his native Germany, both because of his martyrdom and his ideas. In his homeland many regard him as a political martyr, even a traitor, and anything but a truly Christian witness.

Reist examines the works of Bonhoeffer and a biography by Eberhard Bethge to report on the thoughts of this theologian.

READIES 'MESSIAH' AGAIN

Rolla Alford, who conducted Handel's "Messiah" for 35 years in Municipal Auditorium as an annual Christmastime event, will present the immortal oratorio again Sunday, 4 p.m. in First Methodist Church, Pacific and Fifth, with four of the noted soloists of those years. Members of the First Baptist choir will join the 70-voice Methodist group in the soaring Hellelujah Chorus. Everyone's invited.

Catholic Schools Double Fees to Meet $$ Crisis

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tuition will double next fall at financially-pressed high schools in the Roman Catholic diocese of Brooklyn.

Rev. Franklin E. Fitzpatrick, superintendent of the nation's third largest private school system, announced the tuition hike of $300 to $600 per year, directly affecting some 16,000 pupils who reside in Brooklyn.

The "deficit between the tuition charged and the cost of educating children" necessitated the increase he said. The deficit for the current year is expected to exceed $3.5 million.

The crisis, he said, was due to the decline in the number of teachers from religious orders, forcing parochial schools to hire more and more lay teachers. Lay teachers earn about $7,000 annually while religious receive about $2,000, he said.

The increase was termed as a major policy change intended to allow the diocese to "hold our own and secure Catholic education for the generations ahead," officials said.

The Brooklyn diocese operates nine high schools and includes elementary school facilities for some 160,000 pupils.

Garden Grove Construction

Our Redeemer Lutheran Church of Garden Grove, 12301 Magnolia Ave., will break ground Sunday 10:15 a.m. for a sanctuary and administration building.

The sanctuary will seat 430. The present chapel will be remodeled into Sunday School classrooms. The $267,000 project is expected to be completed by September, 1970.

"Lord, give me the good sense to stay away from the temptation I know is too much for me."

Such a prayer wouldn't miss, by much, the intent of the Lord when He taught us to pray, "Lead us not into temptation."

Dr. Gilliland discusses this part of the Lord's Prayer, Sunday at 9:45 and 11:00 a.m.

Sunday Evening, at Seven, we will enjoy the kind of singing and special music that makes hundreds think of this service as the happiest and shortest of the week. Come see why.

Sebastian Cabot Loves a Parade

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

Sebastian Cabot obviously loves a parade.

For seven out of the eight past years Huntington Park has staged the "Christmas Lane" parade, he's been grand marshall. The year he missed he was sick in the hospital.

These, of course, are commercial kinds of events to attract crowds to the shopping areas, but there is some distant relationship with the season—very distant.

However, we are not gathered here to note the usual seasonal complaints about commercialsim in Christmas, but to help out some press agents whose clients will be in the parade. And before getting into this listing of glittering personalities who are scheduled to ride in the parade I'd better note that among the marching bands will be the Long Beach Junior Concert Band — or I'll hear from Marvin Marker.

THE LIST of TV and film people, without whom I suppose the Christmas season's heralding would not be complete, includes Rose Marie, Ann B. Davis, Lloyd Thaxton, Jim Allen, Sally Baker, Dennis Cole, Laraine Stephens, Stephen Oliver, Rossano Brazzi, Mark Slade, Dick Lane, Stanley Livingston, Lori Saunders, Al Hamel, Bob Crane, Nita Talbot, Bob Dornan, Gregg Fedderson, Peter Lupus, Patricia Blair, Marjorie Main, Jed Allen, Kent McCord, Don Matheson, Deanna Lund, John Lupton, Heather North and some others—and you can have fun matching them up with their TV shows.

I can't guarantee they'll all be there, but they're on the list, and if you're interested you can watch the 90-minute show on Ch. 5 at 7 p.m. Personally, I'll be doing something else.

THE NATIONAL Association of Broadcasters, understandably, is asking the Federal Communications Commission to hold off on authorizing community antenna TV to originate programs and carry commercials.

That's O.K. It's business vs. business, and while you may or may not agree, you can't help but get some amusement from one of the arguments of the NAB which noted the FCC action could result in "transmitting into the home borderline pornography, deceptive and irresponsible advertising, subversive propaganda, the outpourings of the lunatic fringe . . ." etc.

That's what some people say about commercial TV, no?

Leave It To Larry
By LARRY MEDER
HARBOR CHEVROLET

Agathe Callinan tells of the old gent in the hospital who had just been notified by his doctor that the end was near. He then reflected on his past life during which time, (in what proved to be the "Battles of the Century), he had fought John Barleycorn to a draw many times!
Having never passed through the portals of connubial bliss, he realized ruefully that his behavior with those of the opposite sex during his lifetime was not entirely untarnished.
With a feeling of complete remorse, he asked the nurse to summon his life long friend Father Kelly. Upon hearing the patient's confession, and before granting absolution, the Good Priest said to his old friend, "Jim . . . do you completely renounce the devil and all of his evil works?" Hesitatingly, Jim answered, "Father — if it's all the same to you — right now I'm in no position to be making enemies!!!"
Folks — you can make a friend of me real easy — just come in and pick out a new or used auto — they are all red-tagged with a special sale price! Every One! GA 6-3341 3770 Cherry Harbor Chevrolet.

Lakewood Toppled in Final Seconds, 24-19

By KEN PIVERNETZ
Staff Writer

SATURDAY Sports
INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1969 SECTION C—Page C-1

Thirty-five seconds away from a stunning upset, Lakewood High let Eugene Jones slip away from two defenders and score on a 97-yard pass-run play to give Blair of Pasadena an incredible 24-19 victory over the Lancers Friday night at the Coliseum.

It was a heart-breaking setback for Lakewood, only a heart beat away from putting the team in next week's 4A finals against Bishop Amat.

	Lakewood	Blair
First downs	13	10
Passes attempted	15	11
Passes completed	9	6
Passes had intercepted	0	1
Yards gained passing	148	124
Yards gained rushing	210	219
Yards lost rushing	27	4
Net yards rushing	183	215
Total net yards	331	409
Fumbles	1	2
Own fumbles recovered	1	2
Penalties (by yards)	35	90

Blair's second string quarterback, Charles Phillips, rolled deep in the end zone on the third down play, found Jones somehow ahead of everyone else at the Viking 35, and the 6-foot-3, 212-pounder out-raced two men the rest of the way to score with 20 seconds showing.

Co-seeded with Amat as the No. 1 teams in the playoffs, Blair was held to its lowest point total of the season after running over 11 previous foes for 529 points.

Until Blair's final play, Lakewood had held James McAlister and Kermit Johnson as well as anyone, only to see the unheralded Phillips and Jones emerge as last-second heroes.

Phillips started his first game of the year for Blair in place of regular quarterback Ken Lipkin, who had pulled a muscle in last week's 44-19 romp over Santa Monica.

The Lancers seemingly had the game won when Richard Atwater downed Rick Gillies' tower 44-yard punt on the three with 66 seconds to go.

Two incomplete passes used up 31 seconds, before the almost unbelievable play stunned the crowd of 12,901.

How Jones got behind his man on the obvious passing situation is something Lancer coach John Ford will probably wonder all winter.

It had been Lakewood's ability to stop all three of Blair's two-point conversion tries that had given the team a 19-18 advantage.

Blair closed to within one point in the final 2:47 on a 12-yard romp around end by Johnson. On a similar try for two points he was stacked up a foot short of the goal line.

The Lancers' last score had come on a 16-yard TD strike from Kim Hannaford to little Steve Martinez 1:36 into the final quarter. The 88-yard march covered eight plays.

Hannaford was outstanding all evening for Lakewood, completing nine of 15 passes for 148 yards and two touchdowns.

The Lancers scored first with 4:44 remaining in the first half as Hannaford hit Steve Krill for 12 yards over the middle, only to see Blair come back on the last play of the half.

Phillips threw a screen to McAlister with five seconds to go and the 210-pound Big Mac barreled over three defenders on the 18-yard play in accounting for Blair's first score.

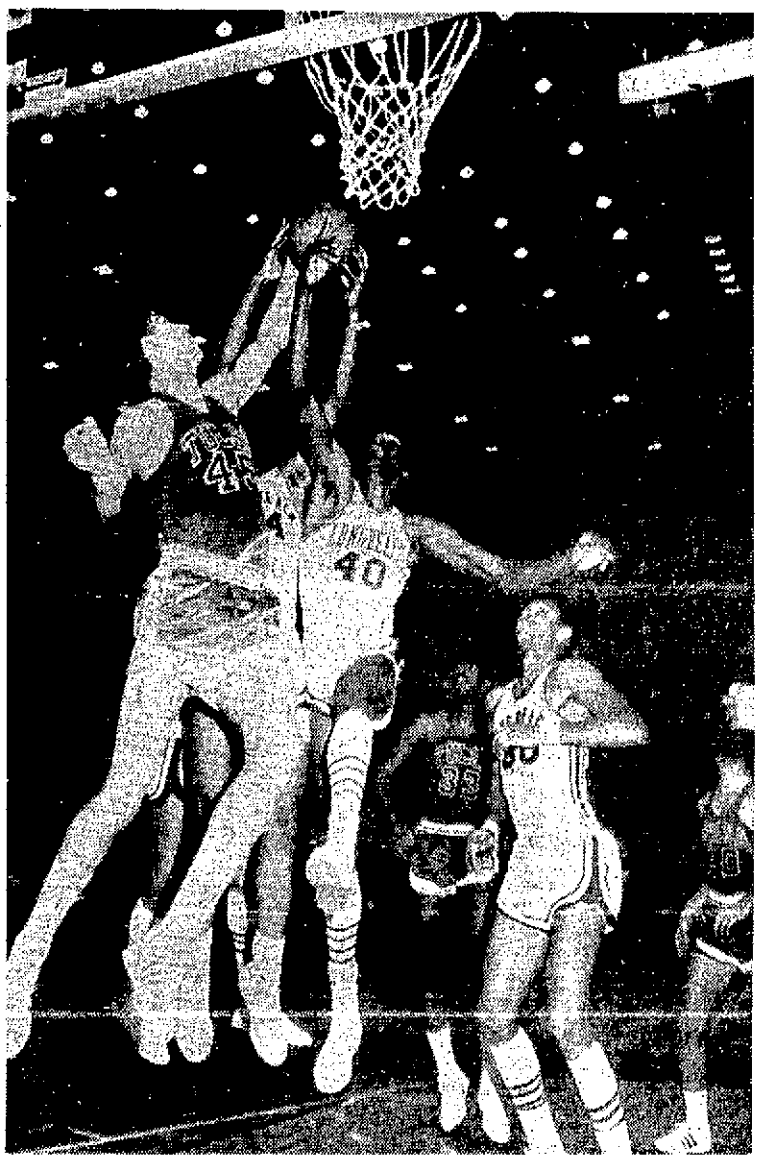

It was the first of what turned out to be many anxious moments for Blair, which was forced to the wire for the first time this year. The Vikings had to rally three times to overcome Lakewood's inspired play.

McAlister gained 100 yards on 22 carries, his lowest total of the season. Johnson added 99 more on 12 attempts.

Taylor Bullseye Wins It

By JIM McCORMACK

A crowd of 6,543 was in attendance for Cal State Long Beach's Arena debut Friday night, and only the faint hearted left before Dwight Taylor sank a free throw with two seconds remaining in overtime to give the 49ers a 74-73 overtime triumph over Tulsa.

"We had to do a job of selling our program tonight," 49er coach Jerry Tarkanian smiled. "They couldn't have asked for a more exciting game."

It was the second successive one-point triumph for Long Beach, which clipped Whittier, 61-60, Wednesday night, and brought a large measure of revenge for a 102-78 pasting in Tulsa last year.

"This is the best win we've had since I've been here," guard Ray Gritton said in the steamy 49er dressing room. The veterans of the wipeout in Tulsa agreed unanimously.

"This place was really a pressure cooker," Tarkanian admitted after watching the teams stay within two points of each other for the final nine minutes, including the five in overtime.

The stage for the spectacular ending was set with 2:41 remaining in regulation time when Tulsa's Larry Morris, a former all-CIF star at Compton High, dropped in a rebound to tie the score, 71-71.

The 49ers ran out the clock unchallenged by the Tulsa zone defense, and with one second remaining in regulation time Shawn Johnson's 22-foot shot from the baseline rimmed the hoop and came out.

Tulsa controlled the overtime tip and worked the ball for 2:22 against a conservative 49er press before Art Montgomery

Lakers Rebound, Shoot Like Champs

By DOUG IVES
Staff Writer

Everything the Lakers failed to achieve in the last two weeks was executed perfectly Friday night and it enabled them to halt a six-game losing streak by drubbing the Detroit Pistons, 128-109, at the Forum.

Lack of rebounding is the No. 1 Laker problem, but they enjoyed a whopping 56-41 edge over the small Pistons, who rank last in that department in the NBA.

More important, the Lakers found their shooting touch for the first time in nine games. They hit the nets at a .517 clip. In five of their last nine games they had been unable to break 40 per cent.

The defense, which has been solid all year, was especially good with the return of Keith Erickson and the fact that the Lakers suited up 10 players for the first time since Nov. 18, enabling coach Joe Mullaney more latitude to match personnel with the quick Pistons.

Jerry West led all scorers with 26 points, but the Lakers showed good balance for a change with Happy Hairston adding 24 points and Elgin Baylor and Mel Counts 22. Dick Garrett, making his last five baskets after the winner was determined, finished with 19 points.

Ironically, four Detroit players had 22 points. They were Eddie Miles, Butch Komives, Terry Dischinger and Jimmy Walker. The later two sparked a second-half rally that saw Detroit reduce a 19-point deficit to only five with 7:44 left.

The Lakers never trailed after the first few minutes. They led 64-49 at halftime, on Baylor's 10 point second period and spirited play by Erickson, and held forth, 95-82, after three periods.

West made the key baskets and plays after Walker and Dischinger got the Pistons to within 100-95. The slender sharpshooter rammed home two jump shots, made a steal and then assisted on points by Hairston and Garrett.

Counts, breaking a mild slump, was 11 for 16 from the field, but all the top Laker scorers shot at least 50 per cent. Baylor and West hit that figure on the nose, while Garrett was 8 for 14 and Hairston 7 for 13.

Hairston tied Baylor for the rebound lead with 13. The newest Laker has averaged 15 caroms in four games, and 23 points. The man he was traded for, Billy Hewitt, was scoreless for Detroit. He has averaged only 3.5 in five games with the Pistons.

The victory not only pre-

Terrific Trojan Debut --Buffs Bounced, 88-74

By LOEL SCHRADER
Staff Writer

This was to have been a year of liberation for the rest of the nation—a season in which the national collegiate basketball championship was to have been reclaimed from the state of California.

But after the first five days of the season, there's still a distinct possibility the title might be settled in the crosstown series between UCLA and USC.

UCLA debuted impressively Monday and USC was hot from the gate Friday night with a victory over Colorado, 88-74, before 5,065 fans at the L.A. Sports Arena.

The Trojans displaced an abundance of talent, most of it new, in dealing the defending Big Eight champion Buffaloes their first loss in three games.

USC rebounded beyond expectations and received spectacular shooting from newcomers Dennis Layton and Paul Westphal and veteran Don Crenshaw. Layton had 19, Westphal 13 and Crenshaw 18 points. The Trojans grabbed 54 rebounds to 33 for the Buffs, whose top scorer, Cliff Meeley, made only 5 of 21 shots and wound up with 14 points.

Colorado thought it also was getting a hometown job of officiating. To be completely objective, it certainly wasn't Boulder in which the Buffaloes were playing.

"For a first game against a team that good, I thought we played awfully well," said Trojan coach Bob Boyd, who sends his club against Vanderbilt tonight at 8 in the Sports Arena. The contest will be televised live by Channel 11.

USC was nervous in the early action, making several turnovers while Colorado was moving to a 10-3 lead. But the Trojans finally caught the Buffs at 22 and held a 38-36 halftime edge.

Boyd alternated defenses until going exclusively to a zone late in the first half.

"I noticed in scouting them last Monday that the Buffaloes stood around in their zone offense," he said. "They penetrate well in their man-to-man offense."

With Colorado's offense tied down, the Trojans began moving away early in the second half and broke it open when Layton scored two baskets and Crenshaw another within a 45-second stretch. That spurt gave USC a 54-47 edge and the Buffs never came any closer.

The performances of the guards of the two teams were enough to satisfy the crowd, which was USC's largest in five years except for UCLA games.

Gordon Tope, a senior guard from La Crescenta, kept Colorado in the game for 25 minutes with his slick passing and ballhawking.

Layton and Westphal were equally great, the former showing great outside shooting ability and the latter penetrating smoothly and expertly. Sophomore Ron Riley outmuscled the Buffs on the boards, hauling down 18 rebounds.

In a preliminary game, USC's freshmen defeated East L.A. College, 93-75. Bruce Clark led with 33 points.

FIRST DEFEAT FOR VIKING FIVE

By DAVE DANIEL
Staff Writer

Long Beach City College lost its first game of the season Friday night, a 90-81 decision to visiting Los Angeles City College, but the Vikings proved they are as game as anyone.

The Vikings overcame a 17-point deficit in the second half.

S. L. Neal, Chuck Terry and Gary Anderson rallied the Vikings in the final seven minutes as the undefeated Cubs held a 71-54 edge, narowing the score to 85-81 with 16 seconds to play.

But the Cubs sank four points in the final four seconds to put the game out of reach of coach Lute Olson's team and drop the Vikings to 2-1 with a game at Mt. San Antonio College in Walnut tonight at 8.

The Mounties lost a 99-74 decision to LACC Thursday night, and now the Cubs are 5-0 on the year, because of their height and shooting ability, which saw four players score in double figures.

Olson, who prides himself on calmness, was slapped with his second technical in as many games as the Vikings were handed four for the night — including two in less than a second to Tom Motley, which caused his ejection with 9:12 to play.

Olson thought "we did a good job in the second half. Terry did a good job on the boards and we played better defense. Anderson also played well."

The Vikings led 4-3 in the opening minute of play and then relinquished the lead to the taller, sharpshooting Cubs, who pulled away to a 48-37 halftime advantage.

In the final 20-minute period it appeared the Cubs would breeze by building their 17-point lead to 71-54 with 7:40 to play. But Neal scored 12 points in the final 10 minutes, Terry added 10 and Anderson chipped in eight on a 4-5 performance.

Terry also pulled down 20 rebounds — 16 of them in the second half, and Anderson added seven in just eight minutes of play.

Bill Cox scored 21 for the winners, followed by Don Strong and Maryland Scott with 19 each. Joe Clayton chipped in 14.

Jim Ferguson added 10 points and nine assists for LBCC with all his scoring

'NO PLACE FOR WEAK'

Tulsa Takes Heartbreaker in Stride

By GARY RAUSCH
Staff Writer

"There was sure no place out there for the weak of heart," sighed Tulsa coach Ken Hayes, pulling on a soft drink as his emotions drained following a 74-73 overtime loss to Cal State Long Beach Friday.

The personable head master from the Missouri Valley Conference powerhouse was stunned by his Golden Hurricanes' second loss of the season. Monday his crew dropped a 77-74 decision at Purdue. The coach took the defeat in stride with a look toward the future.

"If a guy looks back, he'll get run over. Sure this was another heartbreaker. But there's no time to wonder what you did wrong. We've got to get right back in the fire."

From the smoldering cauldron of the Long Beach Arena, the Hurricanes journey to another inferno in San Jose's Civic Auditorium against the Spartans tonight.

"It's kinda tough playing your first six games on the road but it'll make us a better ball club in the end," philosophized Tulsa sophomore Larry Morris.

The 6-4 guard from Compton High contributed 12 points to the Hurricane cause and added a game-high seven assists. "It was a thrill to play against so many of my friends. Sam (Robinson), Sleepy (Montgomery), LBJ (Billy Jankans), Dwight (Taylor) and I play pickup games all summer long.

"We expected them to run and also to trap more on defense, but none of the guys surprised me with their play. I wouldn't want to compare them with Purdue, however."

Quizzed on why former Cerritos College star John Van Vliet sat out the final 8:19 of regulation time and all the overtime, the coach answered: "We were trying to get our best ball handling team in there.

"John and Bob Horn (also from Cerritos) were a little more aggressive tonight. They picked us up and helped us out a lot." The two forwards combined for 22 points and 20 rebounds.

Hayes was impressed with 49er Sam Robinson. "We made some adjustments on Sam and it helped. But even if you get up in the air with him, he just tilts back and there's no way you're going to block his shot."

Super Sam led the 49ers with 20 points and 13 rebounds.

"From all bad comes some good," concluded Hayes. "We had any number of opportunities to fold. We get a little experience and we'll be a real fine club."

So will the 49ers.

SAINTS, DONS FALL

Millikan Romps; Jordan Squeaks

Millikan High opened its prep basketball season with an easy 83-49 win over Costa Mesa Friday night.

The Rams were paced by forward Rich Plante's 18 points and center Dave Frost's 16. Dan Peters added 15 points and eight assists in a game in which Millikan never trailed.

Jordan managed to hold onto a 54-53 victory over Dominguez. Dominguez closed to within one point in the final three seconds.

St. Anthony and El Rancho ended up on the short end of the scoreboard, the Saints falling to Palos Verdes, 87-38, and the Dons losing to Chaffey, 70-62.

Frank Sedillo's 12 points for El Rancho could not offset a 28 point performance by the Tigers' Bob Kunyze.

Five Palos Verdes players scored in double figures in routing the Saints.

fouled Morris and the 6-foot-4 sophomore guard sank two free throws for a 73-71 Golden Hurricane advantage.

Cal State missed a shot, then committed a turnover, giving the ball back to Tulsa with 2:25 to go.

With 1:50 remaining, George Trapp stole the ball and passed to Taylor on a fast break. Morris fouled his former Compton High teammate at the basket, and after a timeout to shake off the effects of a hard fall, Taylor tied the score by making both free throws.

Gritton stole the ball on the ensuing inbounds pass but Trapp's shot was blocked and the Hurricane controlled the rebound.

With 1:30 remaining, the harassing 49er defense forced Morris to take steps and the 49ers had the ball again.

Tulsa refused to challenge the 49ers and Cal State ran the clock down to five seconds before Taylor whipped into the key on a drive. He was fouled by 6-foot-6 sophomore Granville Bunton and made the first free throw to put Long Beach in front 74-73.

Taylor missed the second shot, Bunton collected the rebound and called time out with one second remaining.

The Hurricane, 0-2 for the season after an opening 77-74 loss to Purdue, tried to get the ball to 6-1 senior guard Ron Carson, who had already scored 25 points. Taylor blocked the inbounds pass, however, and time ran out.

OILERS SEEK PLAYOFFS; 49ERS PLAY

Combined News Services

The Houston Oilers try to nail down an AFL playoff spot today against the New York Jets in the Astrodome while the San Francisco 49ers and Chicago Bears, who've won but three games between them, tangle at San Francisco in an NFL game.

All the other pro clubs wait until Sunday.

The world champion Jets already have clinched a playoff berth in the AFL's Eastern Division and can wrap up first place in the East with a win today. But Houston needs a win or at least a tie in either of its final two games to slip into the second playoff spot ahead of Boston and Buffalo.

Stanford Falls to Santa Clara, Cal Bounced by BYU

Combined News Services

Dennis Awtrey, Santa Clara's 6-10 center, tallied 21 points and snagged 16 rebounds Friday night to help the Broncos overcome Stanford, 72-60, in a rugged defensive battle.

Stanford was unable to penetrate Santa Clara's tough defense spearheaded by Awtrey, Ralph Ogden, Bruce Bochte, Kevin Eagleson and Terry O'Brien, primarily during the first 20 minutes of the game. The Broncos led 40-27 at halftime.

The Indians abandoned their zone in the second half and Awtrey and Ogden scored two quick layups against a man-for-man defense to up the Bronco lead to 17 points.

Only the long-range shooting of Dennis O'Neill and Claude Terry kept the Indians close in the second half. Terry led Stanford with 19 points and O'Neill had 17.

The smaller Chieftains hit their stride midway through the second half as Tommy Little and Jim Gardner scored 12 points each.

With eight minutes left, Seattle moved into a 61-60 lead on Bill Jones' only two-pointer of the game. The Chiefs widened the margin to three points before Woolcock, who scored a total of 20 points, and Hawes, who had 17, combined to regain the lead for Washington.

Stan Dodds banged in a lay-up at the halfway point of the first half to give Wyoming a 25-24 lead and the Cowboys never let up as they raced to a 106-61 win over South Dakota State.

Rams Have Perfect Record, but Vikings Have Favoritism

By AL LARSON
Staff Writer

The Minnesota Vikings left their mittens home for Sunday's preview of the Dec. 27 Western Conference championship game with Rams.

Boxing gloves might be appropriate.

Oddsmakers have had a tough time deciding on a favorite, but Friday they established the Vikings a one-point choice because they've permitted 79 fewer points than the Rams in league play.

While most observers figure the Vikings will have a decided advantage when the teams play on Minnesota's skating rink three weeks from today, Minnesota coach Bud Grant offered a different theory upon arrival in the Southland Friday.

"We'd rather play the Rams on a fast track and in good weather," Grant said. "It's no bargain stomping around on a frozen field. You put in an extensive offense during training camp and the exhibition games, and the moment you hit bad weather you have to junk 60 per cent of it.

"We face the strongest team in the league when we meet the Rams. They have a great defensive team . . . they have experience, depth and outstanding individuals. Deacon Jones, as an example, is probably the finest football player in the game," Grant stressed.

"But the Vikings have responded well to challenges this year and we expected them to do the same Sunday."

Who is Bud Grant?

From the bottom of the Central Division to the top was Grant's formula in his first two years as coach of the Vikings.

Grant's 1968 club finished 8-6 and on top in the Central — a sharp improvement on the 3-8-3 record posted in '67. This season he's 10-1.

One of the finest all-round athletes in the history of the University of Minnesota, Bud won eight varsity letters — four in football (end) and two each in basketball (forward) and baseball (pitcher-outfielder). He was an all-Big Ten end as a junior and senior.

After his senior grid season at Minnesota, 1949, Grant signed a two-year basketball pact with the Minneapolis Lakers, and played two years in the NBA.

He returned to football, signed with the Eagles, the team that had drafted him No. 1 in 1950. Bud played in '51 with Philadelphia as a defensive end and the '52 season as an offensive end. He then played four years with Winnipeg of the Canadian League.

In 1957 Winnipeg head coach Allie Sherman resigned to join the Giants. Grant, 29, was selected his successor.

In 10 years as head coach at Winnipeg, Grant became the winningest coach in the CFL. His teams compiled a 121-66-13 record.

"We wanted to give Minnesota a different picture," Bob Brown said, with a wink, while explaining his shift from right offensive tackle to the left side in the second half of the Rams' 24-13 win over Washington. "You get up emotionally for a man and when you don't see him across from you on the line, it's a letdown." Roman Gabriel said: "Charlie Cowan (the left tackle) was called twice for holding and was demoralized, so Bob suggested the switch." Brown played 22 of the Rams' 65 offensive plays on the left side.

George Allen has moved to the head of the class as the winningest NFL coach the past four seasons. Allen boasts a 40-10-3 record, Shula's record is 40-11-2, Tom Landry 39-12-2, Vince Lombardi 36-13-4, Blanton Collier 36-16-1 and Bud Grant 21-13-3 (3 years).

Allen announced Friday he would activate linebacker Myron Pottios next week for the Lions' game. Detroit (7-4) is striving for a win against Baltimore which would assure Lions their best record since 1962 (11-3). Allen has no plans to activate Dick Bass.

MESSAGE FROM ARKANSAS?

This steer head skeleton with broken horn made dandy place for Arkansas fan to scrawl, "Beat Texas." Arkansas and Texas meet today for Southwest Conference crown and Cotton Bowl bid. And No. 1!

Longhorns Choice Over Hogs in 'Game of Year'

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — All is ready for college football's Game of the Year today.

The synthetic grass at Fayetteville has been vacuumed.

President Nixon has his tickets.

A national television audience (Ch. 7, 10:15 a.m. PST) estimated at 50 million is waiting.

Texas vs. Arkansas, No. 1 vs. No. 2.

The game pits Texas, averaging more than 44 points a game, against Arkansas, with the best defense in the land against scoring. Texas enters as a nine-point favorite.

The winner earns the Southwest Conference championship, a spot in the Cotton Bowl opposite Notre Dame and the inside track to the national championship.

The loser goes to the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans and a far less glamorous date with a 7-3 Mississippi team.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles says Texas' execution of its relative simple offense will be the Razorback's biggest problem.

"They are exact in what they do," he said. "Faking is the big problem. They have their bread and butter plays and they come at you with them.

"What you have to do in defending against the triple option kills your pursuit," Broyles said. "You must commit a man to each hole, even though you'd rather not. If one man misses, there'll be no help until the ball carrier gets to the safety. And they've got blockers cracking at safety."

As Oklahoma found out, the Longhorns can pass.

The Sooners massed nine men on the line of scrimmage, jumped off to a 14-0 lead and then succumbed when quarterback James Street began finding split end Cotton Speyrer.

Arkansas, however, has not conceded.

As one coach put it: "We've got a contract to fulfill. We'll be there."

Utilizing the pro-type attack, Arkansas has averaged more than 35 points a game and has not scored less than three touchdowns in any game.

The Arkansas offense blends the running of Bill Burnett and Bruce Maxwell with the passing of quarterback Bill Montgomery.

"Texas is so sound defensively," says Montgomery. "They line up and say, 'Here we are, come after us with anything you've got, we're gonna stop it.' They're such good players, so well-coached, that they don't have to do anything special."

Royal says the Longhorns have only four basic running plays in their simplified offense, but the multiplicity of their applications has allowed Street, Worster, Bertelson, and Koy to average five yards or more per carry.

Said Broyles: "You may draw up the right defense, and get everybody aligned on the field and still not make the tackle, because of their great scheme, their great backs, and their great blockers.

"We know they're great," Broyles said. "We think we're pretty good. If they're super, we can't do anything about it. If they're not, we can win."

San Diego, Boston Vie in Rose Bowl Today

By JIM McCORMACK
Staff Writer

Boston University, the most overrated underrated football team in the nation, challenges San Diego State today at 1 p.m. in the Pasadena Bowl.

The Terriers, 9-1 for the season and No. 2 team in the East, have been catching it from both ends since being selected to oppose the San Diego power house in Pasadena.

Aztec coach Don Coryell was especially upset at the selection last week, labelling Boston a "fourth-rate power," and worse yet, a "college division team."

Coryell readjusted his public comments earlier this week by noting that playing the Terriers would help the Aztecs receive exposure in the East.

It was a maneuver designed among other things, to stop the downgrading of a bowl game which is currently undergoing growing pains after switching from junior college to college format.

Pasadena Bowl officials have been working hard to publicize a team that is as well known in the Southland as San Diego is in Boston.

If the Terriers stop the unbeaten Aztecs, the nation's No. 1 team in three offensive categories, they can be expected to do it on defense.

Although Boston shut out only one opponent—Colgate, 20-0, in the season opener—the Terriers surendered only 767 yards in 10 games, an average of 67.6 yards per contest.

It can be assumed, however, that the Terriers did not contend with the likes of Aztec quarterback Dennis Shaw and his aerial circus.

On a couple of occasions, the Aztecs managed nearly that many yards (676) in a single game while leading the nation in passing, scoring and total offense.

Shaw passed for 3,742 yards and was responsible for 270 points, 60 more than the entire Terrier team scored.

Part of Boston's defensive success has been a ball-control offense, and the Terrier plans today will involve trying to keep the San Diego offense on the bench.

Boston's starting quarterback, sophomore Sam Hollo, passed only 73 times and completed 38 for 436 yards.

The Terriers' top player, defensive back Bruce Taylor, keyed a defensive unit considered one of the finest in the East.

If that reputation stands at 4 p.m. today, Boston University will be more bulldog than Terrier.

Cincinnati Hits 156 for Record

Combined News Services

The Cincinnati Royals, paced by the hot shooting of veteran Johnny Green, set a club scoring record Friday night in defeating the Atlanta Hawks, 156-127, in a National Basketball Assn. game.

The Royals' total eclipsed their former one game scoring record of 153 set in 1962 and tied in 1967. The mark of 156 also set a Cincinnati Gardens' record, shattering the former one game high of 152 set by the Royals in 1962.

In other NBA games New York rolled over Baltimore, 116-107, Philadelphia edged Boston, 105-104, Milwaukee topped Seattle 131-98, Phoenix toppled Chicago, 114-113, for its fourth win in a row, and San Francisco dumped San Diego, 112-107.

LOS ALAMITOS LOSES Anaheim Beaten by Bishop Amat

Quarterback Pat Haden and split end John McKay Jr., son of the USC coach, combined on a six-yard pass play in the third quarter to lift Bishop Amat to a 19-14 CIF four-A playoff victory over Anaheim Friday night at Anaheim Stadium.

The go-ahead touchdown was set up on a 43-yard scamper by Jim Plumley, who returned the second-half kickoff to the Anaheim 31. Haden marched the Lancers the final distance in six plays.

Haden completed 20 of 33 passes for 220 yards and three touchdowns. McKay grabbed nine of Haden's aerials for 94 yards and two scores.

Anaheim took a 14-13 halftime lead as George Fraser mounted a 62-yard, eight play drive in which he accounted for 57 yards of the total. Fraser plunged over from the one and Tim Thorn was good with the PAT.

Bonita crushed Foothill, 46-20, in a three-A semifinal test as Charlie Schumann scored touchdowns on runs of two, three and 66 yards. Teammate Alan Carter rambled for two touchdowns, one a cross-country gallop of 84 yards.

South Pasadena edged Lawndale, 21-18, in the other three-A semifinal. John Simmons and Bill Cleary teamed on touchdown passes of 36 and 47 yards to pace South Pasadena.

Barstow won the two-A CIF championship with a 33-14 victory over Los Alamitos, while Boron defeated Yucca Valley, 14-0, for the A crown.

LAKERS WINNERS---

vented the Lakers from an all-time losing streak, it put them within one game of second place and four off the top spot. League-leading Atlanta lost and Chicago relinquished the No. 2 position to San Francisco.

The Lakers go to San Diego tonight to face the Rockets, another team which doesn't rebound well. That's the kind the Lakers are best suited for at this time.

Mullaney was most excited about Erickson, whose injury coincided with the Laker losing streak.

"Keith gets us moving," said Mullaney. "The second quarter was his best of the year. He snaps his passes and he doesn't over-dribble. It seems to keep us hopping."

Erickson, who has played only four minutes in the last eight games due to an ankle sprain, had seven points, three rebounds and two assists in a 10-minute stint of the second stanza when the Lakers broke open the game.

He finished with 10 points, six rebounds, and five assists in 25 minutes.

Mullaney is not certain that his club has worked the kinks out of the offense.

"We've gone in fits and starts all season," says Joe. "The brilliance of certain players has kept us from deteriorating. I would like more cohesiveness and more movement."

Mullaney also had praise for Counts, who played his best game in the last five.

"Mel gets hyped up before most games and he does some crazy things with the ball," says Joe. "He calmed down tonight, played within himself and was just great. I thought it was his best game of the year."

Fresh Yankee Trots to Win at Hollypark

Fresh Yankee turned on the speed in the stretch to capture the $25,000 Pacific Trot Friday night at Hollywood Park and convinced 16,636 fans that she is the finest trotter in the country.

With Joe O'Brien at the controls, the brilliant mare led Grandpa Jim by three-quarters of a length at the wire and solidified her position as the heavy favorite to win the $100,000 American Trotting Classic next Friday at the Inglewood track.

Fresh Yankee, the 4-5 choice in the five-horse field, returned $3.80, $2.40 and $2.10. Grandpa Jim paid $3.00 and $2.20, and Earl Laird, closing steadily to be third, returned $2.40. There was a minus show pool of $88.50.

Fresh Yankee stopped the timer in 1:59 2/5 to become the third trotter to record a "magic mile" at the Western Harness racing meeting. First money of $12,500 upped her career earnings to $450,476.

Armstrong Bros. Ltd. of Canada, one of the most powerful harness racing establishments in North America, will send its outstanding four-year-old mare, Sunnie Tar, out for tonight's $10,000 Sepulveda Pace at Hollywood Park. First post is 8 p.m.

Second to Overcall in the $100,000 American Pacing Classic in her last start, Sunnie Tar is expected to be favored over four male rivals, all of whom boast impressive credentials.

Taking on the Canadian miss will be Robert E. Adios, Ozzie Hanover, Song Cycle and Honest Story.

In one of the strongest over all programs of the Western Harness season, Careless Time, Trotwood Roy, Knox Patch, Dwyer Hanover, Aka Eden and Eurahead will meet in the fifth race, and Toughie Direct, who went 1.59 2/5 Wednesday night, comes back against Popingood Pick, Mr. Jack, Star Jim, Batman and Harlan Lee in the eighth race. Both events are a mile for class A pacers.

Offshore Boats Vie in Rum Run

Former national offshore outboard champion Dr. Bob Magoon of Miami, Fla., is a surprise entry for today's Rum Run IV out of Long Beach Harbor.

Magoon is an eye surgeon by profession, but is just as skillful with a throttle as with a scalpel. He earned more points than any other U.S. racer in 1968 using outboard engines in ocean events.

Magoon's surprising entry brought the Offshore Class list to at least eight for the 94-mile sprint, which begins and finishes at Belmont Shore Pier starting at 10 a.m. As many as 20 boats may make the journey along the coast to Malibu Pier and back.

Magoon, who finished a strong fourth in last August's fifth Long Beach Hennessy Cup classic, is racing against the boat in which he earned the APBA crown.

Now the handler of Andrea, a 28-foot Memco powered by three 135-horsepower Mercury engines, Magoon will be battling Darrel Jenkins of Bakersfield and his Miss Bakersfield — a 27-foot Magnum powered by triple Mercs which Magoon sold to him earlier this summer.

25,000 to See JC Grid Playoff Game Tonight

A crowd of 25,000 is expected to view the featured semifinal state Junior College football playoff game between Fullerton and Bakersfield tonight at Anaheim Stadium.

Fullerton, South Coast Conference champion, defeated Grossmont last week, while Bakersfield, Metropolitan Conference titlist, ousted Santa Barbara in the first round.

In the other semifinal game, defending champion Fresno hosts Chabot. Both games begin at 8.

Speedboat Pilot Bill Cooper Dies

Private funeral services will be held for Bill Cooper, 41, power boat racing champion who died Friday of cancer at St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica.

Cooper won the Lake Havasu City outboard world championship and the Invitational Marathon at Long Beach during his 22-year career.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday. He is survived by his widow, Glenn, and five children. The family requested that donations for cancer research be made to the Pasadena Foundation for medical research.

Mikan-Led Minnesota Hosts UCLA

MINNEAPOLIS — In 177 games over the past seven seasons, UCLA's basketball team has lost only 12 times.

The fact that 11 of the defeats occurred on the road offers a possibility of victory to Minnesota this afternoon when it hosts the defending national champion Bruins at Williams Arena.

The Gophers, 1-1 with a loss to Notre Dame and a victory over North Dakota, are decided underdogs.

They were swiftly and thoroughly demolished last year on UCLA's home court, 90-51, and don't appear to have the rebounding strength to stay with the Bruins.

Minnesota coach Bill Fitch believes UCLA may encounter difficulty trying to handle senior forward Larry Mikan, son of former professional great George Mikan.

"Larry is on the brink of greatness," says Fitch. "We're depending upon him to make us a success."

Fitch says scouting reports he has received on UCLA's 90-65 victory over Arizona don't offer any comfort.

"UCLA doesn't have the big guy (Lew Alcindor)," he says, "but from what I hear the Bruins still are one of the outstanding teams in the nation."

Today's game will begin at 1 p.m., PST, and will be broadcast live on radio station KMPC. Los Angeles television station KTLA (Ch. 5) will tape the action and begin its telecast at 3 p.m., PST.

Laryngitis Doesn't Quiet Brewer -- Four Shot Lead

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — Texas Gay Brewer, battling laryngitis and Arnold Palmer, increased his lead to four strokes with a 66 Friday for a 36-hole score of 13-under-par 131 in the $125,000 Danny Thomas Golf Classic.

Palmer, who broke a long slump by winning the Heritage Classic last Sunday, fired a 67 for 135, as did Hal Underwood of Humble, Tex.

"What are you doing to my golf course?" asked host Danny Thomas after Brewer, the 1967 Masters champion, had posted his 66. "It's supposed to be a difficult course."

"I felt pretty good, but anything can happen," Brewer said in a whisper because of his laryngitis. "Arnold's behind me and he's playing well."

Jim Wright sank a 140-yarder for an eagle on the par four 18th to tie the course record with a 65 and a 138 total at the halfway point.

Brewer, who has not won a PGA tournament since the '67 Masters, sank seven birdies, including putts of 30, 25, 15 and two at 12 feet.

His only bogey came on the 18th when he hit into a trap. He had hit the water on No. 12, but dropped out and got down in par with a 12-foot putt.

"I've putted well both days, which is something I haven't done before," Brewer said, who led the first round by two strokes.

Palmer, meanwhile, also was putting well. He pumped in six birdies against a lone bogey.

"My putting is so much better," he said with a broad smile. "It's really the only thing that's changed all year. I've been putting much better the last couple of weeks."

Palmer sank putts of 20 feet, 18 feet and eight feet on his way to the six birdies. He three-putted the sixth hole for his only bogey of the day.

"I played much better than yesterday," said Palmer, whose win at the Heritage Classic at Hilton Head Island, S.C., last week ended a long slump. "I was driving pretty well and I was in no trouble at all until the last two holes."

Yanks Deal Again, Land A's Cater; Seattle Gets 'OK'

Combined News Services

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Major league baseball kept the player mill moving with three more trades Friday while the American League apparently finally settled the troublesome problem of its Seattle franchise.

The New York Yankees announced their second major deal within 18 hours, swapping left-hander Al Downing and catcher Frank Fernandez to Oakland for the first baseman-outfielder Danny Cater.

Shortly after that, San Francisco shipped three players, pitcher Ron Herbel, infielder Bob Etheridge and catcher Bob Barton to San Diego for reliever Frank Reberger.

Meanwhile, the American League gave its go-ahead to the proposed sale of the Pilots to a group headed by entertainment impressario Fred Danz. The approval carries with it a conditional provision that Danz' group increase the seating capacity and other wise renovate Seattle's Sicks Stadium.

The Pilots plan to move into a new $40 million domed stadium in 1973 and A. L. owners heard from an architect involved in the project before giving their unanimous approval to Danz' group.

The Cleveland Indians and Washington Senators also completed a five player trade—the largest so far of the meetings.

The Senators sent pitchers Barry Moore and Dennis Higgins to Cleveland for infielder Dave Nelson and pitchers Horacio Pina and Ron Law.

The Yankees were excited over their second player deal. They had come to baseball's annual meetings with little optimism for completing any trades.

In other activity Friday:

Minor league umpires were voted a 10-15 per center salary increase.

—The 1970 All-Star, to be played July 14 in Cincinnati's new stadium, will be a night game.

—The inter-league trading period was extended to run from the fifth day after the end of the World Series until Dec. 15.

—It was ruled Mexican native players playing in the Mexican League are not subject to the annual player draft but may be sold to the major leagues.

—A proposed modification of the waiver rule, which had raised objection from the players' association, was rejected by both major leagues.

—The attorney for the major league clubowners said he believes negotiations with the players to avert the same impasse that nearly produced a strike last spring are "moving normally at this time."

Puzzle of Friday, Dec. 5, Solved

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today: The year ahead is one of learning to use unusual methods to extend both social and business activity. People are inclined to like your beliefs and proposals as your decisions and terms become crisp, clear cut. Partners are fairly easy to find and deal with. Romance is within reach if you have the time to devote to it.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Odd experiences are commonplace today, and coincidence features a rather improbable or fascinating situation. New contacts are promising.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Family activities keep you occupied. Be sure, however, to do your duty to your community and to allow for some privacy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Everything is at the tip of your fingers and so easy to rush through that you may overdo. Someone in your social circle has a helpful idea.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Property holds your attention strongly: changes and repairs are needed. Creature comforts seem overattractive. Stick with your diet and thus enjoy the day and evening more fully.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Everybody is acutely sensitive to disclosure of events of the last few days. Leave off the inquiry and you will eventually get a straighter story. Coincidence brings about a most extraordinary incident.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): New people may become very important in your thinking. Your financial outlook improves abruptly, then settles to normal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): More facts come to light from travel undertaken for other reasons. Use notebooks or other ways of refreshing your memory. Nobody is very happy with your independent ideas, but much is at stake in looking after your own interests.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): This Sunday it is important that you extend yourself and your resources to help keep the peace and to protect your community from dissension. Gladly make the effort.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Secret activities blunder into unexpected visibility this Sunday when you meet head on with somebody from your own bailiwick. It's better to stay home and concentrate on improving your mind or state of health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be ready to discuss your specialty with a visiting stranger — it just may happen that someone of competence and charm arrives. Otherwise, solitary diversions are preferable.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Original projects thrive until you expect everybody to give up his own doings and join in yours. Then all balk. Lessen your demands on others.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): People are seeking you for a wide variety of reasons. Be ready to readjust according to whom the inquirers are. Keep your main discourse to social trivia. Direct questions will then indicate the interests of the strangers.

A MATTER OF ACCESS

Lynch Joins Beach Debate

By BILL MAYER
From Our L. A. Bureau

The question mark that has hovered over private beaches in California for years — what about public access? — will get its big test soon in the state Supreme Court.

There are, in fact, two cases moving now, but the judgments — both from appellate courts — seem to be in direct contradiction.

So now Atty. Gen. Thomas Lynch has moved into the act.

"The amount of public swimming beach available to California's burgeoning population is of extreme importance to the entire state," Lynch explained.

"Our beaches are a very finite and precious resource. Through these cases we hope to achieve important new judicial findings concerning public access to beaches."

ATTY. GEN. LYNCH
Where to Swim!

THE QUESTION of access to a beach was the big point of dispute in both cases, in which Lynch has filed briefs as a friend of the court.

In one case, brought originally in Mendocino County, the District Court of Appeal ruled that if a road has been used a long time, even though it crosses private property it becomes a public street.

In the other case, out of Santa Cruz, the DCA ruled the opposite way. The path long used by the public ran through a privately owned cliff. No matter, said the court. The route to the beach remains private.

In both Dietz V. King, the Mendocino suit, and Gion v. City of Santa Cruz, as the evidence showed, the access ways had been used more than 50 years.

Once the Supreme Court has ruled, the judgment should be final, and it should apply to all similar cases through the whole length of the California coast. The high tribunal has made it plain that it means to effect that kind of legal clarity. It will review both cases at the same time.

Lynch, in an attempt to dramatize the problem for the court, stressed by statistics the limited beach area available to the people of California.

'THE COASTLINE runs 1,051 miles, but only 179 miles of that consist of swimming beaches. And, the attorney general observes, only half of the swimming beaches are publicly owned.

In Southern California, where population is much heavier and coastline shorter, the problem is even more severe.

Lynch's position, in effect, is that, if a property owner has allowed the public to use his land for many years, he has made his intentions plain.

"Private owners," he said, "should not be permitted suddenly to reverse their positions."

Oil Leak Poses Big Problem

Firemen and Shell Oil Co. experts puzzled Friday over the problem of retrieving from a deep Wilmington excavation a large quantity of Alaskan crude oil which flowed into the pit from a pipeline break.

Firemen said the break was discovered at 12:13 a.m. in a field close to the huge open-pit dump near Blinn Avenue and north Q Street in the vicinity of Alameda Street and Pacific Coast Highway.

By the time the break was discovered, however, a "large quantity" of oil under high pressure had poured into the dump and had accumulated in two low areas.

One of the pools can be reached with pumping equipment, firemen said, but the other pool is presently inaccessible and a road may have to be constructed to permit salvaging the oil.

New Reservoirs Will Avoid Flooding Indian Territory

Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature Friday were offered six alternatives to avoid flooding Indian-inhabited Round Valley with a Dos Rios dam project on the California north coast.

Each varied in flood control, recreation, water yield and environmental effects and each would cost significantly more to build than the estimated $400 million Eel River dam project the governor rejected last May. The price tag for one was $1.2 billion.

Water Resources Director William Gianelli proposed the alternatives at a Los Angeles meeting of the State Water Commission but he made no recommendation on which should be approved by Reagan for construction.

The alternatives will be studied by the Legislature's water committees whose recommendations may form part of the basis for a decision by Reagan.

HE BLOCKED construction of a high level dam on the Middle Fork of the Eel last May because it would flood the pastoral valley and force relocation of 1,500 persons, including 350 Round Valley Indians.

Reagan ordered that alternatives be drafted.

Conservationists, who bitterly opposed the dam on ground it would destroy the steelhead and salmon fishery and stopper a mighty freeflowing river, hailed the governor's rejection as a victory.

Gianelli's department, Southern California water users and the Corps of Army Engineers argued the dam was necessary to meet a projected demand for an extra 900,000 acre-feet of water a year for the state water project to prevent a recurrence of the disastrous 1955 and 1964 north coast floods.

"A dam of some size at the Dos Rios site is central to any project which is to develop a water supply from the Eel River basin comparable to that which could be developed by the Corps of Engineers' proposed Dos Rios project," Gianelli said.

The six alternatives each producing at least 900,000 acre-feet of water, broke down into three basic plans:

— A "small" Dos Rios reservoir which wouldn't flood Round Valley.

— A medium size Dos Rios reservoir with features offering the valley protection from inundation.

— A massive Yellow Jacket reservoir on the lower Eel.

Each could be coupled with either an easterly diversion routing with a holdover storage reservoir on Stony Creek in Glenn County or a southerly routing through Clear Lake with a similar holdover storage facility on Cache Creek.

"Feasibility studies of all aspects of project development are needed prior to the implementation of any of the alternatives," the director reported.

Man Burned as Gasoline Can Ignites

An Artesia man was listed in good condition Friday after a close brush with death in a freak accident at his home.

Edward C. Postman, 21, of 17528 Norwalk Ave., is in Orange County Medical Center where he is being treated for second and third-degree burns over 60 per cent of his body.

A Lakewood sheriff's spokesman said Postman was turned into a human torch while working on his car in the garage at his home. He said an electrical spark ignited a bucket of gasoline which spilled on Postman when he picked it up.

A MEMO FROM RALPH WILLIAMS:

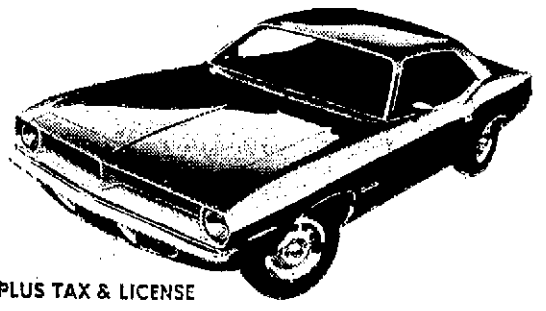

We're between a rock and a hard place. December is a "seller's month" for dept. stores, toy stores, etc., but it's the best "buyer's month" of the year in my business. Inventories are at an all time high, but folks are using their money for holiday presents. In simple language — I've got way too many cars, and the car business is traditionally a little slow in December. This means MORE THAN EVER FOR YOUR CAR PURCHASING DOLLAR. WE WANT YOUR DEAL. WE'LL STRETCH FOR YOUR DEAL LIKE NEVER BEFORE with incredibly low prices — high trade-in allowances — flexible financing, etc. See me today for a deal you'll brag about for the rest of your life!!

New Series of Buccola-Built Homes Will Rise in Orange

THREE AND FOUR-BEDROOM HOMES . . . Planned in Quiet Rural Setting in Orange

A new series of award-winning Buccola Homes, incorporation all of the latest innovations the building industry has to offer, will be made available to the public starting in January, announced George D. Buccola, long-time Southern California builder and developer.

Designed to take advantage of the rolling Orange County countryside, away from the urban noise and problems, this new walled community of ranch style homes will be called, appropriately enough, "Country Estates", Buccola said.

Present plans call for 102 homes to be built, all with extra-large lots. Buccola said the smallest of the lots will still have an 80-foot frontage.

Country Estates, covering 32 acres, is in the City of Orange, five minutes from the Newport Freeway on Santiago Canyon Road. The area is zoned for horses, and the rural atmosphere will be retained, Buccola promised.

ADJACENT TO THE COMMUNITY are stables where horses can be boarded or rented. These stables have access to miles of equestrian trails which wind through over 400 acres of hills overlooking the new development.

"In selecting this area, we wanted to provide the families of Country Estates with a rural, country living atmosphere free from smog and fog," said Buccola.

"We want these residents to have horseback riding and easy access to the open hills nearby, which will allow children and grown-ups alike the feeling of expansiveness. In other words, a true feeling of freedom and rural living, and yet near employment centers and other facilities."

LOCATED IN AN AREA DOTTED with eucalyptus trees and the lush rolling hills, Country Estates is an area so secluded that observers have felt there were no large municipalities or freeways nearby, although all the urban facilities are easy to reach.

In addition to being only two miles from the Newport Freeway, the junction of the Newport and Garden Grove is only four miles distant.

Less than two miles from the new community are established elementary, junior and senior high schools, all within a six-block area. Also, two minutes from the gates of the new development are two large shopping centers with all needed shops and stores.

THE CITIES OF FULLERTON, Anaheim and Santa Ana are also only minutes away as are most of the well-known recreation areas such as beautiful Irvine Park and Lake.

Anaheim Stadium and Disneyland are a short drive from Country Estates and the beaches at Newport and other South Coast resorts are only 20 minutes away.

The campus of California State College at Fullerton and the University of California at Irvine are also within easy commuting distance.

The four extensively furnished models will be opened to the public beginning Jan. 5, Buccola said, all priced from $31,350.

The homes will range from 1,560 square feet to 2,165 square feet. Buyers will have a choice of three or four bedrooms, and two or three baths in the one-story models, plus over-sized two and three car garages.

Homes Bow to Rentals

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The single family home, once the hallmark of the American middle class, may be becoming too expensive for all but the very rich.

The Commerce Department reported recently 45 per cent of the new housing units produced so far this year were apartments or other multi-family dwellings. The multi-family share of the market was 35 per cent just two years ago.

Starts of single family homes reached their all time peak in late 1965, the department said. By contrast, starts of apartment units in the first quarter of this year were 50 per cent higher than in 1965.

The department listed several reasons for the swing to apartments. All of them, boiled down to one thing — money.

RENTAL costs increased 8.25 per cent from the end of 1965 to mid-1969 while homeownership costs increased 23 per cent.

Land costs have increased sharply, making it an economic necessity to "stack" more homes in apartment buildings. Increasing land costs now have pushed the price of single family homes beyond the reach of many families.

Tax considerations have encouraged builders to turn more of their efforts to apartments.

It has proved to be easier to find money to finance apartment projects in current very tight money markets because of the use of "equity kickers."

THE KICKER provision, which guarantees the lender a share of the income from the project, is being demanded with increasing frequency by lenders. Single family homes are frozen out of the kicker market.

In 1965, 60 per cent of all new homes sold in the United States cost less than $20,000. This year, the figure was down to 25 per cent. At the other end of the scale, houses costing more than $35,000 accounted for 6½ per cent of the sales in 1965 and 22 per cent this year.

The monthly payments on new houses rose even faster than the sale price because of steadily increasing interest rates.

The sharply increasing cost of single family houses has also helped stimulate the sales of mobile homes. Shipments of mobile homes have increased 50 per cent since 1965.

MARINELAND CURATOR JOHN PRESCOTT (L) . . . With Sherman

Marineland Plans High Quality Line of Aquarium Products

Formation of Marineland Aquarium Products Company, which will market nationally a complete line of aquarium equipment for the hobbyist, has been announced by Aquaria, Inc., and Marineland of the Pacific.

Announcement was made jointly by Robert M. Sherman, president of Aquaria, Inc., and William F. Monahan, president of the renowned oceanarium.

"We plan national marketing of a high quality line of aquarium products for both fresh and salt-water fish," Monahan said.

"The pet industry exceeds $3 billion annually and fish account for $600 million, second only to the amount spent on dogs. We believe the Marineland name and quality standard will result in our capturing a significant percentage of that market. Sales will be through a network of selected wholesale distributors."

"ALL PRODUCTS WILL BE tested in the laboratory facilities at Marineland of the Pacific and will bear a 'Marineland Seal'," Sherman explained.

"Market testing has been completed and the program is scheduled for kickoff in January, 1970," he said.

"Patents have already been granted on one completely new product and are pending on several others," Sherman added.

Second phase of the program will be the national distribution of marine fishes through select retail outlets. Unique feature of this operation is that the fish will be acclimatized to the home aquarium environment in tanks at Marineland of the Pacific before being offered for sale.

Second Homes in Boom

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not so very long ago there were just two kinds of second homes: big country estates for the very rich, and hideaway cabins for the not-so-rich. And there weren't very many of either kind around.

Times have changed.

We're in the midst of a second home boom. There are whole communities of leisure homes in all parts of the country. There are beach homes, mountain homes, homes used for summer sport, for winter sport and for both. Most could serve easily for full time living, many are designed for just that with retirement in mind.

The price range is wide, ranging from a few thousand dollars on up. Most families who can afford a second car and annual vacations, probably could afford a second home instead.

THE WHY of it?

Increased leisure and affluence, of course. But other reasons, too.

The Weyerhaeuser Co., a leading manufacturer of building materials, did some research on the subject and came up with some basic reasons for the boom.

Second homes provide both pleasure and economic investment opportunity. Leisure property is just about the only investment

S & S DEVELOPMENT TO BE WALLED-IN

Ground Broken for Parkewood Los Alamitos

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held last week at the future location of one of the Southland's most unusual communities, Parkewood Los Alamitos in Los Alamitos.

The project will be totally walled-in, with only one entry-exit, and one dedicated street which runs inside the wall around the entire perimeter of the development.

There will be 3½ acres of parks and each home will have entry to these parks through the rear of their lot.

At the center of the development, near Lampson and Tulip, will be a recreation complex featuring a two-story clubhouse with a large room equipped with a kitchen and bar which owners can reserve for private parties, a large swimming pool, Jacuzzi, sauna baths, volleyball and badminton courts, and a play area for children.

Pascos, or walkways, will lead from every home to this center.

THE development will be built by S & S Construction Co., a division of Shapell Industries, Inc., and will consist of one and two-story homes featuring conversation pits and fireplaces in master bedroom suites.

Each home will be positioned on a side lot line and on the rear lot line. Patio areas will be completely enclosed.

The wall of the adjoining home facing the patio will be blank, so there will be complete privacy in each patio.

Front setbacks will be 5 to 10 feet.

BECAUSE of this short setback, all garage doors will be provided with automatic openers, and cars of buyers will be furnished with activators.

Thre will be a Homeowners Association to maintain all common areas.

Nathan Shapell, president of Shapell Industries, Inc., the developer, commented:

"Our extensive marketing studies show there is a growing trend by certain families away from homes with big yards, even though they enjoy outdoor living, flowers, shrubs, trees, a swimming pool, etc.

"The family we have in mind or Parkewood Los Alamitos could be a young couple, a middle aged couple, or a retired couple. The common denominator is that they love outdoor living and association with others of the same mind, but they don't want the work or expense involved in maintaining a bik yard with a pool, etc.

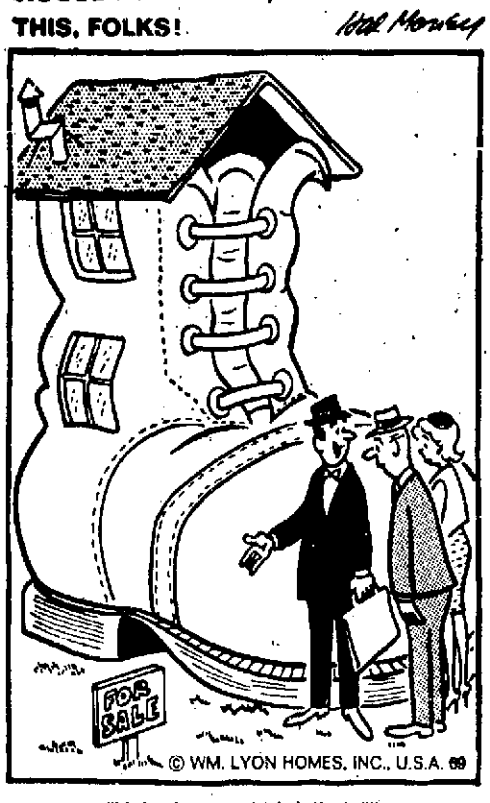

"PARKEWOOD is aimed directly at such families, and we offer them many advantages not found in either apartment or mobile home parks.

"These include spacious living and dining rooms plus master bedroom suites; complete privacy within their walled lots; garages attached to houses, etc.

"But more important, we offer them a sound investment, one which will appreciate in value over the years, as high quality homes have done for generations."

Parkewood Los Alamitos is scheduled to open next sprink.

HOUSE ABOUT THIS, FOLKS!

"It's just been completely half-soled!"

Low Interest Rate Is Now Offered at Newport Riviera

Newport Riviera, Newport Back Bay's finest address, is now offering potential homebuyers the opportunity to purchase a three or four-bedroom home in the planned community for the unheard of — in this day and age — interest rate of only 6½ per cent with 10 per cent down, reports builder Frank M. Doyle.

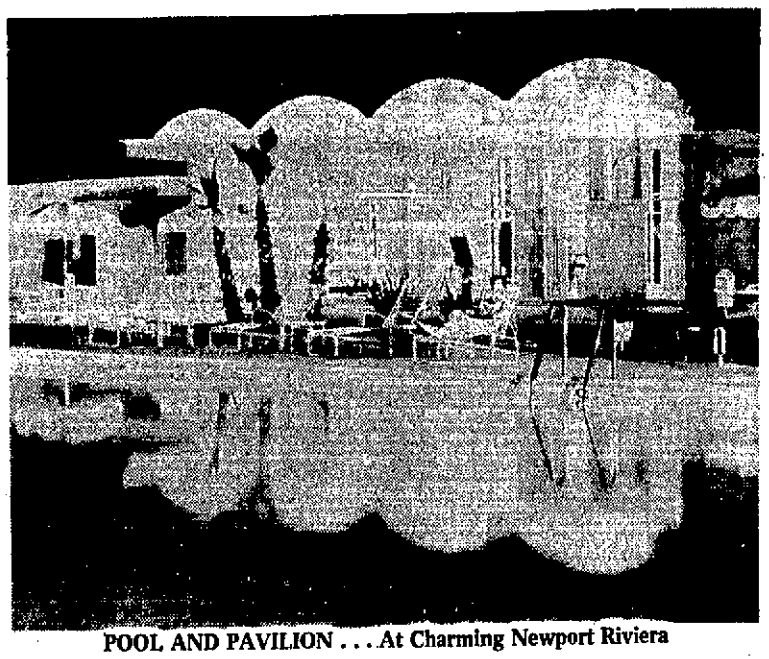

"The one and two-story homes are priced from $26,250 and the interest rate is available on 25-year loans, instead of the normal 30 years," Doyle continued, "all of which means that families who purchase Newport Riviera homes now will save thousands of dollars in interest over the life of the loan."

NEWPORT Riviera homes have two and three baths, up to 1,850 square feet of living area, family room and-or den, fireplace, private patio, two-car garage, all built-ins, carpeting and drapes throughout, and many other features.

In addition, Doyle continued, residents enjoy the use of a $225,000 recreation center with king-size pool and deck, dressing rooms, pavilion for meetings, dances and other entertainment, billiard and card rooms, superbly decorated and furnished lounge, putting green, teen center and fully equipped playground.

THE immaculately landscaped and maintained community is open for inspection from 10 to dusk daily.

From the Long Beach area: drive south on the San Diego Freeway to the MacArthur Boulevard (Orange County Airport) exit. Left on MacArthur to Campus Drive; right on Campus, and follow Campus (becomes Tustin Avenue) to Monte Vista Street and Newport Riviera.

McCarthy Co. Plans Industrial Complex

Acquisition of 12 acres of land in Anaheim for a $2.5 million industrial-commercial development has been revealed by The McCarthy Company.

According to William V. Meeker, executive vice president, the development at Orangethorpe and State College boulevards will comprise approximately 250,000 square feet of commercial and industrial buildings, with construction scheduled to begin in January.

Plans call for 12 concrete tilt-up units, plus two smaller modular buildings with office and warehouse space available.

THE completed project will be a pre-planned industrial park, with each structure harmonious in size, use, architecture and landscaping, Meeker noted.

Some of the prototype models are scheduled for completion in March, and all completed units will be available for sale or lease in June. Facilities also may be designed according to tenants' specific needs.

L.B. Builders to Meet Monday

Annual membership meeting of the Builders' Exchange of Long Beach is scheduled for 5 p.m. Monday at the Golden Sails Inn. An Indianapolis Speedway film will be shown.

WHAT'S YOUR PROBLEM?

Want Advice on Making Investments of Future?

Down that long gray tunnel lies an unopened can of worms known as "the future," and everybody prepares for it in a highly individualistic way. One of the favorite ways of coping with it, unfortunately, is to ignore it on the theory that "Heaven Will Provide" when the time comes.

Not so, though, with the following pair of young men who are approaching the future in a most businesslike way:

MR. CAMPELL:

My neighbor and I are new home owners. We both have 7¼ per cent, 25-year mortgages on our homes. Our monthly payments are almost identical.

We are at a disagreement over whether a person should make extra "principal" payments each month, thus paying the home off sooner, or invest the money. I make extra payments each month of $30. My neighbor invests $30 a month in a mutual fund in which $12.50 of the $30 buys stock. On the remaining $17.50 he is paid interest.

I contend that since only $12.50 buys actual stock, he would be better off puting the whole $30 into extra principal payments as I do. We would value your comments. — Mr. L. C.

ANSWER: Which came first, the chicken or the egg? Have you stopped beating your wife? Along with these classic questions that defy nice, clean-cut answers, we would have to lump the puzzler posed by Mr. L. C. Which of the two men, indeed, is following the wiser investment policy?

Mr. L. C.'s argument in favor of prepaying his mortgage principal has a lot going in favor of it because the saving is enormous on a 25-year, 7¼ percent mortgage. The disadvantage to it is in the fact that it's a highly illiquid form of "saving" in that he can't draw on it in the case of an emergency nor, in a tight spot, can he lean back and skip a few payments with impunity on the assumption that he has established a cushion" with the mortgage company.

The advantage to the plan being pursued by Mr. L. C.'s neighbor is that he is building up a very liquid nest egg that he CAN dip into in the event of an emergency, although the point might legitimately be made that he is indeed, spreading that $30 pretty thin by splitting it between a fixed-income and a variable-income investment at the same time.

Since both gentlemen are apparently fairly young (to be assuming 25-year mortgages), I am more inclined to like the policy being followed by Mr. L. C.'s neighbor which — all things considered — is both a better hedge against inflation and a safer form of building a liquid nest egg than the prepaid mortgage course being taken by Mr. L.C.

I would suggest that, perhaps, Mr. L. C. might compromise by putting one month's $30 investment into a growth-oriented mutual fund and, the following month, prepaying his mortgage. I don't know whether this settles the argument, or not, but I suspect that it simply opens up new areas of controversy.

MR. CAMPBELL:

My husband and I bought a house in May of this year. I had asked the real estate broker at our first discussion if the water and sewer were in and paid for. He said "yes." Unfortunately, we had no witnesses to this conversation. Now, almost seven months later we have received notice of a $263 assessment for a water line on our street.

I called the agent and he said it was up to us to pay for it. This upset me, so I started doing some checking. The water line was completed Feb. 19, 1969, and we did not purchase the property until May.

I have talked to five couples that have had recent real estate sales. All of them say that the owner of the property at the time of the work is supposed to pay for the work even thought the house has changed hands before the city sends out the bills.

I wouldn't be so burned up if they hadn't lied to us. I pay my debts, but I don't feel that I should have to pay for work done before we ever bought the house.—Mrs. G. K.

ANSWER: Well, you're right and you're wrong. You are perfectly within your rights in being irritated at the broker for lying to you, but you are a bit in a fuzzy area for being angry at the improvement, itself. You must bear in mind, I think, that the water line enhances the value of your property and represents an improvement that you should be able to pass on to any subsequent buyer.

Why — except through ignorance — the broker neglected to mention the assessment, I cannot fathom. It, certainly, would have been just as easy for him to bill the existence of the water line as a plus feature and — with the seller's permission — reflect this in the selling price of the house as it was for him to go this devious route.

I wouldn't worry about it too much. The lines of communication obviously got scrambled somewhere along the way and you should have no trouble arranging with the city to have the assessment spread over the 10-year period (the normal time spread for paying for such improvements). In time, when (if) you choose to sell the house, you should merely add the cost of this improvement, plus the interest you have paid, onto the selling price.

Be philosophical about it. Use a lot of water.

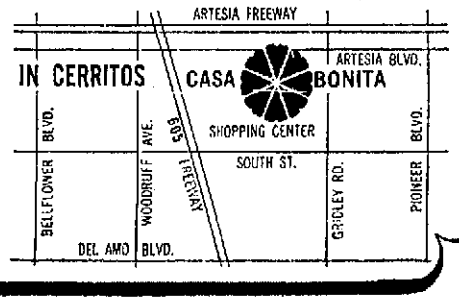

(Campbell welcomes letters. He is unable to enter into personal correspondence, but will answer as many letters as possible through his column.)

NORTHWEST SANTA ANA

Four-Bedroom Plan Popular at Premier Country Kitchen

Enthusiastic buyer acceptance is reducing the number of popular four bedroom models at Premier Country Kitchen homes in northwest Santa Ana.

Sales agent Frank McFarland reports a third of the homes were sold before the development was formally opened for inspection a few weeks ago.

Because of spiraling costs of land, construction and materials, builder Bill Rousey estimates that each home would cost $2500 more to build if it were to be contracted for at today's prices.

The functional four bedroom plans offered at Premier Country Kitchen include an old-fashioned family room kitchen combination, with impressive stone fireplace.

WIDE sliding doors open to fenced rear yard and patio area. There is room for a pool, should the new owners wish to have one.

Models feature a convenience highly endorsed by leading home economists, the after meal clean-up center, all contained in a ceramic tiled island that separates family dining area from kitchen.

Meal preparation center enjoys maximum natural light and advanced lighting units that reduce fatigue to a minimum.

PANTRIES and cupboards offer abundant storage space. Double oven and range is also provided, choice of color.

The night- time side of the house includes master bedroom with its own bath, deluxe marble pullman and enclosed stall shower.

Entrance is on Euclid, between Bolsa and Westminster. Furnished models are open daily for inspection.

Paradise Manor's Fourth Unit 40 Per Cent Sold

Paradise Manor is celebrating the completion of the community's new model homes for the development's fourth unit.

The 84-home family-oriented community is on Euclid Street, just north of the San Diego Freeway in Orange County.

Barnard Perry, president of Trans-Robles Corp., builder, said that although still in the finishing stages of construction, 40 per cent of Paradise Manor's fourth unit has already been purchased, with the chief reason being the unexcelled financial terms available.

Only $500 is the complete down payment, with closing costs and impounds included in the financing.

The interest rate is 7½ per cent. If homebuyers pay 10 per cent down, the interest rate drops to 7¼ per cent.

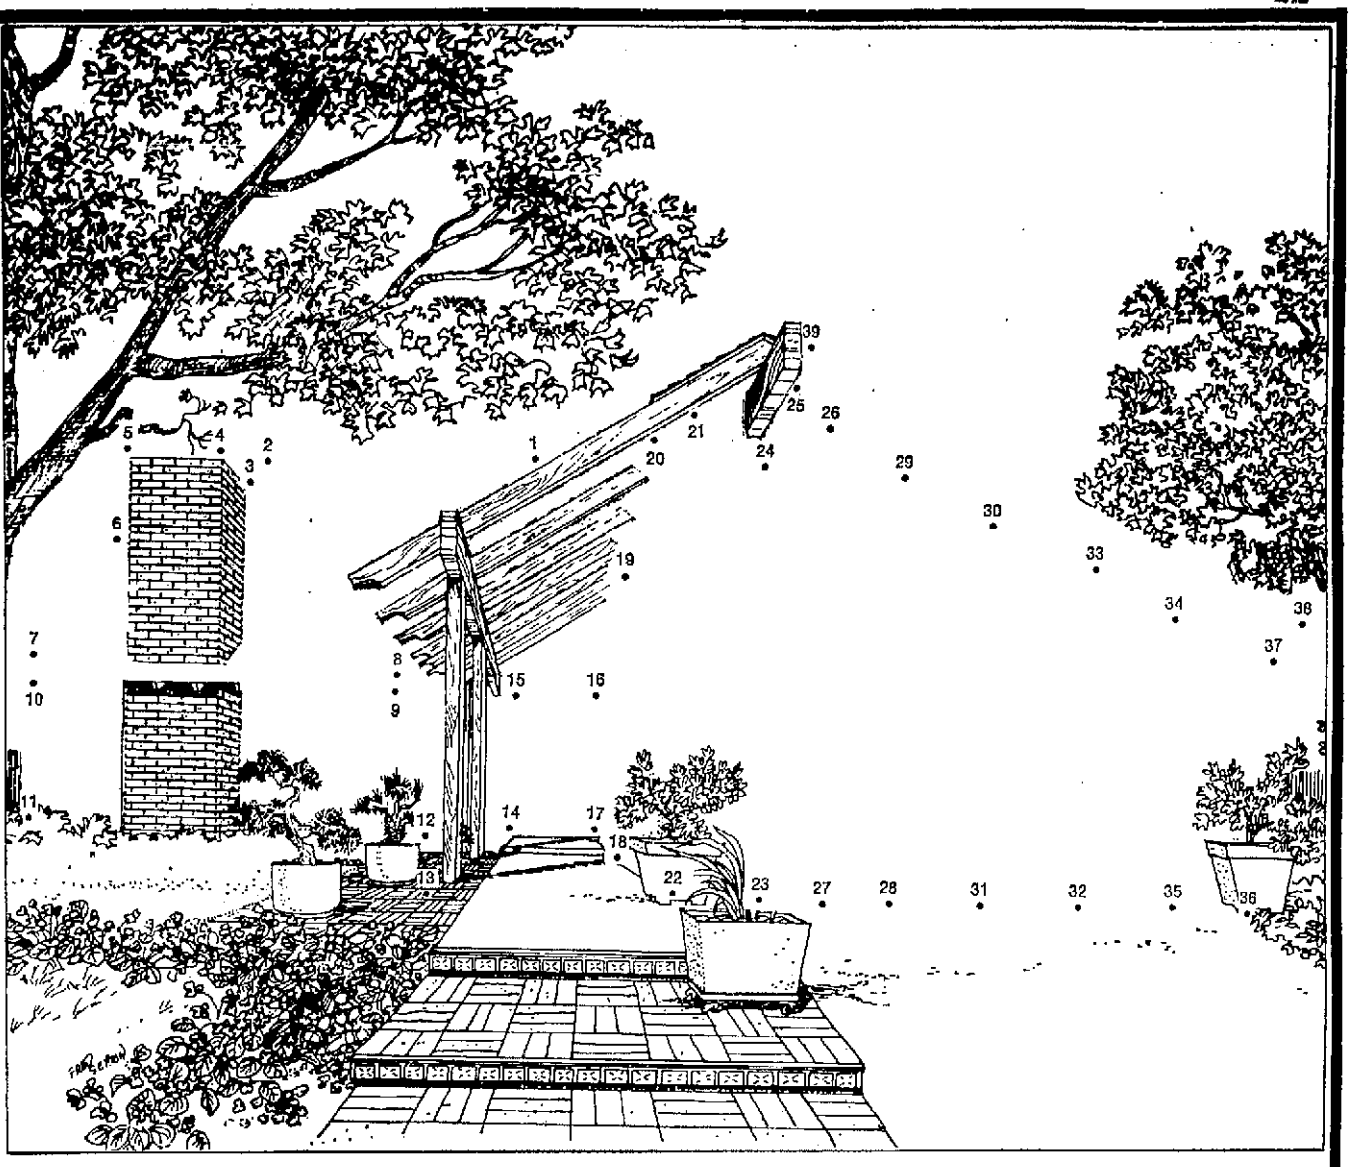

PARADISE Manor's two and three bedroom and bath homes are priced from $23,345 to $25,950 and feature a 420-square-foot finished rumpus room above a two-car garage; all built-ins; formica countertops; simulated marble pullman baths; carpeting; floating stairways; and private patios with gas-fired barbecue stands.

Residents also enjoy the use of two swimming pools, a completely furnished and equipped recreation hall, putting green and a playground area.

PERRY also pointed out that a very few homes remain to be purchased in the three previous units. The 1,730 - square - foot, three - bedroom, 1½ - bath homes are priced from $20,950 to $23,345 with the same financial terms as are available on the new unit.

Free drapes, washer and dryer are included in the sales price of the discontinued models, which are available for immediate occupancy.

Paradise Manor's model homes are open from 10 to dusk daily. From the Long Beach area: Drive south on the San Diego Freeway to the Euclid Street exit in Orange County. Turn left (north) on Euclid a short distance to Paradise Manor.

AIR WEST PASSENGER services manager Russ Fields tests unbreakable bottles being introduced aboard Air West planes.

WORLD OF WINGS

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

Air West, still flying out of Long Beach Airport in spite of official civic discouragement of local airline service, has come up with possibly the greatest advance in commercial aviation since miniskirts for stewardesses.

The new product is an unbreakable plastic bottle which is smaller in size and weighs much less but holds the same one-tenth of a pint of liquor as old-style glass containers.

The lightweight bottle is one of a number of containers being developed for the purpose, including an experimental disposable foil package now being tested on Pan American World Airways flights.

The perfected bottle concept was developed for the distillers of Old Forester bourbon, one of the brands served in flight by Air West.

THE PLASTIC BOTTLE and its counterparts have long been sought by airlines because of shatterproof characteristics, lighter weight and smaller size.

First experiments with the plastic were unsuccessful because the contents tended to take on the taste of the container. The new version has a neutral polymer vinyl coating which eliminates the problem.

Unless an Air West passenger drops one of the plastic bottles, he'll never know the difference. Unlike glass containers, it will bounce right back.

Passengers have been known to pilfer booze bottles from the serving cart when the stewardess had her back turned. In the case of the new lightweight plastic jug, a little turbulence may pop the bottle right into the passenger's lap.

Wells Fargo Reveals Location of L.B. Office

By ROBERT BEACKMAN
Real Estate-Business Editor

Wells Fargo Bank's long-awaited announcement of its plan to establish a Long Beach office arrived this week.

John R. Breeden, executive vice president in charge of the bank's Southland operations, said the office will be located in an existing building at 147 E. Third St.

Breeden said an "extensive interior and exterior remodeling of the building is under way by Shirley & Kelly, Inc., Canoga Park contractor."

The main banking room on the first floor, Breeden said, will contain more than 7,000 square ffeet of customer service area. (The entire structure has 9,200 square feet.)

The executive vice president also said highlight of the interior design will be a wood-treated vaulted ceiling.

The Long Beach office, to offer Wells Fargo's complete banking service, is expected to open early next year, the 19th for the chain in the Southland.

Interest Rates Climb

Interest rates for home mortgage loans continue to climb.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board reports the average interest cost for conventional home mortgage loans rose in October for the 11th consecutive month to a record 8.12 per cent for new homes and 8.13 per cent for used houses.

Board Chairman Preston Martin attributed the increase to a shortage of loanable funds combined with continued heavy demand for housing.

The average effective interest rate, including initial fees and charges, advanced from 8.05 per cent in September to 8.12 per cent in October for new home conventional mortgages. The rate in October, 1968, was 7.23 per cent.

For used houses, the effective interest rate increased from 8.08 per cent in September to 8.13 per cent last month. The rate a year earlier was 7.22 per cent.

The board said the heavy demand for funds led last month to the biggest outflow of savings for any October on record at the nation's savings and loan associations, which make many conventional home loans. Withdrawals exceeded new savings by $405 million during the month, five times the previous high of $81 million in October, 1966.

Buys Hyatt Coffee Shops

International Industries, Inc., Beverly Hills, and Hyatt Corporation, Burlingame, this week announced execution of definitive agreements for the purchase of the Hyatt coffee shop chain by International.

Included in the transaction are 23 Hyatt Coffee Shoppes and three Carolina Pines restaurants, all in California. Acquisition of individual locations within the group is subject to certain legal requirements.

Robert A. Meme, executive vice president of International, said nearly all of the acquired Hyatt restaurants will be converted into Copper Penny Family Coffee Shops.

Other International food operations include the International House of Pancakes, Orange Julius of America, Wil Wright's Ice Cream Shoppes and the Original House of Pies.

A consumer services company, International Industries also is in the retail, education and lodging fields.

Newspaper Advertising Rises

Total advertising revenues of daily newspapers were running at an annual rate of more than $5.9 billion during October.

This compared with the $5.3 billion actually achieved in 1968 and was the highest annual rate reached this year.

It reflected a 6.6 per cent gain in total revenues for October 1969 on top of a 10.1 per cent increase for the same month of 1968. For the 10 months, January through October, 1969, the cumulative increase in total advertising revenues of daily newspapers amounted to 9.8 per cent.

The revenue estimates are prepared by the Bureau of Advertising. They are based on actual linage reported by Media Records, Inc., for its 52-city index, and reflect variations in rates and linage distribution as measured by the bureau.

Dow in September Peak?

Do you like to look at almanacs? Then consider this:

During much of 1970, stocks will be laying the groundwork for a rising market. The lowest Dow average will appear between January and March. From its low, the market will steadily climb 100 to 110 points to reach its peak in September and again in late November or the first of December.

This is the forecast of the Stock Trader's Almanac, just published. For the past two years, it has correctly anticipated the course of the market.

The 1969 edition, for example, accurately predicted "The market should turn down at the end of May or in the first week of June. Another rally is expected in late June and July. After it is over, the second big decline of 1969 will get under way."

The new almanac foresees a sluggish market in the early months, except for a mild advance in the second half of January.

The market will drift off after that, the publication notes, and continue in a rut until about the middle of March. At that time, the Dow Jones average may reach a low point that approaches the lows of 1969.

Per Capita Sales Increase

A 3 per cent gain in Southern California real per capita sales has been reported by Security Pacific National Bank.

Taxable retail sales volume expanded from $7.8 billion during the first six months of this year, registering a 9.3 per cent advance before population and cost-of-living adjustments by the bank's Economic Research Department.

The Southland's 10 southern counties accounted for $11.2 billion of an estimated $18.9 billion in total retail sales throughout California during the first half of this year. (Taxable sales comprise about 70 per cent of total sales, Security Pacific reports.)

A leveling off of sales has been indicated, however, by incomplete third-quarter data compiled by the research department. The indicated present rate of sales growth approximates the annual change in consumer prices.

'Use and Return' Women

Almost every American neighborhood has its "charge, use and return" women who make one-night splashes at fancy parties at the expense of businessmen.

"The number of women who buy expensive dresses and furs, deliberately intending to wear them once and return them, must be enormous," said one New York store adjuster who added "but don't use my name" during an interview with a news service this week.

Such refund artists are just part of a multi-million dollar headache retailers and manufacturers suffer today. Distributors and manufacturers lose an estimated $130 million on refunds annually through shoddy workmanship and poor quality control. Retailers have those problems, plus refund rackets, the spokesman said.

The "charge, use and return" practice is prevalent among patrons of fancier stores whose managements don't dare question the customers' good intentions for fear of losing accounts.

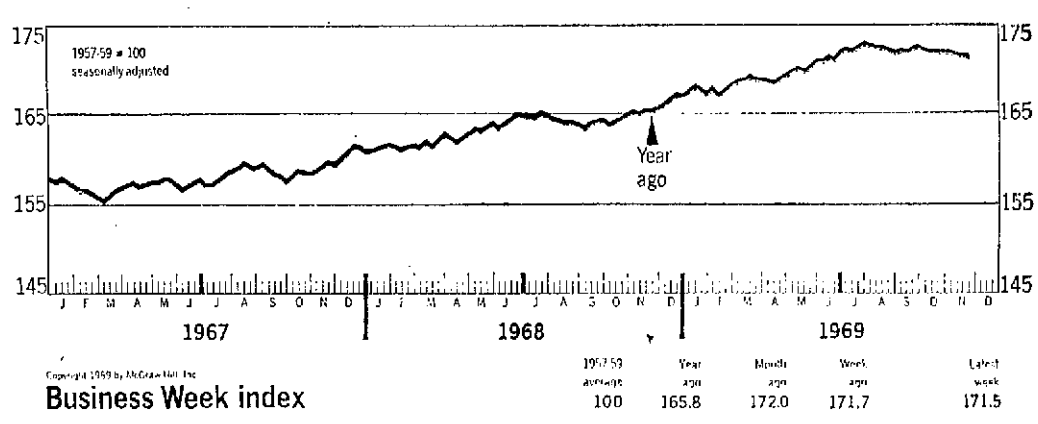

As a result, excess inventory ties up the stores' capital and costs for handling, delivery and credit charges soar.

CHOSEN
Bruce Babcock (above), former manager of Security Pacific National Bank's Peninsula Center Branch, Rolling Hills Estates, has been named to take charge of San Pedro branch, succeeding late Cornelius Heintz.

ELECTED
William Lee, of Orange, controller for Super-Temp Company, Santa Fe Springs, has been elected vice president-finance. He is a director of National Association of Accountants and past president of Long Beach chapter.

Auto Losses Offset Steel's Gain

The Index slipped 0.1 percent in the current week, as auto losses offset a slight gain in steel output.

Steel production increased 1.0 percent — steelmakers predict this may be one of the last gains before the end-of-the year slowdown.

Auto output was down 2.3 percent, a 10.4 percent drop below a year ago. Despite a slow-down in auto sales, assembly plants scheduled heavy Saturday overtime.

Crude oil refinery runs were up 1.2 percent, and electric power output rose 0.6 percent.

Miscellaneous carloadings went up 0.1 percent, reflecting a gain in farm products; all other carloadings dropped 2.5 percent, and intercity truck tonnage decreased 2.5 percent.

Paperboard production went up 1.3 percent.

Aer-O-Lite Draperies Awarded CBS Job

The Columbia Broadcasting System has awarded a contract to Aer-O-Lite Draperies, Inc. of Garden Grove to fabricate and install drapes and window treatments in its new television office building in North Hollywood, announced Maury Silverman, Aer-O-Lite president.

The three-story building will require various fabrics, designs and installation techniques for a total of 146 drapes. Silverman said the average window covering involves 15 square yards of material.

The CBS-TV contract will be executed within a total of seven working days, once underway. "It is significant to note," Silverman commented, "that this job was awarded to Aer-O-Lite from CBS' New York headquarters."

The drapery executive said it points to the prominence, growth and development of the Southern California area and indicates strong confidence in a local firm.

Since its organization in 1946, Aer-O-Lite has covered more than 1.3 million of the nation's windows and has used approximately 3,000 miles of various fabrics in the process. The company is located at 10451 Park Ave., Garden Grove.

seems a bit strange to them. You might say, Americans swing while Europeans foxtrot.

Yet there is a common ground in between where they get together. And this is where the bulk of the sales are made.

To come on too strong in this market is suicide. Europeans buying equipment generally prefer dealing with a single direct company representative, a European if possible, and one they can reach in a hurry if a bug crops up in their new American equipment.

There is no substitute for having the proper support services, as American companies having service trouble with their Japanese equipment will confirm.

Dilday Service Is Cited

For the sixth successive year, Dilday Family Funeral Directors of Long Beach has been selected for membership in the Order of the Golden Rule.

Also included in this membership is the branch home in Lakewood.

The Order is a non-profit, world-wide organization which investigates funeral directing firms and accepts those which are found to be worthy.

Membership is not automatically renewable, for a firm is re-evaluated each year to assure that it continues to merit the public trust.

THERE are presently 1,400 Order of the Golden Rule affiliates, with, in most instances, only one to a community.

In officially notifying the Dilday firm of its reacceptance, a spokesman for the Order said: "It was the founding aim of our organization to seek out in every town and city one firm which could be relied upon for modern facilities, capable assistance, and prices within the reach of any family. Your organization has again proved that you meet every qualification."

Primordial Metal

Nickel in trace amounts has been found in marine organisms. Plankton sampled by marine biologists had twice as much nickel as was present in higher marine plants. Their nickel content was found to be ten times that of fish and mollusks examined. It has been suggested that this concentration of nickel is evidence that the element has some function in the growth or metabolism of plankton.

MERRY GO-ROUNDS . . . By Firestone

WORLD OF WHEELS

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

The world of psychedelic designs has come to automobile wheels with the announcement of a low-cost novelty wheel disc made of high-impact styrene.

The discs, which come in four three-color designs, are available exclusively at Firestone stores and dealerships now only in California although they will be sold nationwide as soon as production can be expanded.

A set of four discs, called ModCaps, costs $2.49.

"We believe the ModCaps will be the 'hottest' novelty car accessory to reach the marketplace in years," said Don B. Davis, manager of sales promotion for The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company.

The discs, available for either 14-inch or 15-inch wheels, are attached to the wheels by spring-steel clips which will hold them in place even at drag-strip speeds, Davis said.

The ModCap designs include the highly popular stylized flowers, free-form patterns and geometric designs, all in vivid "pop" colors.

"The ModCaps will help car owners further personalize their cars in an inexpensive, highly styled manner," Davis said. "We expect to see them blossoming forth on sport cars, the pony cars, imports and even for fun on luxury cars."

THIRTY YEARS AGO, the average life expectancy of an American was 62.9 years. Today it is about 70 years.

During that period of time, the life expectancy of an automobile engine has nearly doubled.

In fact, motorists, who dream of the day that a car engine capable of 100,000 miles is developed, can wake up — that day has arrived.

Engineers of American Motors Corporation say that the era of engines with 100,000-mile capabilities has crept up with little fanfare.

While much has been said about increases in engine horsepower and performance, AM's engineers agree that the improved longevity aspect of engines has been overlooked.

They point out that an owner of a 1940 model car could start looking for wear-related engine problems after 30,000 miles. It was an unusual engine that could go beyond 50,000 miles without requiring a major overhaul.

THE EVOLUTION IN ENGINES in three decades, however, has vastly changed engine mileage expectations.

AM engineers say that today's sophisticated engines are designed and built to purr along with little more than routine maintenance required for 40,000 to 50,000 miles.

It is more likely, however, they say, that today's engine under normal use will perform for at least 70,000 miles without a major overhaul. In fact, 100,000 miles is quite common — a goal that would have been unattainable for an engine of 30 years ago.

The boost in engine life expectancy, they explain, has been developed through improved component design, materials and workmanship. These gains have been made in parallel with increases in specific output and reduction in engine weight.

Tidy Didy Service Bought by Associated

Associated Baby Services, Inc. (AMEX), New York has acquired, for an undisclosed amount of cash and long-term payments, the plants and businesses of two diaper services operated by Tidy Didy Service (Private), Long Beach.

The move represents the first entry of Associated Baby Services into California.

Consumers, hospitals and nursing homes in the southern half of Los Angeles are served by one Tidy Didy plant at 1330 Redondo Ave.

The other plant, at 730 S. Grand Ave., Santa Ana, services Orange County. The combined volume of the operations exceeds $1 million annually.

Robert Cunningham, founder of Tidy Didy and a pioneer in the diaper service business, will remain active as a consultant to Associated Baby Services.

12 Hangars' Contract to Tri-Cor Co.

Tri-Cor, Inc., of Long Beach, is constructing 12 giant aircraft hangars at Van Nuys Airport for Beechcraft West (formerly Norm Larson Beechcraft).

Contract cost is $100,000.

The new storage hangar complex, which is scheduled for completion in early January, will house executive-type, privately owned twin engine aircraft.

These standard Pascoe Steel Corp. structures are the largest aircraft T-hangars available.

Berbower Is C of C Speaker

Ray Berbower, assistant general manager of the Long Beach Harbor Department, will discuss the harbor and give comparisons with other harbors in a talk Wednesday before members of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce at the Victor Hugo Restaurant.

Meeting time is 7:15 a.m., according to chairman Gordon Hayter.

RCA Reveals Its Cordless Scissors

RCA has introduced a cordless, battery-operated scissors designed for safe and speedy cutting of fabric and paper. The "Mini Scissors" will retail for under $5 at RCA dealers and other leading stores around the country.

Paul B. Garver, division vice president and general manager, RCA Parts and Accessories, said the scissors combine contemporary design with precision performance.

The scissors weigh only 3½ ounces and measure 6½ inches in length. One D-size flashlight battery powers the permanently-lubricated, non-vibrating motor.

GARVER explained that the Mini Scissors are operated simply by applying continuous pressure to the operating button which activates the motor.

A special arrangement of the carbon steel blades in the cutting mouth permits a snag-free flow of fabric past the cutting head on both straight cuts and around patterns.

S & T in Singapore Plan Job

S&T Western, Inc., a newly formed Long Beach subsidiary of Sanders & Thomas, Inc., consulting engineers with executive offices in Pottstown, Pa., has been retained by IAC, an industrial consortium, to provide engineering feasibility and design services for a large thermal facility in Singapore.

The thermal plant project will be the first of its kind in the Far East and will be designed to supply the downtown renewal area.

ULTIMATE capacity will be 60,000 tons refrigeration, making it the largest central unit existing in the world today, according to John Kirkham, general manager of IAC, and a resident of Singapore.

Kirkham is heading up a group of businessmen who foresee the need of this project for the future development of the city.

S&T Western, Inc., with recently located offices in the Bank of California Building, is a diversified consulting engineering firm whose staff have many years of experience with projects of this type throughout the United States.

Second Homes in Boom

A GOOD many people, Weyerhaeuser found, have come to realize that money spent on a two or three-week vacation is just about equal to the down payment on a leisure home. And with the general upward trend in property prices, there's a good chance the down payment eventually will be a growing investment instead of just one more expenditure.

In talking to those who sell second homes, the company's researchers found that one of the best times of the year for sales was the end of the summer vacation. It seems a good many families, just returned from long, tiring, expensive trips, wish they'd stayed a lot closer to home.

IT WAS found some values tend to become apparent only after a second home owner has had his property a season or two. One is the ability to stretch a three or four-day holiday weekend into a real vacation period. With vacation property just a few hours from home, it isn't a major project to get away.

Highways, which have made vacation areas more accessible, also have made the second home more desirable, the study found. Time and time again it was pointed out that crowded highways are a strong incentive to head for the woods.

Some of the factors are more subtle.

One is the psychological value of a change of mood and scenery. Apparently, vacations are more satisfying when they occur in a place set aside for relaxation and fun. The change in family routine, plus the relaxed atmosphere, seems to contribute to more enjoyable leisure time.

ORDER FOR COMPUTER for Rolling Hills Estates installation is turned over by James R. Ziegler (right), Turn-Key president, to R. W. O'Neill, NCR branch manager, Los Angeles.

First Peninsula Computer Dedication Set Dec. 12-13

Dedication of the first computer system installed on the Palos Verdes Peninsula will be a part of the two-day open house planned Dec. 12-13 by Turn-Key Computer Applications, 608 Silver Spur Road, Rolling Hills Estates.

Turn-Key, headed by James R. Ziegler, a Rolling Hills resident, performs an unusually wide range of computer activities — from advanced programming concepts with nationwide applications, processing sales and inventory records for auto parts dealers, to practice computer runs for local high school students.

The open house will provide programs for two distinct audiences.

The Friday afternoon activities, running from 2:30 to 6 p.m., will be of special interest to businessmen.

Family day festivities are planned for Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

THE OPEN house will mark dedication of a computer center built around an NCR Century 100 system.

In the configuration used by Turn-Key, this computer has the largest memory capacity in its model line, 32,000 characters. The system also has continuing access capabilities on disc pack files to 16.8 million characters of information.

Demonstrations, explanations and close-up examinations of the computer will be available during both days of the open house.

TURN-KEY, founded in April, 1963, as specialists in full-spectrum development and implementation of computerized business applications, grew in 17 months to where an in-house computer was needed to keep up with projects under development.

"The ability to afford our own computer has given us a chance to practice what we preach," explains Ziegler, president and founder of Turn-Key.

"For some time, we have felt that the industry must decentralize into local business communities to achieve a real grass roots type of potential for computers. When it comes to proving this point, we are the right organization in the right place."

ZIEGLER qualifies this statement by explaining that he selected the Palos Verdes Peninsula as a site for operations for two important reasons:

1. The Peninsula is a top-flight residential area, the type which tends to attract the elite of the data processing field — creative systems analysts and programmers. The availability of a professional challenge right in their back yard has proved important as a recruiting attraction.

2. Executives who have their businesses or homes in the South Bay Area of the Los Angeles Basin are attracted by low-cost, conveniently-available data processing services.
